MAINE'S FATE LIKE GEORGIA TURRET?

Explosion on Warship Revives Theory That Disaster at Havana Was Due to Accident.

NO CLEW EVER FOUND.

Fact That in Years That Have Passed No One Has Avowed Crime Indicates Innocence of Spain.

BY RAYMOND.

Washington, D. C., July 16.—[Special.]—Yesterday's shocking explosion on the battleship Georgia has recalled the never ending topic of discussion which is a familiar one to this day with naval experts. It concerns the blowing up of the battleship Maine in the harbor of Havana in the spring of 1898.

Every time there is an explosion of any magnitude on an American warship naval experts invariably hark back to the Maine and discuss that disaster in the light of recent experience. No man knows how the Maine was blown up. Probably no man ever will know.

It is just this mystery which has cast suspicion on the theory that the ship was destroyed by Spaniards and which is causing more than one naval officer, especially the younger men, to believe that after all the explosion of the Maine was the result of an accident, so that the incident which did so much to bring on the Spanish war may have been the result after all of natural forces and not of malice.

Naval Verdict Open to Question.

A naval board found that the Maine was blown up by contact with a submarine mine, but the people were angry at that time and the evidence which seemed conclusive to the officers on board would not have been accepted as such if the Maine had been in a peaceful harbor surrounded only by friends and under conditions where a hostile attack would have been impossible.

There is a long list of disasters on American battleships. In almost no case has there been shown gross carelessness. Electric wiring has been found deficient, powder has been exploded apparently spontaneously, boilers have "let go," and there have been a dozen different well defined causes which produced ghastly explosions. The accidents have come so steadily as to give rise to generally expressed opinion that a big battleship or cruiser stored with explosives and built for fighting rather than for mere storage is nothing more nor less than a powder magazine which may be touched off at any moment by the slightest accident or the breaking of a single link in the chain of precautionary defenses.

Nine out of ten naval officers to this day believe that the Maine was exploded as a result of a plot by Spaniards. They have consistently refused to accept the accident theory and insist that the report of the board of inquiry fully established the fact that the ill fated battleship was attacked from the outside and was not blown from the inside.

Silence of Perpetrators Inexplicable.

A small minority of officers, however, are of an entirely different opinion, and every time there is a big accident like that on the Georgia yesterday they proceed to exploit their belief that the destruction of the Maine in Havana harbor was the result of an interior explosion of a mysterious character, for which no one on board ship was accountable and for which, of course, the Spaniards themselves were not to blame.

Probably the strongest argument in favor of an accidental explosion on the Maine is the fact that at no time since then has there been the slightest clew to the man or men who are supposed to have discharged the submarine mine. If the destruction of the battleship were a thing which could be accomplished by one or two men in a few minutes failure to discover their identity after so many years would not be so peculiar. It is a fact, however, that the Maine as it floated in the harbor of Havana could not possibly have been destroyed by any one except as the result of a plot carefully arranged and requiring for its execution the services of a number of skilled men.

If the ship was blown up by a submarine mine and a conspiracy of a dozen men existed it is a marvel of marvels that to this day, more than nine years after the catastrophe, no one man has peached on the others, and not a hint has been heard as to the identity of the conspirators. This is more remarkable because war intervened almost immediately after the Maine was blown up.

No Evidence of Mine Found.

It would have been natural during war time for the Spaniards who had blown up the Maine to boast of the fact. They are not a silent race, and they do not conceal their own valiant deeds as a general rule. Absolutely nothing of this kind took place.

Cuba at the time of the explosion was under martial law. It was extremely difficult to bring arms and ammunition into the island, even in small quantities. There never were any submarine mines in Havana harbor electrically controlled from shore.

The mine which blew up the Maine, if it was a mine, was of the floating character. The destruction was so terrific that the mine must have contained an enormous amount of explosives. Dynamite or gun cotton could not have been obtained in Havana at that time in such quantities without the connivance of a good many Spanish officers. A mine of that character, to be exploded upon contact, could not have been built or operated except by an expert. It could not have been towed to its place without the assistance of several men.

Technical Testimony Losing Conviction

The technical indications were that there had been an exterior explosion and the evidence has not been successfully attacked since then. The failure of any member of the conspiracy, however, to acknowledge his part in it is beginning to have more weight with naval experts than technical testimony. Conditions on the battleship Maine, although it was lying quietly in a peaceful harbor, within a short distance of a German training ship and the American passenger steamer City of Washington, were substantially the same as they would have been during active service or at target practice.

It is not absolutely impossible that the sensational destruction of the Maine may have been an accident after all. If it was it would sufficiently account for the fact that no conspirator has confessed to his part in an outrage which played no small part in bringing on the war.

BOARD OF CITIZENS AS AID TO SHIPPY.

Chief of Police Seeks Method for Regulation of Traffic in Crowded Section of the City.

NEW RULES AT CROSSINGS

Men Will Not Carry Clubs, but Under the System Planned Can Check Reckless Teamsters.

Chief of Police Shippy is to have fifteen "assistant chiefs" to aid him by advice and suggestions in his attempts to straighten out the kinks in downtown navigation. The chief is of the opinion that the performance within the loop every day might be mistaken for a continuous riot and he is trying to substitute method for madness.

In his effort to do this and in all matters pertaining to the department which are not strictly and technically police routine, he will have the assistance of this advisory board of fifteen composed of that number of well known residents.

He is "appointing" them now by requesting them to give the department the benefit of their assistance, but says he is not ready to make known the makeup of the new board. Among others there will be:

FRANCIS S. PEABODY, president of the Peabody Coal company.

CHARLES DEERING, chairman of the board of directors of the International Harvester company.

FRED G. McNALLY, president of the Rand-McNally company.

T. J. DIXON, manager of the Arthur Dixon Transfer company.

W. J. MOHR, assistant manager of the J. M. Mohr company.

Important Conference Planned.

When the advisory board has been organized it will represent many of the large business interests of the city, especially those having to do largely with teaming. When it has been organized it is the purpose to call a conference of many firms and industries, such as railroads, manufacturers, the big mercantile establishments, representatives of downtown office buildings, and teaming companies and work out a scheme to lessen the terrors of downtown foot navigation.

Before the board gets in working order the chief expects to be able to do something towards reducing the inner-loop riot to a semblance or order. He has instructed Capt. Gibbons to revise the tactics of crossing policemen and drill them so they will send the traffic in alternating currents instead of permitting free for all races between teams and pedestrians.

Up to date the men at the crossings have been successful only in stopping the street cars and holding them until released by the whistle. The Chicago teamster has remained profoundly indifferent to the signal and has chosen to take his chances wherever he saw them.

New Order to Men at Crossings.

Chief Shippy has instructed the policemen to take their stations inside the intersections instead of outside them, and, when they release the traffic east and west, to cut it off north and south by changing their positions. He proposes to take their clubs away from them and to substitute a small "baton" about three inches long that can be stuck in the pocket, believing the average man on the downtown force thinks all he has to do is to lift his big hickory bat and stop anything.

"When we get them so they'll keep their neckties down from under their ears," he said, "we'll put white gloves on them, but not until they keep their ties down under their collars."

In New York Mr. Shippy gave some time to watching the maneuvers of the Fifth avenue crossings men, and came home with a pretty firm conviction that the Chicago methods aided and abetted the general confusion.

"It will be a long time before our teamsters are well enough educated to obey the police," he said. "In New York they stop when the crossings man says stop, and they know better than to go ahead until he releases them. Our teamsters have to be taught they cannot do as they please.

"Most of the policemen have their own ideas of how the matter should be handled, and it will be some time before we can get them acting systematically. They will be drilled and instructed, and with the aid of the mounted police we ought to be able to get some sort of order downtown.

"The mounted police will stand comparison with any body of police anywhere. I think they are superior to the New York mounted police, and they are doing good work downtown with the traffic. In some bad streets we have assigned one mounted man to a block, with instructions to keep the teams in order, and we're getting order out of confusion gradually.

Wants Help from Citizens.

"We want the advice and suggestions of citizens, and help from citizens who are interested in making this administration a success. When the advisory board has been formed we shall be able to get the suggestions of men who have ideas. Most of the men who have been asked to serve are men of wide experience and know methods of handling traffic in the cities of Europe. Some of them are abroad now, and the board will not be in working form until they get back.

"We are getting the benefit of suggestions already. Some of the big firms are mapping routes for their teamsters, which will enable the transportation of goods from one side of the city to another without crossing the downtown section.

"It will be a difficult task to substitute system for the go as you please methods, but if we get the assistance of firms, teamsters, and citizens generally we can make life easier downtown."

WOMAN'S PISTOL ROUTS ROBBER

Morristown, Ind., Agent of Traction Line Wounded in Duel—Holdup Man, Shot, Escapes.

Morristown, Ind., July 16.—[Special.]—Mrs. Isaac Bishop, agent of the Indianapolis and Cincinnati Traction company at this place, was attacked by a masked robber at 5 o'clock this afternoon. In a pistol duel that followed Mrs. Bishop was seriously wounded. The robber escaped with blood streaming from a wounded hand. A posse is in pursuit of the robber.

LIVE WIRE SWING IS FATAL.

Boy at Play Loses His Life Under Northwestern "L" Structure.

WOULD-BE RESCUER IS HURT

Benjamin Waetzig Dead and William Schrems Badly Injured.

One boy was electrocuted, a companion who went to his aid was seriously burned, and several men who sought to extricate both boys received slight burns from a live wire under the Northwestern elevated structure at Dayton street last night. Benjamin Waetzig, 17 years old, 184 Dayton street, was the boy who was killed. William Schrems, 16 years old, 328 Clybourn avenue, was burned badly.

A long piece of loose wire thrown over the feed wire of the electric lighting system of the railroad, on which the boys, with several others, are said to have been swinging, caused the injuries. The friction of the strand on the feed wire cut through the insulation and caused the current to enter the loose wire swing.

Plaything Becomes Live Wire.

Waetzig is said to have been swinging on the wire when the shock came. He uttered one scream and then his companions saw his body dangling helpless from the wire.

Schrems, who was the nearest to him, awaiting his turn on the improvised swing, darted to the assistance of Waetzig. Heedless of the danger he is said to have grasped his friend by the body and attempted to drag him off the wire. One end of the loose wire struck Schrems and this with the current from the body of Waetzig left him standing powerless holding to Waetzig.

Afraid to risk further efforts at rescue the other companions of the two boys ran screaming into North avenue for help. Fred Stickel, 40 years old, 143 North avenue, who was sitting in the front of his home, with his wife, ran to the scene. He took the situation in at a glance, and, running to a nearby store, got some rope.

Wire Pulled from Its Victims.

Throwing the rope about the live wire he pulled it from its victims. Calling on one of the companions of the boys to hold the rope, Stickler then ran to Karg's drug store at North avenue and Halsted street and summoned the police. The patrol wagon in command of Sergeant Pearsall took the boys to the drug store, where Dr. William Snyder attended them. The physician after a superficial examination advised a quick run to the Alexian Brothers' hospital.

Just as the patrol wagon backed up to the entrance of the institution Waetzig breathed his last. Schrems was still unconscious, but he was revived after two hours and the physicians then expressed hope of his recovery.

Large Crowd Gathers.

In the meantime a throng had gathered at the scene of the accident. Among these people was the father of young Waetzig, who lived almost directly across the street. When the father reached the edge of the crowd a companion of his son broke the news to him. The elder man, who is a gardener in Lincoln park, almost fainted and had to be assisted to his home.

When he had revived he telephoned the hospital and learned of the death of the boy. The lad was the second oldest of five children and was employed at the Bush & Gerts piano factory.

The police and neighbors were indignant at the delay in removing the dangerous wire. The Northwestern Elevated railway officials were notified shortly after the accident, but up to a late hour had taken no action in the matter. A large force of police guarded the spot.

Worker Killed in La Grange Plant

The police are searching for information in regard to a man, 25 years old, whose last name is thought to be Bradley, who was killed in the La Grange plant of the North Shore Electric company during the day. He had worked for the company in Evanston for two months, and Monday morning was sent to La Grange to assist in installing a new switchboard. It is thought he cut a wire which he thought "dead," and not wearing rubber gloves, was killed.

Boy Killed by Fall.

The body of William Abent, 10 years old, 1514 West Fiftieth street, was found in St. Augustine's Roman Catholic church, West Fiftieth and Laflin streets, in the morning. The church is under construction and the boy is thought to have been killed while playing Monday evening. It is believed that he fell, unnoticed by his companions. His neck was broken.

CLAIM CART WHEEL HATS RUIN FIGURES OF WOMEN.

London Beauty Specialists Seek to Abolish Enormous Headgear, from Which Evils Are Feared.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, July 16.—Beauty specialists here are trying to kill the women's so-called cart wheel hat, which has reached enormous tentlike dimensions. The specialists say the wearers are crushed by these monstrosities, which are ruining their figures.

To sit in a carriage with comfort a woman would be obliged to put the feather of her hat out of one window, the bunch of flowers out of the other, and the bow of ribbon through the trap door in the roof. As she cannot do this, she sits crouched up with her shoulders huddled, her neck bent, and that expression of patient resignation on her face which is a sure forerunner of wrinkles.

Double chins, bent backs, unsightly necks and figures robbed of their natural poise will be the result if this ridiculous headgear is not modified. The great majority of the men of the present day, however, want the women to keep them.

FIERCE CRITICISM FOR MAN FROM MARIE CORELLI'S HAND

"Sulk Behind Woman Until Ends Are Won, Then Attack Her Ways," Is the Writer's Opinion.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, July 16.—This is Marie Corelli's latest criticism of the other sex, contained in the introductory note of a new volume of stories:

"They have not either the courage or intelligence to fight the world for themselves, and, seeing the fierce heat of competition in every branch of labor, they gladly sneak behind woman's petticoats to escape the general fray.

"When they have secured the ignoble end of their ambition they first run down woman's work and woman's privileges, then woman's attainments and woman's honor."

NAME NEW MAYOR IN SAN FRANCISCO

Supervisors Elect Dr. E. R. Taylor to Head City Government; Schmitz Opens New Fight to Rule.

POLICE STAND BY GANG.

Chief Dinan Refuses to Recognize Changed Conditions; Two Sets of Officials Will Result.

San Francisco, Cal., July 16.—[Special.]—San Francisco's municipal woes were not ended when Eugene E. Schmitz, the mayor, convicted of graft, was sentenced to five years' imprisonment in San Quentin.

With the formal election tonight by the board of supervisors of Edward R. Taylor, physician and lawyer, dean of the Hastings Law college and of the University of California, to the office of mayor, the fact is pressed home that Schmitz still is a factor to be dealt with. In his efforts to maintain his dominion the police department will be his allies. Chief Dinan, on being told of the election of Dr. Taylor, said that he will recognize no one but Schmitz as executive of the city.

Today Schmitz appointed Samuel Sawyer, a member of the typographical union, a supervisor to succeed Charles Boxton, who resigned to be appointed temporary mayor by the graft prosecution.

It is announced that Schmitz will name successors to the remaining fifteen supervisors who will be forced by the district attorney to resign.

City to Have Two Governments.

The city will then have two governments, one headed by Mayor Taylor and the other by Mayor Schmitz, who claims that he is not incapacitated until after the court of last resort has confirmed his conviction.

The graft prosecution contends that Schmitz's conviction automatically ended his term of office. On this theory they brought about the election of Dr. Taylor, and say if the police or any other department refuses to recognize his authority they will be reorganized with "honest" men in charge of them.

In this connection it is believed plans are under way to reorganize the county government so as to eliminate the sheriff and other officials known to be in sympathy with "Abe" Ruef and Schmitz, and who are suspected of having shared in their loot.

Takes Office as a Duty.

Dr. Taylor is the third man to whom the office of mayor was offered by Rudolph Spreckles and District Attorney William H. Langdon.

His selection came as a complete surprise to the city, for at no time in the past weeks of daily guessing was his name mentioned outside of the secret councils of the district attorney and his half dozen assistants.

The office was tendered to Dr. Taylor a few minutes after 4 o'clock this afternoon and his acceptance was in the hands of Mr. Langdon and Mr. Spreckles before 5 o'clock.

Dr. Taylor is between sixty and sixty-five years of age and is well known throughout the country as a physician and attorney. His acceptance of the office was actuated entirely by his desire to aid the Golden Gate city in shaking off the shackles of corruption and graft, which have retarded municipal development.

He takes the office without having made any pledge. His convictions and sense of right entirely coincide with those of the graft prosecutors.

Says City Is Lucky.

In speaking of the election of Dr. Taylor tonight District Attorney Langdon said:

"We feel that San Francisco is to be congratulated upon having a public servant of the character and standing of Dr. Edward R. Taylor. A resident of San Francisco for forty-five years, his heart is in the city's future, and the high services that he can and will render this stricken city will be fully appreciated by a grateful people.

"Dr. Taylor is in no sense a politician, but is a man of great learning and fine executive and administrative ability, coupled with unquestioned integrity and unselfish devotion to the public welfare.

"The wide authority that has temporarily lodged in the district attorney's office will now be restricted within the bounds prescribed by law, and the extraordinary powers hitherto directed from this department will, to our great satisfaction, have come to an end.

"Dr. Taylor has assumed the direction of the city's affairs and the district attorney will confine his duties to the prosecution of crime."

ENGINEER SENSELESS IN CAB; FIREMAN SAVES FAST TRAIN.

Locomotive Speeds Coaches Into Cleveland with No One at Throttle—Many Lives Are Endangered.

Cleveland, O., July 16.—Hundreds of lives were imperiled today when Floyd E. Webber, engineer of a fast west bound Lake Shore passenger train, was stricken unconscious at his throttle and the train sped almost into Cleveland without a guiding hand. The engineer was overcome by the intense heat.

As the engine rocked into the Cleveland yards over the switch points, the motion threw the engine driver from his seat to the floor of the cab. Then the fireman learned what had happened.

He jumped to the engineer's seat and brought the speed of the train down within the yard limits.

Webber's condition was found to be critical. How long he had been unconscious at the throttle is not known.

GIRLS HURL BEER INTO RIVER.

Teachers and Coeds Break 2,200 Bottles of Seized Liquor on Pier in Iowa.

Des Moines, Ia., July 16.—[Special.]—Seizing 2,200 bottles of beer that Sheriff George Ross of Dallas county had confiscated July 4, seven coeds and school teachers attending a summer school at Adel took the stuff to the Raccoon river and smashed the entire number to bits on piers in the river. Miss Ethel Kent and Miss Ella Fagen, graduates of the Cedar Falls normal school, were visiting Miss Ruth Ross, daughter of the sheriff. Hearing of the seizure, they invaded a justice court and seized the liquor.

DESERT GUIDE WED HEIRESS?

Syrian Declares He Is Engaged to Miss E. Ellwood, De Kalb, Ill.

GIRL'S RELATIVES SHOCKED.

Said Kalil Haick, Now in New York, Positive Despite Denials.

New York, July 16.—[Special.]—From Said Kalil Haick, a few weeks ago a traveler's guide in Syria, now here planning to become an American citizen, came the statement today that on Wednesday of next week he will marry Miss Elsie Ellwood, daughter of W. L. Ellwood and granddaughter of Isaac L. Ellwood of De Kalb, Ill., steel wire millionaire and business associate of John W. Gates.

Said Kalil is alone in his assurance that the wedding will take place. The grandfather of the girl, Isaac Ellwood, who is at the Waldorf-Astoria, was the only one of the girl's relatives who would discuss the subject at all tonight. Miss Ellwood is at her home in De Kalb and from there it is reported that she laughed at the story and that her relatives there unanimously put Said Kalil in the Ananias club.

W. L. Ellwood is on his way to New York to penetrate the Syrian quarters and get an explanation from the former guide.

Syrian Sure About Engagement.

Despite the fact that he seems to stand all alone in the matter, Said Kalil was positive tonight that the marriage would take place in De Kalb next Wednesday. The Syrian said he met Miss Ellwood when in the capacity of dragoman he was looking after the tents and donkeys of the party with which she traveled through Syria recently. He came over to New York with some of the party, including Miss Ellwood, last week and at once set about the task of becoming a citizen.

Just at present he is living in the Syrian quarter, which is far removed from Fifth avenue, and there to a reporter who discovered him he had no hesitancy in relating his desert romance.

"I met Miss Ellwood and her party in Egypt first," said the Syrian. "She was about to go up the Nile. I maintain a contracting business which furnishes tourists with tents, supplies, donkeys, boats, or anything else they need when touring in the near east. We spent three months up the Nile and went as far as Wady Halfa.

Pledged Troth in Desert.

"But it was in the desert I really came to know Miss Ellwood. We traveled hither and thither for seventy-five days. Miss Elsie, who is 21, with dark eyes, like mine, and dark hair, and I became engaged. I think she liked the life.

"I determined to become an American citizen. So I came on here. I will stay in New York while Miss Elsie goes west, because I want to take out my first papers. I go west next Monday and we get married on Wednesday, July 24."

"I don't know that they will get married," said Isaac Ellwood, the grandfather, when he was asked about it tonight. "I saw my granddaughter last Saturday for about ten minutes just before she left for the west with her mother, father, and sister. She was feeling sad, I suppose by the fact that her father was surprised and upset by the story she told him about having become engaged to this young Syrian. I don't know anything about the young man except he does not claim to be a prince or to have any title whatever.

"He hasn't any capital, either, I'm told," continued Mr. Ellwood. "I'm going to have a talk with a young man who traveled in Syria with Said Kalil, and I will telegraph for my son to come on here at once and hear what is said about the Syrian."

Man Who Knows Doesn't Like Syrian.

The young man who had traveled in Syria that Mr. Ellwood referred to is Arthur Moore of the firm of Maxwell, Manning & Moore, Liberty street, dealers in machinery. Moore broke out into a violent perspiration when he learned of Said Kalil's alleged matrimonial prospects.

"What! That dragoman, and he wasn't even a good dragoman, either, to marry a nice American girl! Not if I can prevent it. I've had dealings with Haick before. I'm going to tell the Ellwoods all I know about this fellow; then if they permit him to marry into their family, it won't be because they are ignorant of what he is."

Said Kalil, it is stated, has acted as agent for Homer Davenport in buying Arabian horses and now owns a half interest in several stallions at Davenport's place.

Miss Ellwood Laughs at Story.

De Kalb, Ill., July 16.—[Special.]—Miss Elsie Ellwood, daughter of W. L. Ellwood, tonight refused to discuss the report that she is engaged to Said Kalil Haick, a Syrian, now in New York, beyond declaring that it was "silly." Relatives of Miss Ellwood here indignantly denied the story, of which they said they knew nothing but the statement given out by the Syrian in New York.

None of Miss Ellwood's relatives would discuss the report further.

W. L. Ellwood, Miss Ellwood's father, left today for New York, but whether his visit is in connection with the report of his daughter's engagement or not is not known.

COUPLE RENOUNCE MARRIAGE VOWS AT WEDDING SUPPER.

Bride of Little More than Hour Declares Ceremony a Mistake—Cause of the Trouble Is Mystery.

Johnston, Pa., July 16.—[Special.]—Guests at a wedding supper at the home of the bride, in Seward, were astounded when John Manly and Florence Bontz arose from the table and solemnly renounced the vows they had taken little more than an hour before, last night.

Efforts were made today to locate Manly, without result. Mrs. Florence Bontz said tonight:

"I did not know him as well before the wedding as directly after it, or no marriage ceremony would have been performed."

Wedded Troubles Begin Early.

Fond du Lac, Wis., July 16.—[Special.]—While Edward C. May of Winona, Minn., was checking the trunks this morning containing his bride's trousseau the train pulled out with her on board. She was reached by wire at the next station and told to wait till her husband could overtake her ten hours later. The bride was Miss Byrd Farley. The wedding occurred this morning.

NEGRO LYNCHED IN OKLAHOMA.

'WILD MAN' SLAIN IN FIERCE BATTLE

Five Pursuers of Desperado Are Wounded Before He Finally Receives the Fatal Bullet.

TERROR TO INDIANIANS.

Residents of Gary, Tolleston, and Hammond Are Excited for Three Days Before the Tragedy.

A "wild man" was killed yesterday afternoon in the desolate region near Pine Station, Ind., after he had dangerously wounded one policeman and inflicted lesser injuries on four others. Pine is on the Lake Shore road, between Gary and Whiting. For three days the strange man had terrorized the sand dune and scrub oak country along the Indiana shore.

The hunted man was killed after a running fight with a posse of fifty men. He finally was surrounded, and in the fusillade that followed, it is said, 500 shots were exchanged. He had a revolver and shotgun, plenty of ammunition, and a long knife.

The policeman who did the killing swam a slough, holding his gun above his head, before sending a bullet through the forehead of the desperate man who was holding the posse at bay.

The Wounded.

CHAMBERS, FRANK, policeman from Gary; shot in stomach from both barrels of a shotgun at close range; taken to Hammond hospital; may die.

HARRIGAN, EDWARD, East Chicago; shot in hand.

MARTIN, FRANK, policeman, Gary; shot in hand and arm.

MULCAHY, JOHN, policeman, Gary; wounded by buckshot in face and hand.

JENKINS, WILLIAM, policeman, Gary; slightly wounded.

The body of the desperado was taken to Gary. It is supposed he was an escaped prisoner—possibly a lunatic—although nothing had been discovered that would throw any light on his identity up to a late hour last night. Chief Rimbach of the Hammond police regards him as an avowed outlaw rather than a crazy man.

Scene of the Tragedy.

The scene of the man hunt is one of the most lonely in northern Indiana. The pine trees and scrub oaks are dense in parts, and where there are openings in the trees the sand dunes appear. There are few houses in the barren region. Although there is great industrial activity in all directions—at Gary, at East Chicago, and at Hammond, an oppressive silence prevails in this particular location, except when it is broken by a passing railroad train.

It was in this region that the car barn bandits had their dug out and where they were captured several years ago.

Steals Gun and Ammunition.

The stranger first was seen last Sunday afternoon in the thick woods about Pine, midway between Gary and Hammond. He appeared to be about 40 years old, and a thick beard almost covered his face. He wore no hat and his head was covered with long matted locks. He wore a pair of ragged trousers and an old hunting shirt, and was barefooted. The stranger shouted something unintelligible to the two railroad men who first saw him and then darted into the woods.

Sunday night he broke into Edward Marshall's machine shop at Pine station and stole a shotgun, a revolver, a hunting knife, a cartridge belt, and a large quantity of ammunition.

Edward Harrigan, a resident of East Chicago, was walking along the Lake Shore tracks, having been hunting, Monday morning, when he was startled by the appearance of the desperado. The stranger without warning put his gun to his shoulder and sent a charge of buckshot in Harrigan's direction, wounding him in the hand. Then he disappeared.

Farmers Miss Their Fowls.

Nothing more was seen of the stranger until yesterday afternoon, though farmers missed fowls from their hen houses. Policeman Frank Chambers of Gary and two deputies were out yesterday afternon at 3 o'clock looking for Tom Colton, a negro, who had shot and killed Calhoun Wallace, another negro, when they unexpectedly encountered the "wild man" midway between Tolleston and Gary. Chambers was armed with a shotgun and the deputies had revolvers.

The fugitive came suddenly out from a clump of trees, emitted a menacing yell and fired both barrels of his shotgun at Chambers at a range of twenty yards. Chambers threw up both hands and sank without a sound. The wild man ran like a deer and the two deputies started after him, but desisted in the chase after a few paces and returned to Chambers. The wounded man was carried to Gary and thence removed to the hospital at Hammond. It was said last night he probably could not recover.

Armed Posse Hunts Fugitive.

A posse of fifty men from Gary, Tolleston, East Chicago, and Pine station was organized promptly. It included four policemen from Gary. Most of the men were armed with shotguns. The fugitive was seen just beyond Pine station, but doubled on his pursuers and came down along the railroad track toward Gary.

Policemen Frank Martin, John Mulcahy, and Robert Law were walking down the tracks from Gary when suddenly they saw the man with a hairy face threatening them with his shotgun. He darted behind a clump of bushes and let the policemen have both barrels. Several of the buck shot went through Martin's hat and arm. Mulcahy also was slightly wounded by the same charge. Chief Martin of Gary, a brother of Frank Martin, had a narrow escape. A shot went through his hat.

The remainder of the posse, who followed closely behind the policemen, came up at this moment and surrounded the fugitive except at the rear, which was inaccessible on account of a deep slough.

Hammond Policeman the Hero.

Policeman George Hanlon of Hammond was the hero of the battle. He executed a flank movement, and while the "wild" man's attention was attracted in front swam the slough at his rear, holding his rifle on his head, and at close range put a bullet between the eyes of the desperado.

The unknown man was riddled with buckshot and bleeding from a dozen wounds when his body was examined. His body was thrown over a horse in true western style and carried into Gary.

LINK CONTINENTS IN THEATER TRUST

Levy Mayer Goes to London to Arrange $100,000,000 International Combine.

LOST MAN DEAD IN WOODS

Body of Aged Manufacturer, Missing Three Weeks, Discovered at Croton Lake.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE.
New York, July 16.

$100,000,000 Theater Trust Is Planned.

Abraham L. Erlanger, who, with Marc Klaw, is the directing head of the American theatrical syndicate, verified tonight the report that steps are being taken for the formation of an international theater combination. The combination, when completed, will unite the American trust with theatrical interests of London, Paris, Berlin, and Vienna. It was reported today that the syndicate will represent a combined capital of $100,000,000.

Mr. Erlanger said that Levy Mayer, the Chicago corporation lawyer, is now on his way to London to confer with the foreign interests in regard to the legal plan of procedure. Mr. Mayer sailed today on the Kronprinz Wilhelm.

The proposed combination had its birth in the recent decision by Judge Otto Rosalsky of General Sessions, who held in dismissing the indictments against the theater managers that the theatrical business was not trade or commerce and that a combination of theatrical interests was not, therefore, in violation of the law.

Mr. Erlanger said that the American and European amusement interests were greatly in need of concerted action and thought, and he believed the theatrical world would benefit by a syndicating of interests. It was said tonight that if the coalition is carried through the combination will control a working per cent, probably more than 80 per cent, of the theaters, plays, and players in the countries included in the agreement.

Body of Manufacturer Found in Woods.

The body of William D. Wines, 77 years old, for many years a manufacturer of corrugated iron, with offices in Center street, was found in the woods near Croton lake today. Wines disappeared three weeks ago and searching parties scoured the woods all through the New York City watershed region without finding him. His mind had been failing some time, and it is supposed he wandered away and died from exhaustion.

Wines for years was a prominent member of the Ocean Avenue Methodist Episcopal church in Brooklyn. He had a fine house at 522 Greene avenue in that city.

On Saturday last William Wines, a son, who lives in Brooklyn, received a letter that was mailed from a certain station in Brooklyn. It was signed with a skull and crossbones, and had a black hand drawn in one corner. The writer said Wines was safe and sound and would be turned over to his family if the son would leave $8,000 in cash in a certain place.

Wines' son-in-law, Mr. Hubbell, said today that he believed the letter had been written by a crank or some person who hoped to get a reward for helping find the missing man. He was certain, he said, that there had been no foul play.

Tammany Leaders Outline Their Platforms.

District leaders and 2,000 members of the general committee of Tammany hall tonight adopted resolutions that reaffirmed the definition of democracy as declared by Tammany March 19, 1906, and embodied in the democratic state platform of last year. They set forth that man is entitled only to what he produces and the trusts are condemned in that they have reaped where they have not sown.

The recent state legislation providing for the public utilities boards is denounced as "a cunning attempt to deceive the public conscience by a pretended compliance with the demands of the democratic platform."

Delays in court procedure are sharply attacked as making almost hopeless the advantageous conclusion of the suit of a poor litigant against a wealthy man or corporation.

Although not stated in the resolutions, it was subsequently intimated that the reference to court delays was inspired by the slow headway made in the election contest case of William R. Hearst against Mayor McClellan.

Escapade of Yale Man Ends in Asylum.

The story of the escapade of Walter Taft Hutchins, a Yale man of the class of '81, who has an income of $5,000 a year, in enlisting in the navy six years ago, attaining the rank of noncommissioned officer, and then deserting, only to be taken back again to serve once more before the mast, is told in the record of a recent hearing before a sheriff's jury which was appointed to inquire into the mental condition of Hutchins. Today Asa Bird Gardiner, the commissioner who presided over its hearings, reported to the Supreme court that the jury had found Hutchins a confirmed drunkard, incapable of taking care of himself or property.

Hutchins' mother, Mrs. Adelaide H. Sharp, asked the court to commit her son as an incompetent and habitual drunkard.

Hutchins was married in Vancouver, B. C., in April, 1892, and has a twelve year old daughter, who lives there with his wife. For some time past Hutchins has been in a sanitarium at Mamaroneck.

Engagement of Wilson Mizner Announced.

In this season of midsummer wedding announcements, no more surprising item has come to the ears of wise men than that Wilson P. Mizner, the young man from out of the west, who won the heart and hand of Mrs. Charles T. Yerkes, is again enamored, this time with a young woman better known to Broadway than Fifth avenue. Authentic announcement is made that Mrs. Helen Green, a writer of Broadway and theatrical life, is to become Mrs. Mizner as soon as circumstances will permit.

Make Many Charges Against Borough Head.

Extravagance, incompetency, persistent violation of the law relating to the making of contracts, giving out work to favored contractors, and many other irregularities have been found in the bureaus under the jurisdiction of Borough President Ahearn of Manhattan, according to a report presented to Mayor McClellan today. The report also asserts that evidence of corruption was found in the bureau of buildings. The commissioners hold Mr. Ahern personally responsible for all the irregularities found in his bureau.

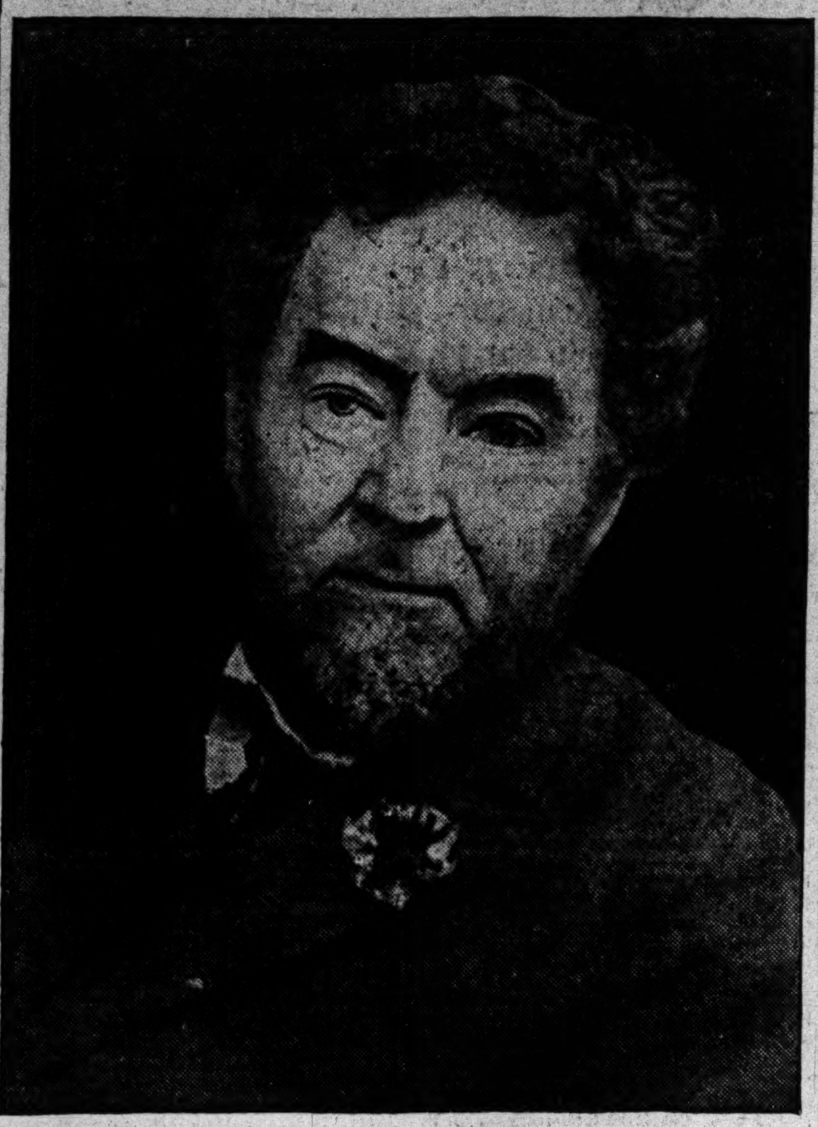
McClellan Loses Point in Recount Fight.

The appellate division of the Supreme court in the second judicial department in Brooklyn handed down a decision today, denying the writ asked on behalf of Mayor McClellan prohibiting any Supreme court justice in that department issuing an order for a recount of ballots. This, however, was not final. Mayor McClellan is expected to appeal at once to the Court of Appeals from the decision, and not until that court has passed upon the case will the matter be definitely settled.

Girl's Capture Shows Immigrant Plot.

Hand over hand a diminutive form in male attire came over the side of the Russian steamer Saratov last night and dropped plump into the arms of an immigrant inspector. It was Miss Pauline Flaks, aged 18, a stowaway, bound from Kovno, Russia, for America and freedom. She will be sent back to Libau, her sailing port.

College Professor Who Is Chosen New Mayor of San Francisco.



Dr. Edward R. Taylor, physician, attorney, educator, for forty-five years a resident of San Francisco, was last night elected mayor of the Golden Gate city to succeed Eugene E. Schmitz, convicted of grafting.

BUTTER TRUST IS UNMASKED.

Row in United States Court at Detroit Uncovers Monopoly.

CAPITALIZED AT $19,000,000

Minnesota Mail Order Lumber Houses Ruined by Conspiracy.

Detroit, Mich., July 16.—[Special.]—Various reasons have been assigned by grocers to complaining customers for the price of butter staying up around the 30 cent mark for many months past, but it is not known that any of them ever stated that there is a full fledged butter trust doing business in Michigan. It developed in the United States court today that there is such an institution and that it is known as the American Farm Products company, and capitalized at $19,000,000.

Attorneys from Chicago, New York, Owosso, Saginaw, and other cities of the United States in court today asked that Eben F. Dudley be restrained from engaging in the butter and creamery business at Saginaw.

Dudley, through Attorneys Lyon and Moinet of St. John's, straightway made a claim that the company is a trust and the story of the deal was unfolded.

Saginaw Deal Shown.

Lawyers for the American Farm Products company stated Dudley had sold out his business at Owosso and Saginaw in 1906 and had promised not to engage in business again, and they asked that permanent injunction be issued restraining him from doing business and that he had agreed to refrain from.

Attorneys for Dudley said that their client had been forced to either sell at the trust's prices or be put out of business and that the trust had broken an agreement to pay him $12,000 a year salary.

Judge Swan denied the petition for injunction.

Charge "Black Book" Conspiracy.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 16.—[Special.]—Mail order houses competing with retail lumbermen in the sash and door business are being swamped by the "little black book" campaign and have appealed to C. C. Houpt, United States district attorney of Minnesota, for relief. The complainants have produced some evidence and promise more, on which the district attorney is urged to bring action to disband the lumbermen's associations on a charge of illegal conspiracy.

The "little black book," which has caused all the trouble, is a small, black covered pamphlet sent out, unsigned, containing a list of concerns to be "badgered" and explaining how the recipient should act to do his part.

It is alleged to be through this means of piling work up on the offending concerns that the Waterman-Hunter company of Minneapolis was recently forced into the hands of a receiver. This company has received 20,000 letters since March, evidently for the most part through the promptings of the "little black book."

Letters were sent asking questions requiring special reply, as it was remembered that all letters could be answered by printed replies if labor of writing special replies could be avoided. Samples were also sent for.

WISCONSIN GETS 2 CENT FARES.

Despite Protest of Roads Gov. Davidson Signs Measure, as Well as One Regulating Insurance Concerns.

Madison, Wis., July 16.—[Special.]—The Wisconsin legislature adjourned today, after holding the longest session—189 days—in the history of the state.

The Turner 2 cent passenger fare bill was signed by Gov. Davidson today and became a law by official publication this evening. Unless the railroads carry the matter into court, Wisconsin will have 2 cent fares on all the principal roads after Aug. 15.

The governor signed the bill in spite of a deluge of protests from politicians and others, who urged him to veto it and leave the matter of rate regulation to the state railroad commission.

The new law applies to all roads whose gross receipts in Wisconsin amount to $3,500 or more per mile per annum. Eleven roads are affected, but two of them do no passenger business.

The fight over the question of the regulation of life insurance business in Wisconsin was settled tonight, when Gov. Davidson approved the so-called "reform" bills just passed by the legislature.

Some of the principal life companies in the east have threatened to withdraw from the state if these bills became laws, and State Insurance Commissioner Beedle is keeping close watch on them.

Train Kills Man and Child.

Wheeling, W. Va., July 16.—The Kenova express on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad ran down a buggy on a grade crossing at Claysville, Pa., today, killing Ray Blaney, aged 17 years, a liveryman, and Carman Guthrie, aged 3 years. Mrs. M. G. Guthrie, mother of the child, was seriously injured. Both horses were killed.

USING PHONE; HEARS MURDER

As Constable Listens to Girl's Appeal for Aid She Is Shot.

BULLET STOPS HER PLEA.

Lowell, Mass., Milliner Is Victim of Assassin as She Talks to Officer.

Lowell, Mass., July 16.—[Special.]—While listening over the telephone to her appeal for aid Bernard J. Gately, a constable, tonight heard Mrs. Mary A. McBride, a milliner, scream and then a shot, and a moment later heard Mrs. McBride fall.

Gately, paralyzed for a moment at the sounds over the wire, rushed quickly to the store. He found Mrs. McBride lying unconscious, with a bullet wound over her right eye.

In one corner was Miss Vanasse, the milliner's assistant, half fainting from her experience. She told the constable the shooting was done by John Kelley, who was madly in love with the woman. Kelley was found near the scene of the shooting and arrested. He refused to make a statement.

Mrs. McBride was removed to St. John's hospital, where it was said she could not live. She regained consciousness long enough to say: "John Kelley shot me."

CATHOLICS WILL SETTLE Y. M. C. A. QUESTION TODAY.

Federation Defines Principles at Indianapolis Convention—Message of Allegiance Sent Pope by Organization.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 16.—Whether there will be a Catholic Y. M. C. A. will be settled at tomorrow's sessions of the American Federation of Catholic Societies. At Buffalo, N. Y., last year a committee was appointed by the federation, and its report on such a project will be made tomorrow. It is thought the delegates will strongly favor such a movement.

Today's sessions were taken up with the reports of the committees. Several minor changes were reported by the committee on constitution, and a declaration of principles was put forth by the resolutions committee. Both were adopted. The convention also sent a message to the pope at Rome, renewing its allegiance.

Declaration of Principles.

A massmeeting was held at Tomlinson hall tonight, J. F. Roche of Nebraska City, Neb., and Bishop McFaul of Trenton, N. J., being the principal speakers.

The declaration of principles adopted at this afternoon's session is in part as follows:

"The American Federation of Catholic Societies is an organization of Catholics in the United States for the purpose of advancing their civil, social, and religious interests.

"It is not a political organization, and does not control the political affiliation of its members.

"It asserts the necessity of Christian principles in social and public life and in the state.

Aims of Federation.

"It opposes falsehood and injustice, whether in misrepresentation of history, doctrine, or principles of morality.

"The aims of the federation, therefore, are religious and patriotic; they are to the interest of all American citizens, and especially of those who believe in a divine lawgiver."

TWO CRANKS SEEK PRESIDENT.

Old Woman with $11,000,000 Claim Is Stopped—Aged Man Announces He Is the Devil.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 16.—The usual summer visitation of cranks to Oyster Bay in the hope of reaching the president began today with the advent of a woman of 70 years, who wanted to go to Sagamore Hill to present a claim for $11,000,000. The secret service guards intercepted her and placed her on board an outgoing train. An old man appeared at the village postoffice and announced in a loud tone that he was the devil and was going to see President Roosevelt.

MILLIONAIRE IS SENT TO JAIL.

Brewer Who Escaped Custody at Cayuga County, N. Y., Recaptured and Gets Ninety Days' Sentence.

Toronto, Ont., July 16.—Herman Bartels, the millionaire brewer who is wanted in Cayuga county, New York, on a charge of perjury, and who escaped from Sheriff Smith of Welland July 4, was recaptured yesterday. He was brought into court today to answer a charge of escaping from legal custody. Bartels pleaded guilty and was sentenced to jail for ninety days.

HOT SHOT HURLED IN HAYWOOD TRIAL

Both State and Defense Score in Scattering Testimony of Adverse Witnesses.

SHERIFF HUNG ON BUSH.

Peace Officer of San Miguel County, Colo., Withers Under Fire of Miners' Lawyer.

BY O. K. DAVIS.

Boise, Idaho, July 16.—[Special.]—This was a give and take day for the Haywood prosecution and about evenly divided as to the time spent in those two occupations.

In the morning it gave the defense a line of testimony that put a pale, sickly tinge on the story of one of its witnesses and sharply contradicted the testimony of others.

In the afternoon, however, the position was reversed and the defense, in the person of Mr. Richardson, supplied a withering, blasting cross examination that shriveled up one of the state's witnesses and left not much more than a ridiculous memory of him.

The witness who faded out of the realm of credibility in the morning was Tom Wood, the Scotch nonunion man who worked a day and a half in the Vindicator mine and told, for the defense, a wonderfully graphic story of the day of the explosion that killed Beck and McCormick.

Wood's story was full of detail and color. He saw and remembered everything that morning, from the half box of powder sitting on the water barrel on the eighth level to the revolver sticking out of Beck's pocket and the iron guard rail at the sixth level.

State Shatters Defense's Story.

The first thing that happened to his story today was the testimony of A. T. Holman, now manager of the Golden Cycle mine at Independence, who was the first man down the shaft of the Vindicator after the explosion. Holman had been superintendent of the Vindicator and was familiar with the mine. He swore there was no iron rail at the sixth level, and that the wooden one which had been there had been blown off by the explosion.

Then came young Ramsey, stepson of McCormick, who was powder man of the Vindicator at the time of the explosion, and when he got through Wood and his theory that the death of the two men might have been an accident caused by powder which they were carrying was only a "spiflicated" collection.

To begin with, there was no water barrel on the eighth level, where Wood said he put the half box of powder, and there had been no half box of powder there on the explosion morning. And, to continue, McCormick and Beck had not come up the shaft from the eighth to the sixth level, but had gone directly down from the surface.

One other point Ramsey put in as a clincher, the powder used by the Vindicator was all 35 per cent. Two weeks after the explosion he found near the scene of it a piece of 40 per cent powder such as was never used in the mine.

Crossfire Not Effective.

Richardson went after Ramsey on cross examination with the record of his testimony at the coroner's inquest and developed two or three slight differences between it and that Ramsey had given here.

The boy explained the discrepancies by saying that he was hardly responsible at that time, under the excitement of his stepfather's death and the strike conditions. Richardson let it go at that and went into other things.

He asked if Ramsey knew of the storing of a carload of powder in the mine, and the boy said that several tons had been taken down for safekeeping a day or two after the strike began. When the mine was reopened it was brought back to the magazine. This was the powder that Orchard found on the eighth level, when he was high grading after the strike, and which he agreed with Sherman Parker and Bill Davis to set off. But when he went down with Joe Scholtz to explode it he couldn't find it. Ramsey's testimony today explained why he couldn't.

State's Witness "Can't Remember."

Richardson scored his triumph at the afternoon session, when Hawley called J. C. Rutan, the big, husky sheriff of San Miguel county, Colo., to testify to the conditions at Telluride during and preceding the strike there and the régime of martial law.

It developed right away that Hawley had not gone over the story with Rutan and knew nothing of what the sheriff could testify to. He asked all sorts of questions which Rutan could not answer, except by telling what others had reported to him, and such testimony was shut out by the constant objections of Richardson and Darrow.

The only thing Rutan seemed to be absolutely sure about, of his own knowledge, was that he was never present when any of the trouble was going on. He heard of plenty of it, but never seemed able to get there in time to do anything about it. He started in to tell of the riot of the Smuggler Union mine and it developed that he did not get there for two days after the shooting, although the mine was only two miles from Telluride. It was the sorriest exhibition that has ever been given in the whole course of the trial.

Haywood Lawyer Has Fun.

Then when Richardson got his chance he promptly put Rutan into the class of the late lamented Jake Sharp, founder of the celebrated "don't remember" school. The things that Rutan didn't remember were about all that happened while he was sheriff in Telluride. He had no recollection, for instance, of having asked Gov. Peabody to declare his county in a state of insurrection, and when Richardson read to him the message he had sent to the governor at that time it did not refresh his recollection. He couldn't recall having talked with the governor by telephone as to the situation in his bailiwick.

Richardson took him all around that part of Colorado, and had the time of his life. He fairly bristled with questions and fired them in, forty to the minute, with the regularity and precision of a rapid fire gun.

The Denver lawyer was permitted to run his cheerful course practically undisturbed, and when it was ended there was only a few shreds and tatters of the sheriff of San Miguel county, Colo., hanging on the bushes.

Verdict Early Next Week.

The state probably will finish its rebuttal Thursday morning, and may get through tomorrow. Darrow said this morning that the defense would have little if any surrebuttal, so that it now appears that the verdict may be looked for by the first of next week.

Perjury Hearing Begins.

While the "big show" was going on in the District court today Justice of the Peace Savage was conducting the preliminary hearing of C. W. Aller, the Haywood witness arrested yesterday, charged with perjury.

The state was represented by Prosecuting Attorney Koelsch and the prisoner by Peter Breen, an attorney of Butte, who has been associated with Haywood's counsel, having been retained by the miners' union of Butte, Mont., to watch the case.

The principal witness in the perjury hearing was Orchard himself. No more than a half dozen people outside of the principals in the case and the other witnesses were present when he went over his testimony as to his connection with D. C. Scott, the railroad detective, who, Aller swore, interviewed Orchard in Cripple Creek two or three weeks before the explosion at the Independence depot on June 6, 1904.

Orchard was closely cross examined by Breen, but no amount of questioning brought out any material change in the original story.

A number of other witnesses were examined, the case taking up most of the day. Aller was released on deposit of $2,500 bond.

Fleeing Banker Is Arrested.

Kenosha, Wis., July 16.—[Special.]—John Absillor, who is alleged to have fled with $1,600 deposits in his bank, was arrested at Akron, O., today. His arrest was secured through a telegram sent to his wife, who is in jail.

BUILDING FALLS; NINE DIE.

Crowded Stores Buried Under an Avalanche of Bricks.

BUSINESS MEN ARE VICTIMS.

Crash in Hamilton, Ont., Costs Lives of Two Leading Citizens.

London, Ont., July 16.—[Special.]—Nine persons were killed, including two of the town's leading business men, and more than a score injured when a three story building on Dundas street collapsed, burying under an avalanche of bricks stores on the ground floor.

The crash occurred shortly after 5 o'clock, when the stores were crowded with shoppers. At one time more than 100 persons were imprisoned in the ruins. Those killed in the crash were:

HAMILTON, W. T., member of the dry goods firm of Hamilton & Long.
HOWITT, EDWARD.
HOWITT, MRS. EDWARD.
LONG, JOSEPH, junior member of the firm of Hamilton & Long.
McCALLUM, ARCHIBALD, photographer.
MULLINS, CLARA, shopgirl.
SMITH, FRANK, store manager.
TAMLIN, WILLIAM.
UNIDENTIFIED MAN.

Some Still in Ruins?

It is believed that at least two persons are still buried in the ruins.

The collapse is said to have been caused by alterations which were being made to the building, which was about to be transformed into a billiard parlor.

Within a few minutes of the crash the entire police and fire department, aided by about 500 male citizens, were at work tearing down the piles of bricks, from beneath which the cries of those imprisoned could be heard.

Many Remarkable Escapes.

One rescue party released three girls from a cellar in which they had taken refuge. An hour later five other girls, scared but unhurt, were dug out. A woman clasping her baby in her arms was found in a crevice almost miraculously formed by falling beams. Neither was hurt.

The work of rescue was continued until far into the night, and during its progress many remarkable escapes from death were recorded.

The disaster created the greatest excitement throughout the city.

GRAND STAND FALLS; 20 HURT; WRESTLER GOTCH SAVES SISTER

Bleachers at Humboldt, Ia., Crowded with Picnic Party, Collapse—Eight Injured in Evansville, Ind., Crash.

Fort Dodge, Ia., July 16.—[Special.]—During a Woodman picnic at Humboldt today the temporary grand stand collapsed, seriously injuring twenty people. The crowd was assembled to witness a wrestling match between Frank Gotch, champion catch-as-catch-can, who lives at Humboldt, and Charles Hackenschmidt. Most of the injuries were to Humboldt people, consisting of broken arms and legs. Gotch, arrayed in wrestling tights, rescued his sister.

Seats Collapse; Eight Injured.

Evansville, Ind., July 16.—[Special.]—A row of seats at Garvin's park, where a meeting was in progress, fell tonight. A stampede followed, but quiet finally was restored. Eight persons were injured.

WATERS CLAIM TWO VICTIMS IN ACCIDENTS AT WATERLOO.

Body of Man Found in River—Boy Ventures Beyond His Depth While Wading.

DROWNINGS OF THE SEASON............344

Waterloo, Ia., July 16.—[Special.]—The body of Frank T. Watkins, aged 43 years, was found in Cedar river today. He had been drowned by accident.

Roy Habenicht, aged 18, was drowned today when he went beyond his depth while wading. He was unable to swin.

Falls Into Tank; Dies.

Galesburg, Ill., July 16.—[Special.]—The young son of George Rigdon of Knoxville was drowned today in a cattle watering tank, into which he had accidentally fallen.

Springfield Boy Is Victim.

Springfield, Ill., July 16.—[Special.]—Otto Hattwig, aged 18, was drowned today when he got beyond his depth while bathing.

NEW YORK LIMITS ELECTION SUM

Gov. Hughes Signs Bill Fixing Standard of Candidates' Expenses—Violation Is Misdemeanor.

Albany, N. Y., July 16.—Gov. Hughes today approved the bill limiting the expenses of candidates for public office. Candidates for governor are limited to $10,000; for any other elective state office, other than a judicial office, $6,000; for congress or presidential elector, $4,000; state senator, $2,000; for assembly, $1,000; by a candidate for any other public office in places where the total number of votes cast shall be 5,000 or less, $500; if the total number of votes cast therein at such a last preceding state election be in excess of 5,000, the sum of $3 for each 100 votes in excess of such number may be added to the amounts above specified. A violation of this act is made a misdemeanor.

GIRL DIES SLAVE; COST OF AN ERROR.

Demise Reveals Mistake in a Sentence to Twenty Years in Mines.

CLERK'S FATAL BLUNDER.

Inserted "Years" for "Months" on Alabama Record; Suffering Broke Her Heart.

Montgomery, Ala., July 16.—[Special.]—Forced to slave for almost twenty years in penal servitude mines in this state, Rhena Rivers of Houston county died a victim to a clerk's mistake. The man wrote the word "years" instead of "months" on the commitment papers that sent the girl to the mines. It was not until after her death the terrible error was discovered and a bill was introduced into the legislature today to pay the mother for the overtime that the daughter served.

Close to the limit of cruelty is the trick Fate played the Rivers girl. She was arrested for an offense the maximum penalty for which is twenty years' penal servitude. The judge sentenced the girl to twenty months. The clerk, however, either honestly misunderstood the sentence or was negligent.

Served in Chain Gang.

Penal servitude meant working in a chain gang, and the girl received her sentence. When jurgment of the court was pronounced her mother was in the room. She expected to have her daughter back home in less than two years. The girl was crushed by what seemed to her a severe sentence, and promised to earn what commutation she could by good behavior.

After twenty months her mother made efforts to learn when her daughter would return home. The girl had lost her identity in a prison number, and it was difficult to find out to what mine she had been sent. When finally the mother did ascertain the name of the mine she asked that her daughter be released. She was told the girl had been sentenced for twenty years, and the prisoner would have to serve her term.

Of such trying nature is work in mines that owners are compelled to depend on the state to keep the mines going. Exposure of brutality practiced by keepers of felon gangs have been frequent in the last twenty years and physical sufferings of the prisoners are always intense.

Mother Loses All Hope.

Long before the nineteen years which the girl remained prisoner had passed, the mother had given her daughter up as lost. The girl, however, protested against her imprisonment many times and she was punished summarily because of her vehemence. The work also was beyond her endurance. Ten months before her supposed long term was to have expired she died. Her body was sent home then and the mistake discovered.

A newspaper story telling of the girl's death was read by several persons who were in court at the time she was sentenced. They recalled distinctly she had been ordered to serve twenty months, and they began an investigation. They looked up the court record, and found it showed she had been sentenced to twenty months. It looked for a time as if the girl had been kept a prisoner deliberately for seventeen years, and a commission was sent to the mines to investigate the case. The commissioners found a mistake had been made in the commitment papers that were turned over to the overseer of prisoners, and this was his authority for holding the girl.

Inspector Finds Big Discrepancy in Accounts of Assistant Postmaster at Butte, Mont.

Butte, Mont., July 16.—[Special.]—Nicholas J. Kent, assistant postmaster, who disappeared a month ago, is a defaulter to the amount of at least $8,500, according to Inspector A. A. Paisley, who is checking up his accounts.

Many postoffices in the state make their remittances to the Butte office and Kent received these remittances. The amount may be more, as some outside offices are yet to be heard from.

Mrs. Kent left the city two weeks ago. She told her friends she was going to Seattle.

Elma Lockwood Captured After Giving Battle to South Bend Police—Sent to Jail.

South Bend, Ind., July 16.—[Special.]—After swearing that she would never go to jail and that no one could take her there, Elma Lockwood, who has been living with Capt. George Wellington Streeter of the Deestrict of Lake Michigan fame, is tonight confined in a cell in the St. Joseph county jail. It was only after a bitter fight that she was finally landed in the cell.

FIGHT ENDS IN A HOSPITAL.

S. C. Hurlbert Arrested by Police After Midnight Suffering from Scalp Wounds and Bruises.

S. C. Hurlbert, 33 years old, 525 Belden avenue, was taken to the German-American hospital shortly after midnight by the police of the North Halsted street station suffering from three scalp wounds and several bruises on the face. Detectives learned from a neighbor that Hurlbert had been beaten in a saloon fight.

What do YOU Think of

A MAGAZINE OF CLEVERNESS

Not long ago the Editors of this magazine of cleverness made a canvass among its readers to discover directly how great or how little an appeal the periodical was making. The prompt and numerous replies were a remarkable tribute to the publishers. One reader wrote as follows:

"For several years I have kept in touch with your magazine. I think you should be congratulated in being able to gather together so many brilliant minds who give the best that is in them and whose resources seem unbounded. To me the magazine carries, each month, my sincere interest and anticipation to the end of the book. There is not within it one dull or unreadable page, and I find, ever, something to remember; something—if but one short sentence—to take into my personal life."

Note that phrase—"EACH MONTH." Not only do the Editors strive to make one issue superlative, but every issue—last month's, this month's—all month's—and the CALLS COLORADO WORST IN UNION.

Judge Lindsey of Denver Visits Chicago and Talks of "Predatory Wealth."

SEES ONLY ONE HOPE.

Republican Governor, Supported by Roosevelt, Might Work a Reform.

"Fighting" Judge Ben B. Lindsey of Denver spent several hours in Chicago yesterday evening and continued his attacks on "predatory wealth." The day before, at Chautauqua, N. Y., he had said that Senator Simon Guggenheim of his state should be hanged for his wrongs to the poor.

"Colorado is absolutely in the grasp of the money power," said the judge last night, between glasses of mineral water at the Great Northern hotel. "It is the most hopeless state in the union. Its legislature is owned body and soul by the corporations."

For such a strong talker the judge is small and mild looking. He weighs probably 110 pounds, but he is full of fire, and his talk fairly sizzles under his panama hat.

One Hope for Colorado.

"The only hope for Colorado," he went on, "is to elect a republican governor who will be supported by Roosevelt or some successor to Roosevelt representing the republican national progressive element. Roosevelt, La Follette, Hughes, or Cummins—these are the sort of progressive men I mean—men who are doing things. The only man in the democratic party who can be credited with doing things is Joseph W. Folk of Missouri."

The judge described himself as a Roosevelt democrat. He related as many of the details of Guggenheim's purchase of a seat in the United States senate last March as had come to his knowledge.

"Guggenheim," said he, "is worth $100,000,000, and I have it from John W. Springer of the International Trust company that Guggenheim said he'd get fifty-one votes in the legislature if it cost him $1,000,000. He got 63 out of 100 votes.

"He didn't need to buy the legislators after they took their offices, for he owned them in advance. That's his modern, up to date method of buying a legislature. His agents would go to a man and say, 'Here, Bill, here's $2,500 for your campaign expenses,' and Bill would put the money in his pocket.

W. G. Evans the Boss.

"The corporation crowd has its headquarters in W. G. Evans' offices in the Majestic building. Evans is the boss of the republican party in Denver and head of the tramway system, and owns the democrats also whenever it is necessary. All the legislation is planned at his office in the Majestic building. Peyton Woolston, treasurer of the Young Men's Christian association, told me he had been invited to the office and informed that all his expenses would be paid if he'd vote for Guggenheim after they had elected Woolston state senator.

"All these arrangements were made by Dick Broad, formerly chairman of the republican state committee, who was paid a big salary by Guggenheim and by John F. Vivian, the present chairman.

"There were only two men among the republicans in the legislature who wouldn't stand for this sort of thing—Representative Merle Vincent and Senator Alexander. Of course the democrats hollered, but the legislature is two-thirds republican."

Evans Has Valuable Franchises.

Judge Lindsey says the other man who has made Colorado such a bad state is Evans, the boss who elected a democratic administration three years ago in Denver, though he is supposed to be a republican. This democratic municipal administration helped Evans to franchises for gas, electric lights, water, and street car lines worth $60,000,000. The judge has had to pass on a good many of these franchises as county judge. He told of one case where 1,000 forged gas receipts had been issued to voters to substantiate their claim to being property owners.

The judge was elected several years ago by the women of Denver, after the republicans had nominated him by accident—which is a long story. So he has a warm spot in his heart for the women.

Women in Politics.

"The evil influence of the corporations is used on the women quite as much as on the men," he said. "Mrs. Brown will get $15 to work for a street railroad franchise. She'll go across the street to Mrs. Jones and say, 'Now, Mrs. Jones, I wish you'd vote for this franchise. I've got $15 and I'll get $15 more if it's carried. Now do vote for it, there's a good soul!' How can the people's rights be preserved in a case like that?"

The judge went into a guarded statement regarding the Colorado Supreme court. Two of its members he said had been appointed three years ago by a committee named by Gov. Peabody, that was made up of representatives of all the important corporations in Denver.

"Case Harrington," said the judge, "represented the Colorado Fuel and Iron company, it was reported J. K. Andrews was on for the Denver and Rio Grande railroad, William G. Evans represented the public utility corporations of Denver, and one other represented the Colorado and Southern railroad."

Denounces Gov. Buchtel.

The judge has a poor opinion of Gov. Henry A. Buchtel.

"He's a poor stick," said Judge Lindsey, "controlled entirely by Evans. He'll never take a step in the interest of reform. He is chancellor of the Denver university and can make a good lecture and that's about all. Philip Stewart of Colorado Springs, Roosevelt's friend, is talked of as the next candidate for governor, and the only hope for the state, as I have said, is in some man like that backed by a progressive national republican administration. Stewart was nominated last time, but he couldn't stand for the gang and withdrew. Then Evans appointed Buchtel to fill the vacancy."

The last reprehensible act by the prize legislature, the judge said, was to throttle the primary election law, drawn in the hope that it would defeat "Bill" Evans. As long as Guggenheim was in control, he said, there would be no legislation in the interest of the people.

MRS. DEPEW'S BUTTER ROTTEN?

Senator's Sister-in-Law Tells Court Maid Suing Her Said It Was, and That Milk Was "Horrid."

[illegible], Mich., July 16.—[Special.]—Mrs. [illegible] Depew, Detroit, sister-in-law of Senator Chauncey M. Depew, appeared in the police court today to answer the suit of a discharged domestic to recover wages.

In addition to denying she owed the girl anything, Mrs. Depew, in three pages of typewriting, declared Jennie Webb, plaintiff, was discharged because she said the butter was "rotten," that "it tasted as if it came from a cow fed on feed from a brewery," and that the milk and cream were "horrid."

Miss Webb, alleged Mrs. Depew, refused to scrub a floor without a mop and refused to [illegible], feed or cook chickens, and keep warm and out of the draft.

LETS RIVAL HAVE HUSBAND.

Woman Asks Divorce to Allow Child to Be Legitimatized.

GIVES UP FIGHT TO WIN.

After Battles In and Out of Court Wife Decides on Sacrifice.

New York, July 16.—[Special.]—Torn by two strong emotions—hatred for the woman who won her husband from her and love for one of that woman's two nameless children—Mrs. Isabella Cunningham, Brooklyn, has asked for divorce from her husband, Joseph T. Cunningham, in order that he may marry the other woman and give the child a name.

In talking of her suit today Mrs. Cunningham said: "It is perhaps unfortunate that I love little Dorothy under such circumstances, but she has such a place in my affections I am determined to see her face the world unhandicapped, even at the cost of all that has been dear to me.

"I have come to regard it as my duty to release Mr. Cunningham and leave him free to marry this woman, who, of course, I cannot help hating. But it is all for the best. I have offered to make Dorothy, their elder child, my heir if she is taught to love me.

"I have exacted from Mr. Cunningham a promise that he would marry the woman, Lizzie Dempsey, for the children's sake, as I have learned to love the elder girl, who is sweet and pretty, and comes to stop with me for weeks at a time."

Knew of Husband's Conduct for Years.

Justice Scudder in the Supreme court, Brooklyn, will say in a few days if this curious application for a divorce is to be granted.

For years Mrs. Cunningham, the wife of an engineer for a Broadway concern, who lives in Brooklyn, has endured the agony of knowing her husband was leading a double life and that she had only a small part of his affection. Once she horsewhipped the other woman when she found her with her husband. Her husband lost his position on account of it, but did not repent. Then Mrs. Cunningham sued her husband for nonsupport, but dropped the case.

A few years ago Mrs. Cunningham brought suit against Elizabeth Dempsey for alienation of her husband's affections. She asked an injunction to restrain her from meeting Cunningham. The marital troubles of the couple by this time had gained considerable notoriety, and Mrs. Cunningham's "injunction scheme for erring husbands" caused some comment. The process was unsatisfactory.

About this time little Dorothy came into Mrs. Cunningham's life. Then a transformation took place. Instead of the hatred which the wronged wife harbored for her rival, a spirit of toleration appeared. She grew to love her rival's child and forced the husband to acknowledge the child as his.

Sacrifices Man for Child's Sake.

She invited the child to her home in Clifton place and is having her taught to play the piano. The child returned her affection and the child's mother does not discourage the visits.

The younger sister of Dorothy, Katherine, found no place in the heart of "Aunt Belle," as little Dorothy calls her father's wife. As Mrs. Cunningham saw Dorothy grow she became thoughtful. In a few years, she argued, the girl would associate with other children and would suffer by the aspersions cast on her birth. Mrs. Cunningham saw a lawyer then and told him her story and the divorce suit was arranged.

Mrs. Cunningham herself says her sacrifice of her husband was determined on without any thought of her own remarriage, but admits that as soon as she is free she may marry Boynton Vanderveer, son of the confederate general, Ferdinand Vanderveer, who was Supreme court judge in Ohio. Mr. Vanderveer is living in New York.

ELKS TO GATHER IN TEXAS; ONE MAY LAND IN PRISON.

B. P. O. E. Selects Dallas for Next Convention—Colorado Man Chews Ear of Park Keeper.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 16.—[Special.]—The Elks tonight selected Dallas, Tex., as the next convention city and elected John K. Tener of Charleroi, Pa., grand exalted ruler of the order. John W. Wagner of Kansas City, Mo., was made grand secretary. It was said that probably none of the trustees will be elected, because none of the candidates received the majority of all votes cast.

The composition of the grand forum was announced as follows:

Charles E. O. Pickett of Waterloo, Ia., for a term of ten years; Marc Rohner, Detroit, two years; William H. Moore, Seattle, three years; Thomas J. Cogan, Cincinnati, four years; and Robert W. Brown, Louisville, five years.

The new body came into life with the adoption of a new constitution which went into effect today.

As soon as the business session ended the city was given over to the crowds of Elks, which were too great for the sidewalks, and filled the streets from curb to curb. The police were powerless to keep traffic clear; cars could not run, and hacks and hansoms, with excited drivers and passengers, formed islands in the living flood.

The Colorado delegation has trouble on its hands. One of its members went out to Woodside park last night and proceeded to ride indefinitely on the switch back on a pass. The switch back man protested, and the Elk chewed his ear almost off. As the penalty for this offense in Pennsylvania is twenty years in the penitentiary the result of the ride may be disastrous.

WANT WEST POINT CHANGED TO TURN OUT REAL GENTLEMEN

Members of Board of Visitors Find Training at Military Academy Is Almost Purely Technical.

Washington, D. C., July 16.—"An officer of the army should be an all round educated gentleman. As it is now, his entire training, both preparatory at the academy and postgraduate, is almost purely technical."

This statement is the foundation for the recommendation by the board of visitors to the military academy for a general revision of the scheme of academic instruction.

The board points out that when the present curriculum was established there was no opportunity for post graduate professional instruction. Now it may be readily had for every branch of the service. It would seem that the time spent at West Point need not be so exclusively devoted to technical studies, and that by lessening the requirements in them to some extent and possibly lengthening the course a year, the cadet can be graduated with an education approaching in general culture that acquired in the best of American colleges. It also would make possible, through independent reading, a more natural and broader development than is now the case.

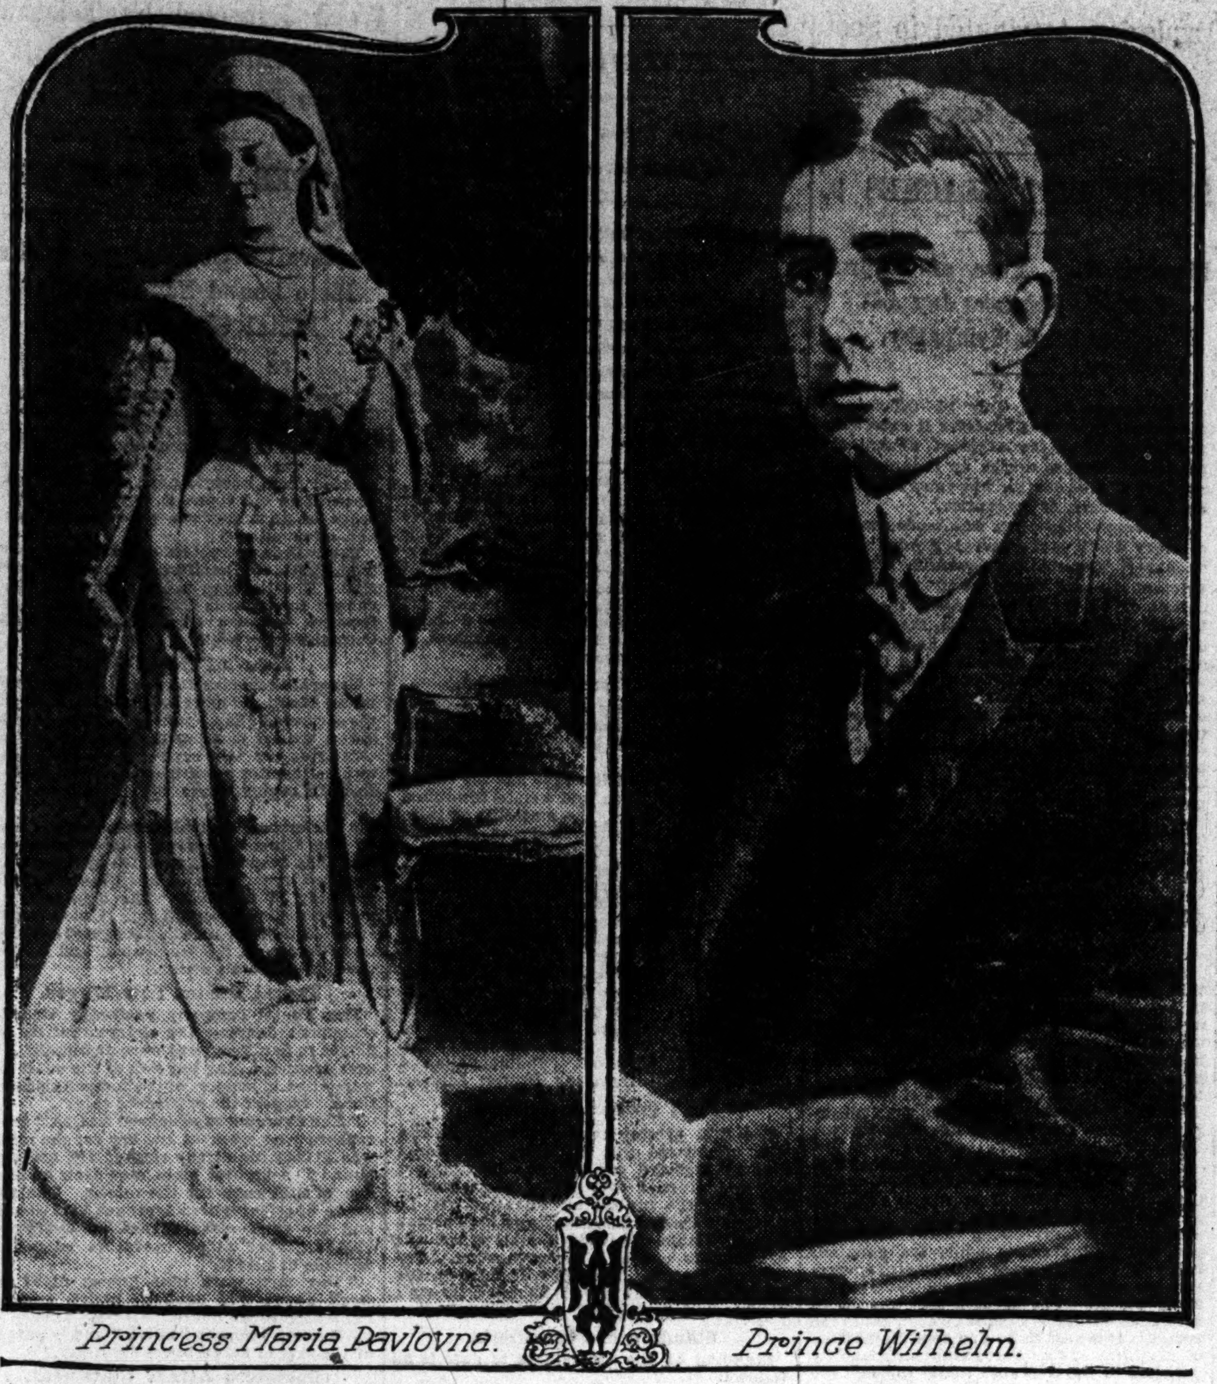
The board says that hazing is a thing of the past, and that it would seem to have been permanently stamped out.

"NEW CITIZENS" BREAK RECORD

1,285,349 Alien Immigrants Landed in America During Fiscal Year Which Ended June 30.

Washington, D. C., July 16.—All immigration records in the history of the country were broken by the aggregate returns for the fiscal year of 1907, which ended on June 30 last. The total number of alien immigrants landed in America during the year was 1,285,349, as against 1,100,735 during the fiscal year of 1906. The increase was about 6 per cent over the greatest number of immigrants that ever arrived in America heretofore in a single year.

Prince of Sweden Who Will Soon Visit Chicago; Russian Grand Duchess Whom He Is to Wed.



Princess Maria Pavlovna. Prince Wilhelm.

Prince Wilhelm of Sweden, duke of Sudermanie, second son of Crown Prince Gustave, will visit Chicago next month at the invitation of the Swedish National association.

Prince Wilhelm is often referred to as "Europe's best and truest sportsman." He is an ardent devotee to lawn tennis and other outdoor sports, dances well, and speaks English fluently. He is a lieutenant on the Swedish warship Fylgia, and is in active service every year.

Prince Wilhelm has been visiting for several weeks at the home of his fiancée at Peterhof, the home of the the czar of Russia. The betrothal of Prince Wilhelm and Grand Duchess Storfurstinnan Maria Pavlovna was recently announced. The Duchess Pavlovna is the only daughter of the Grand Duke Paul, who has been living in exile in Paris on account of his morganatic marriage with the Comtesse de Hohenfelsen. She was born April 6, 1890, and is considered one of the prettiest and most talented of Russia's young princesses. Her mother, who died in 1891, was Princess Alexandra of Greece, the niece and namesake of Queen Alexandra.

MOSQUITOES HOLD UP TRAIN.

Millions of Pest Swarm Into Coaches Near Badgley, Ia.

PASSENGERS LEAVE CARS.

Fires Built Along Track for Smudge; War Lasts Two Hours.

Des Moines, Ia., July 16.—[Special.]—A swarm of mosquitoes, millions in number, literally stalled a Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad train at Badgley last night. For two hours the heavily loaded train was tied up by its fight with the pests and the 120 passengers were almost crazed before they escaped.

The attack was made early in the evening, just as the train started to pull out of Badgley.

Pests Begin Assault on Train.

Because of the hot weather the windows in the passenger coaches had been left open and the mosquitoes, driven from the marshes by the rain, swarmed into the cars, attacking the passengers. For awhile the passengers attempted to fight the pests with handkerchiefs and hands, but as they increased in number and ferocity the conductor was finally appealed to and stopped the train.

Smoke Affords Relief.

For two hours the train was stalled, while the passengers, driven from the coaches, built fires along the right of way, making a dense smudge which afforded them a little relief. The smudge was then carried into the coaches and the mosquitoes finally driven out. Many of the passengers had hands and faces almost eaten raw by the attacks.

June Bug in Ear Crazes Driver.

Alto Pass, Ill., July 16.—[Special.]—Deranged, when a June bug flew into his ear, Edward L. Hagler, rural mail carrier, this morning startled farmers along the main road leading into Alto Pass by shrieking and lashing his ponies into a wild run all the way to town. Early in his mad race Hagler, frenzied by pain, threw away reins, placed one hand at his throbbing head, and with the other whipped the horses. Meanwhile the June bug bored deeper into Hagler's head. Pedestrians raced to points of safety as the maddened team dashed down the streets. After several unsuccessful attempts the ponies were stopped by Jesse Dufrain as they passed his livery stable. A physician extracted the bug and Hagler recovered his reason in time to finish covering the route.

Bees in Cable Box Fight Linemen.

Janesville, Wis., July 16.—[Special.]—Honey bees which had swarmed inside a telephone cable box attacked linemen at work and severely stung many people in the neighborhood when disturbed this morning. Several quarts of honey was removed.

FIGHTS TRAIN ROBBERS; KILLED

Harvest Hand Beating Way Home Shot to Death by Bandits in Kansas—Companion Wounded.

Cherryvale, Kas., July 16.—Two robbers held up a St. Louis and San Francisco freight train five miles east of Cherryvale early today, shot and killed O. J. Brown and seriously wounded Otis Taylor, harvest hands, beating their way home to western Kansas, who resisted the efforts of the road men to rob them of their earnings. The robbers escaped. A posse is searching for them.

PASTOR FINED FOR CONTEMPT.

Refuses to Tell Who Bought Beer Which He Said Was Purchased on Sunday.

Anderson, Ind., July 16.—[Special.]—The Rev. Thomas Grafton, pastor of the Central Christian church, today was fined $25 for contempt of court, because he refused to divulge the names of members of his church who, he said, had purchased beer on Sunday. He had exhibited the bottle from his pulpit as proof that the Sunday law was being broken.

THIS PARTY WHOOPED IT UP.

Everybody Had That Kind of Cough, and Worst Got Prizes.

LUNCH TO MUSIC OF BARKS.

Pittsburg Kids and Their Wheezy Parents Bray at Lawn Fete.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 16.—[Special.]—"Mrs. W. H. Parker of Grand View avenue, Duquesne Heights, tendered a whooping cough lawn fête last evening at her home in honor of her son Georgie, who is suffering from the disease. Over a score of his little friends attended, all of them similarly afflicted."

This bona fide society note was sent to the newspapers here today for publication.

Prizes for the Loudest Whoopers.

Pittsburg is suffering from an epidemic of whooping cough, and every child on Duquesne Heights has the disease and many of the papas and mammas of the children have it, too. The youngsters get tired remaining in the house, and as physicians declare that outdoor exercise is the best thing in the world for whooping cough, Mrs. Parker decided on the lawn fête.

The party was a whooping success. Every one present whooped, some of them until they were red in the face. To add zest to the affair, Mrs. Parker offered prizes to the boy or girl who whooped the longest and loudest and a booby prize for the one who only wheezed.

There were many complaints when the prizes were awarded and some of the unsuccessful ones claimed that the winners had an advantage over them, as they had had the disease longer.

Medicine a Feature of Lunch.

Lunch was served to the music of barking. With the lunch Mrs. Parker served a mild mixture of the medicine which every kid on Duquesne Heights has to take about every five minutes to keep from whooping his head off. It was only by the liberal use of the mixture that some of the youngsters could eat at all.

Many of the little ones were accompanied by their mammas, who have contracted whooping cough from them, and the affair was such a big success that several of the mothers who attended are arranging to give return entertainments.

CAST DEATH PLOT ABOUT WOMAN

Evidence Introduced at Italian Murder Trial in Louisville That May Hang Female Defendant.

Hahnville, La., July 16.—The wide extent of the Italian plot which caused the kidnaping and subsequent strangling of Walter Lamana developed in today's testimony against four of the alleged murderers. In addition, evidence that may help to hang Mrs. Campisciano, one of the women accused, was introduced.

The boy's mother when placed on the stand while her son's clothing was introduced as evidence sobbed and shouted at the four prisoners:

"O, you murderers; you dogs!"

Jennie Gariffio, an Italian girl, gave the evidence against Mrs. Campisciano. She said that she heard the kidnaped boy screaming: "O, Charley" and "O, mamma" in a house near Campisciano's. Mrs. Campisciano at the time assured them that the boy was calling the cows. The witness also saw the boy taken into Campisciano's house by a man who carried him with one hand over the child's mouth. Four other witnesses corroborated her testimony.

REECE IS SPRINGFIELD MAYOR.

Former Assistant Adjutant General Is Elected to Office Made Vacant by Death of D. S. Griffiths.

Springfield, Ill., July 16.—At the special election held today to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mayor David S. Griffiths, former Asst. Adjt. Gen. Roy R. Reece, republican, was elected over Adrian John H. McCreery, democrat. The vote was: For Reece, 5,893; McCreery, 3,766.

PARIS PAPER CALLS US 'SOFT'

Libre Parole Says Japan Has Prestige Lost in America.

CALLS ROOSEVELT MEDDLER.

Thinks the President Has Too Often Had His Picture Printed.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, July 16.—The Libre Parole pays its respects to the distinguished head of the American government in an article considering the prospects of a war between the United States and Japan. Incidentally it gives one the foreign view of American prowess.

The Japanese, it says, still are living in the enthusiasm of their victory over the Russians. They are in admirable war training, vibrating with patriotism and warlike ardor.

On the other hand, the Americans, who have been softened by long years of peace, coupled with unexampled prosperity, now appear to be stripped of that intensity and energy exhibited by President Roosevelt.

The president himself, it says, has lost some of his prestige because he has talked too much, meddled in too many matters, and intervened in too many negotiations which did not concern him. He has caused his portrait to be printed too often in the illustrated papers, while the Japanese have, for their part, the prestige of their force enveloped in mystery.

The Libre Parole's article found its excuse and inspiration in a letter addressed to the editor by Sochi Shimpan, a Japanese newspaper, asking his opinion about Japan, a country which the editor of the French paper frankly says he never visited.

Friendship Tie in Evidence.

TOKIO, July 16.—The news of the arrest in America of a Japanese officer in the act of sketching a fort, which is totally discredited here, and would ordinarily invite angry comments against the source of information, is left without editorial comments in the leading Japanese papers. The explanation of this attitude may be sought in the fact that despite the war talk which is being transmitted here from America, the impression continues to prevail that the friendly relation existing between the United States and Japan is too deeply rooted to be destroyed by any anti-Japanese sentiment, which, however loudly voiced, is known to be limited to a small section.

Punch Shows Need of Panama.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, July 16.—Punch calls attention to America's need of the completion of the Panama canal in connection with sending a fleet to the Pacific. In a cartoon representing President Roosevelt walking hatless on the seashore, upon which the sun, in the form of a Japanese flag, blazes, the president, mopping and screening his head with his handkerchief, looks toward the sun and says: "It's a nice, genial orb, but it is a bit dazzling. I wish I had my Panama."

SAYS WIFE DESERTED CAMPBELL

Father-in-Law, Sued by Chicago Woman for Cremating Husband's Body, Makes Answer.

Cincinnati, O., July 15.—[Special.]—John B. Campbell of this city today filed his answer to the suit brought by his daughter-in-law, Ella Campbell of Chicago, who wants $25,000 damages from him because he cremated the body of her husband, James Campbell, when the latter died in this city two years ago.

She declared that that manner of disposing of the body was an outrage.

In his answer Mr. Campbell replies that Mrs. Campbell deserted her husband and that for some time before his death she did not live with him and made no effort to care for him in his illness in this city.

BOMB ENDS CAREER OF HATED RUSSIAN

Gen. Alikhanoff, Noted for Cruelty to Peasants, Is Blown to Pieces.

WOMAN DIES WITH HIM.

Wife of Gen. Glieboff, Riding with Him in the Carriage, Meets Same Death.

ALEXANDROPOL, Russia, July 16.—Gen. Alikhanoff, former governor general of Tiflis; Mme. Glieboff, wife of Gen. Glieboff, and the coachman who was driving their carriage were blown to pieces by bombs thrown at their conveyance early today. Gen. Alikhanoff's son and a daughter of Gen. Glieboff were injured.

The party was returning to the residence of Gen. Alikhanoff from his club. The bombs were hurled in Beboutoff street.

Gen. Alikhanoff, nicknamed "The Wild Beast" by the Caucasian members of the lower house of parliament, was noted for his cruelty in the Kutais district, where he led a number of punitive expeditions to stamp out disorders. His rigorous methods brought down upon him the enmity of the revolutionists.

Most Hated Man in Caucasus.

Known as the "pacifier" of Kutais province, he was the most hated man in the Caucasus. For several months in the fall of 1905 the government was completely in the hands of the revolutionists, they being in full possession of the railroad from the Black sea to Suram tunnel, which they had blown up previously. Gen. Alikhanoff sent a column of Cossacks, who laid waste the fertile valleys. Hundreds of the inhabitants were slaughtered.

Many of the men were driven into the mountains, and the women were given over to the Cossacks. Fifty villages were wiped out. The atrocities committed attracted the attention of the entire country.

Gen. Alikhanoff took part in the Russian advance in central Asia, and his expedition to the Murghab river in 1884-'5, known as the "pendjdeh incident," brought Great Britain and Russia to the verge of war.

Escaped Bomb Once Before.

Gen. Alikhanoff was seriously injured by a bomb at Borjam May 30 of last year. This bomb was thrown just as he was about to take a train for Tiflis. Its explosion seriously wounded, in addition to the general, a member of his staff and several Cossacks.

Cossacks fired into the crowd, killing many persons, and then burned to the ground the buildings into which the people had fled.

DANISH KING TO VISIT ICELAND.

Monarch Will Attempt to Improve Relations with Home Country—Flag Question Means Much.

COPENHAGEN, July 16.—King Frederick of Denmark is soon to make a trip to Iceland for the purpose of trying to improve the relations with the mother country. The home government recognizes that for a long time there has been a strong movement among Icelanders for a separation. It is expected that the king will be cordially received in Iceland, but the inhabitants will take advantage of this opportunity to display their political views. One of the points on which the separatists insist is a special Icelandic flag, and the members of this party propose to raise the flag on their buildings during the royal visit. King Frederick will leave Copenhagen on July 24. His third son, Prince Harold, a young officer of the horse guards, will accompany his father.

DIVORCE FREES COUNTESS ANNA

Appeal of De Castellane from Court Decision of Last November Dismissed—Decree Granted Wife.

PARIS, July 16.—The appeal of Count Boni de Castellane from the decision of the court Nov. 14 last granting a divorce to the Countess Boni de Castellane was dismissed this afternoon and a final decree of divorce duly entered. Although the count, under the law, has still sixty days in which to appeal to the Court of Cassation upon legal grounds, the judgment of today is regarded as final, insomuch as negotiations have been practically concluded by which Mme. Gould is to settle the cases of the creditors, both against herself and the count, out of court.

TOLSTOI DEATH REPORT DENIED

Count Declared to Be Alive and in Excellent Health in Dispatch from St. Petersburg.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 16.—There is no truth in the report which has reached Great Britain and the United States that Count Leo Tolstoi is dead. The count is in excellent health. The bathhouse on the estate of Count Leo Tolstoi at Yasnaya Polyana was burned down last night by incendiaries. This gave rise to the report that the manor house had been destroyed by fire and that several members of the family, including the count, had perished in the flames. It was learned that nobody had been injured.

SAGES SAVE RAISULI'S CAUSE.

Tribesmen Decided to Surrender Bandit and English Captive to Moroccan Government—Were Halted.

TANGIER, July 16.—Alarmed at the news of the elaborate military preparations of the Moroccan authorities, the Elkmes tribesmen were on the point of handing over to the imperial authorities the brigand Raisuli and Caid Sir Harry MacLean, whom he is holding in bondage, when they finally decided to refer the case to two ulemas. The two sages happened to be friends of Raisuli, and advised the tribesmen to do nothing, but "leave the matter in the hands of time and God," which the tribesmen decided to do.

DEATH'S HUGE TOLL IN INDIA.

Mortality Record for Six Months Totals 1,060,067—June Places Check on Fatal Inroad.

LONDON, July 16.—Returns of deaths from the plague in India show the appalling total of 1,060,067 for the six months ending June 30. The monthly total is at present decreasing, however, the death roll for June being placed at 69,064.

NOTES FROM FOREIGN LANDS.

PARIS.—Officers from the American cruisers, Tennessee and Washington, now at Brest, visiting Paris, were the recipients of unusual official honors. The officers were Rear Admiral Charles H. Stockton, Capt. Albert S. Berry, and Capt. Theodoric Porter. They were entertained by President Fallieres at luncheon at the Elysée palace, Ambassador White and the members of the embassy staff being present.

VIENNA.—The lower house of the Austrian reichsrath adopted a motion to appoint a special committee to draft proposals for the celebration by the state of the sixtieth anniversary of Emperor Francis Joseph's accession to the throne. It will be suggested to the committee that $25,000,000 be voted to found an old age and sickness insurance fund.

ST. PETERSBURG.—The departure of the members of the imperial family on a cruise in Finnish waters is expected to take place immediately. Preparations have been completed for a meeting between Emperor Nicholas and Emperor William of Germany.

LONDON.—Charles Frohman on the eve of his departure for New York said he was taking a large number of English plays for production in America. He will have almost 2,000 English players under his direction in the united kingdom next season.

The scope of advertising is becoming wider. There are constantly less things outside the Province of Advertising.

One of these mornings your product will be an advertising possibility. Perhaps it is so now.

The question is, "Will you or your competitor enter the field first?"

There are many business firms to-day whose chief asset is the fact that they began advertising before the other fellow sized up the situation.

THE SATURDAY EVENING POST has made Advertising History. It is going to make more. Perhaps you will figure in it.

CORONER BEATEN IN MAGILL FIGHT.

Efforts to Prevent Exhumation of Body of Clinton, Ill., Woman Are Vain.

OFFICIAL ON NEW TACK.

Says Things Look Different from What They Were at Time Inquest Was Held.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Clinton, Ill., July 16.—[Special.]—Coroner Cyrus Jones, who refused to order the body of Mrs. "Pet" Magill exhumed, has been brushed aside by Acting State's Attorney Mitchell, who tonight said the body would be taken from the grave without further delay. Jones, who is said to be a warm friend of the accused banker, has scouted the murder theory ever since it was advanced and declared that Mrs. Magill died by her own act. That was the verdict returned when the inquest was held and he saw no reason to go behind it, especially as the DeWitt county grand jury has not convened to inquire into the charges against the banker and his bride.

Handicapped by the absence of State's Attorney Miller, now on his way to San Diego with the sheriff to bring Magill back, Attorney Mitchell was in a quandary as to what steps he could take in the case. He appealed today to Attorney General Stead and tonight received word from Springfield to disregard Mr. Jones and his opposition and go right ahead with his investigations.

Coroner Changes Tune.

Jones has been criticised, quietly, over the Mrs. Magill suicide verdict for weeks. Tonight he published a long signed statement in a local newspaper defending his attitude. In an interview tonight he said: "I did not know there was any scandal in the Magill family, and did not think it my business to pry about hunting for murder. I realize now I was on the wrong track. I don't care to say whether I think Fred Magill killed his wife or not. It looks different now than it did."

Arthur Merwin, the gambler arrested yesterday, has been released on bail pending his trial. He denies knowledge of the cause of Mrs. Magill's demise, but the state's attorney's office believes he can tell much of interest to the prosecution.

Dr. Evans of Chicago Cannot Act.

Attorney E. B. Mitchell and Dr. George Edmunson, mayor of Clinton, returned from Chicago today after interviewing Dr. W. A. Evans, head of the health department there. Dr. Evans declined to conduct an autopsy on Mrs. Magill.

Drs. Adolph Gerhman and J. A. Wessner of the Columbus laboratory probably will make the analysis of the organs of the dead woman.

Magills Stand by First Story.

San Diego, Cal., July 16.—[Special.]—Frederick H. Magill and his girl bride today outlined, through their attorney, Eugene Daney, the defense they will make to the charge lodged against them in Clinton, Ill., of murdering Mrs. "Pet" Magill, whose death on May 31 last was said to have been the result of her own act.

They say the former Mrs. Magill committed suicide because of her frequent headaches and the constant "nagging" of the women members of Magill's family.

They claim to be in position to produce genuine letters written by Mrs. "Pet" Magill to prove this contention.

Both prisoners say they are anxious to get back to Clinton to vindicate themselves.

DENIES WOMAN WAS TREATED BRUTALLY AT INSTITUTION.

Supt. Wilhite of Dunning Hospital Takes Exception to Charges Made by Mrs. Emma Maendler.

Repeated allegations made by Mrs. Emma Maendler that she was "railroaded" to Dunning and then brutally treated there were specifically denied yesterday by Supt. Wilhite of the Dunning institutions.

"The specific charges made by Mrs. Maendler," said Dr. Wilhite, "of ill treatment received in Dunning are absolutely without foundation as far as I can ascertain. I have made a thorough investigation among the nurses attending her and her wardmates and not one tells of an injury suffered by Mrs. Maendler.

"The charges of suffering nervous shock from sudden change from boiling hot water to ice cold is a falsehood. According to the records, she did not take baths for treatment, but simply hygienic baths, which are given to all the patients, and ice water is not used, nor extremely hot water."

Assistant County Attorney Anderson declared the charges are the imaginings of an insane woman. Attorney Anderson recently conducted a suit in the County court for the support of Mrs. Maendler. The court decided she was insane and committed her to the asylum.

Chief of Police Shippy has announced that he has received in connection with Mrs. Maendler's case a report from Capt. Barcall of the Chicago avenue police station, and also a personal report from Policeman John J. Clancy, who arrested her, and was satisfied that the policeman had been guilty of no misconduct.

JAP MERCHANT IS MISSING; MAY HAVE BEEN MURDERED.

S. Katata, 32 Years Old, Leaves Home for Office and Suddenly Disappears—Had Large Sum of Money on Person

Assistant Chief of Police Herman Schuettler has been asked by S. Ishiuji, connected with the Japanese consulate in Chicago, to search for S. Katata, 32 years old, a Japanese merchant at 40 Dearborn street. Ishiuji said he thought his fellow countryman had been murdered, as he had a large sum of money when he left his home, 5408 Drexel avenue, last Wednesday morning to go to his office.

"If the Chicago police cannot find my fellow countryman," Ishiuji said, "we will notify our government and see what they can do. He had no political enemies so far as I know."

Katata came from Oita Ken, Japan, several years ago. He was well known there in political circles, particularly, and was an influential citizen.

Search will be made of all the Japanese settlements of Chicago in the hope of locating some clew. Assistant Chief Schuettler detailed several detectives on the case, as well as sending messages to other police stations.

A telegram was sent to Dr. Iynaga, lecturer at the University of Chicago, who is a close friend of Katata and whom the merchant was thought to be visiting at his summer home in Madison, Wis., but a reply telegram brought no knowledge of the man's whereabouts.

GLENN DEFIES COURT ON RATES

North Carolina Governor Disregards U. S. Judge Pritchard—Ticket Agent Indicted Despite Injunction.

Raleigh, N. C., July 16.—[Special.]—Gov. Glenn boldly defied Federal Judge Pritchard and ordered enforcement of the new railroad rate law which forbids the sale of passenger tickets for more than 2¼ cents per mile.

Although forbidden by an injunction issued by Judge Pritchard, the state authorities today indicted Thomas Greene, a Raleigh ticket agent of the Southern for violating the law.

Greene refused to give bond, and he was placed in jail. It is said Greene's attorneys will apply to Judge Pritchard for a writ of habeas corpus. Gov. Glenn announces the writ will not be recognized.

REPORT ON STREET "GRAB."

Chicago and Northwestern Road Placed on the Grill.

O'NEILL TALKS OF CASE.

City Official Denies Consent to Ravenswood Park "Steal."

Track Elevation Expert John O'Neill is making a report of the Ravenswood street "grab" by the Chicago and Northwestern railroad company. It, with one from Superintendent of Streets Doherty, will be submitted to Mayor Busse and referred to Corporation Counsel Brundage for action.

It then will be determined what course shall be pursued with the railroad company to secure either restitution of the land or compensation both for the city and the residents whose property has been injured.

O'Neill Enters Denial.

Mr. O'Neill, who has been said to have consented to the grabbing of twelve and one-half feet in West Ravenswood park from Peterson to Granville avenues, enters a vigorous denial of this and affirms that he reported the grabbing to the street department as soon as it was discovered.

Altogether the operations of the railroad in this street have reduced its width from sixty-six to forty feet. Years ago the company took and occupied thirteen and one-half feet of the street and acquired a sort of possession. This was adjusted in the track elevation ordinance and the company given a clear title to what it had taken.

In putting in the retaining wall for the elevation the company extended the wings over twelve feet farther into the street, and the residents, who had seen a sixty-six foot street dwindle down to a forty foot one, began to complain.

Says He Discovered "Grab."

"I didn't consent to it," said Mr. O'Neill. "I discovered it and reported it to the street department. I always have been fighting that railroad company, and I've told the officials now that they are in a bad fix and they may get out of it the best they can."

Superintendent of Streets Doherty says nothing was known of the grab until Assistant Commissioner Redieske of the department of public works found it out. One report to Mayor Busse will show that Mr. O'Neill discovered the grab and the other will show that he did not.

Henry E. Cordell, assistant building commissioner, has been granted leave of absence for a year, and the charges of neglect of duty filed against him by Commissioner Downey with the civil service commission will be withdrawn. Mr. Cordell goes into the engineering business for himself.

HOT SPELL TO CONTINUE REGARDLESS OF SHOWERS.

People Suffer Greatly, Especially in the Tenement Districts—One Death and Two Prostrations at Hammond.

Chicago is to have fair and continued hot weather today, following showers, according to the weather man. There is a promise of fresh west to northwest winds, but no decided reduction in temperature. Between 5 and 6 o'clock yesterday the thermometer registered 84, the highest for the day, and, although a brisk wind blew from the west, there was much suffering, especially in the crowded tenements. The relative humidity was 86 in the morning, but dropped to 78.

San Antonio, Tex., was the warmest spot on the map—96 above zero—while the lowest figure recorded was 54 at San Francisco, Cal.

One case of fatal prostration was reported in the city. William Sherlock, a butcher employed by the Harry Boore Packing company, Forty-ninth street and Center avenue, fell dead while at work.

The heat at Hammond during the early afternoon played havoc, killing one man, while two others were overcome. The dead:

MEEKS, JOHN, 41 years old, a carpenter; overcome while at work on a building; taken to St. Margaret's hospital, where he died half an hour later.

Those overcome by the heat were:

MAHONEY, DANIEL, 23 years old, a bartender; overcome while walking on the street; taken home and will recover.

RAMOVICH, JOSEPH, 31 years old, a laborer; overcome while at work; taken to St. Margaret's hospital, where his condition is regarded to be serious.

Employés of the big mills and residents of the vicinity suffered unusually from the heat.

OFFICERS NAMED BY MOULTON.

New Major General of National Guard Makes Appointments and Promotions in First Division.

Springfield, Ill., July 16.—Gen. George M. Moulton, acting in his new capacity of major general of the first division of Illinois National Guards, has made the following appointments to take effect July 15:

Alvan Dominique to be colonel and assistant adjutant general of the first division; Holman G. Purington to be lieutenant colonel and assistant inspector general of the first division; Joseph H. Barnett to be lieutenant colonel and ordnance officer; Charles Aling to be lieutenant colonel and judge advocate of first division; Edward H. Switzer to be lieutenant colonel and chief quartermaster of the first division; Charles H. Gillespie to be colonel and chief commissioner; Alfred W. Hopkins to be captain and aid de camp of the first division.

Other changes may follow later.

JUSTICE-RESTAURATEUR IS DEAD

James D. Cunningham of Mount Greenwood Worried by Injunction Against Beer License.

James D. Cunningham, for many years a justice of the peace at Mount Greenwood, died at his home yesterday following a short illness. His death is believed by his friends to have been hastened by worry over a recent injunction restraining the village clerk from issuing him a license to sell beer. The justice, who was 45 years old, kept a restaurant near the cemeteries. Recently, it is alleged, political opponents living in Morgan Park procured the injunction.

OBITUARY.

A. W. LEE of Ottumwa, Ia., president of the Lee Newspaper Syndicate and a well known newspaper man, died Monday in Nottingham, England, according to a cablegram received yesterday by John Lee Mahin of Chicago, a nephew. Mr. Lee had been ill for a few days following an attack of his heart, but his death was entirely unexpected. He left the United States on June 15, going to Nottingham to visit his brother, who is the United States consul there. Arrangements for the funeral have not been learned by his relatives in the United States.

THEOBALD CHARTRAN, the painter, died in Paris yesterday. He was born in 1849. Among the portraits that he painted were those of Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt and Miss Alice Roosevelt, Pope Pius X., and Cardinal Gibbons.

GEORGIA'S MISHAP SHOWS NEW PERIL

Explosion Attributed to Soot Flake Settling on Thin Powder Bag.

DEATH LIST REACHES 9.

Lives of Two More of Injured Hang in Balance; Jap Admiral Sends Sympathy.

Washington, D. C., July 16.—Officials of the navy department consider it extremely improbable that the accident aboard the battleship Georgia, which up to tonight has resulted in nine deaths, was caused by carelessness or lack of precaution.

A thorough inspection was made recently of every detail of the Georgia's ordnance by an expert, Commander Schofield. This inspection included every one of the guns, the details of the turret mechanism, the workings of the ammunition hoists, the handling of the guns and mechanism and ammunition by the sailors. It was found that the ship's company was efficient at all points, and it was certain that they were following closely the firing regulations in every essential detail.

In the absence of any other plausible explanation officials here give consideration to the theory advanced by some of the Georgia's officers when they came ashore at Boston, that the powder charge of the eight inch gun was fired by a smoldering clot of soot which, floating down from the ship's smoke pipe, entered the open scuttle on top of the turret and alighted directly on the fifty pound bag of smokeless powder in the arms of the loader at the breech of the gun.

Provides New Problem for Navy.

The bag inclosing the powder is made of thin serge stuff, which is rather inflammable. In fact, it is necessary that it should be soft in order to be entirely consumed in the bore of the gun after the charge is fired, otherwise bits of burning cloth might accidentally explode the next charge of powder introduced before the breach of the gun could be closed. Such accidents have occurred in the past, so the bags are purposely made thin and inflammable.

In answer to an inquiry as to whether it is customary to have the scuttle on top of the turret open while target practice is going on, it was said at the department that this is almost a necessity owing to the high temperature in the turret while the guns are consuming rapidly great quantities of smokeless powder with its enormous heat generating power. The opening also affords an avenue of escape in case of an accident in the turret. It is said to be a curious illustration of the irony of fate that the men apparently perished in the Georgia's turret through the means adopted by them to secure their safety.

When asked what additional precaution could be suggested, as the result of this last accident, the officials of the department confessed themselves at a loss at present.

The following telegram from President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay regarding the accident of the battleship Georgia was received at the navy department this afternoon:

"I am inexpressibly shocked and grieved at the dreadful accident on the Georgia and the death of the gallant officers and men. I wish full particulars at the earliest possible date. Let me know the condition of the wounded men. Repeat this to the captain of the Georgia."

List of Dead Reaches Nine.

Boston, Mass., July 16.—The bodies of six of the victims of the explosion on board the battleship Georgia Monday have been claimed by relatives and sent home from the United States naval hospital at Chelsea, and two more bodies will be sent tomorrow. The body of the ninth victim of the disaster, Seaman Edward F. Walsh of Lynn, who died this afternoon, still lies in the naval hospital. Walsh's mother, Mrs. M. Walsh of 28 Seymour avenue, Lynn, and a brother of the seaman were with him when he died. Tomorrow his body will be taken to Lynn for interment.

Of the other twelve men who faced death in the turret it is possible that two, Seaman James P. Thomas of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Louis O. Meese of Cincinnati, may not survive the night. Five others are in a serious condition, with strong hopes that three of them may recover, while the rest of the injured are well on the way to full recovery.

At the head of each cot in the naval hospital stands a bouquet of flowers sent today by Admiral Yamamoto of the Japanese navy, through his aid, Lieut. Commander Naomi Taniguchi.

The body of Lieut. Caspar Goodrich was sent to Stone Church, N. J., Rear Admiral and Mrs. Caspar F. Goodrich accompanying it, and the funeral will be held Thursday. The body of Midshipman Faulkner Goldthwaite was sent to Hopkinsville, Ky., in care of his mother, Mrs. William C. Goldthwaite.

Murderer Gets 99 Year Sentence.

St. Louis, Mo., July 16.—Edward Bergmann, confessed slayer of his aunt, Mrs. Kate Quernheim, was today sentenced to ninety-nine years in the penitentiary. He entered a plea of guilty.

*Car not reported.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Indianapolis, Ind., July 16.—[Special.]—The cars of the Glidden-Hower tourists have picturesque resting place tonight. Their great hulks covered with tarpaulins, forty-six of the machines—all that are left of the seventy-four which started from Cleveland a week ago, except for the official cars and noncontestants—are drawn up in a huge semicircle about the Soldiers' monument, in the heart of Indianapolis.

Easy Run from South Bend.

For an hour, early in the run, the cars forged through a drenching rain which made the roads dangerous and nearly caused several accidents.

Nearly a score of the cars left the course near Rochester, Ind., and wandered around through Logansport, the majority of them picking up the course again at Kokomo. With the exception of these trials, however, the mishaps of the day were confined to three cars. Car No. 30, an Autocar entered by H. M. Coale of New York broke one of its wheels early in the run and did not report this afternoon. Car 46, George F. Barr's Aerocar, entered from the Detroit club, was disabled with a broken water pipe and has withdrawn from the run, the Detroit club receiving the car's penalty of 250 points. The Marion runabout, No. 107, entered by H. E. Stutz of the A. A. A., had its hub cup broken fifteen miles out of Indianapolis and has withdrawn from the Hower contest.

First Protest Is Entered.

The first protest entered during the run was announced this afternoon as entered against Packard car No. 44. The protest has been turned over to the committee in charge of the run for investigation. R. D. Chapin of Detroit has withdrawn his Thomas "forty" from the Glidden contest, but will continue to run as a noncontestant. Tomorrow morning tourists will start on the longest run of the trip, 174.2 miles, through Dayton and Springfield, O., to Columbus.

Standing of Contestants.

Standing of the contestants to date is as follows:

KEY MEN RESTIVE; SMALL IS SILENT.

Word Expected by Telegraphers from President Fails to Reach Chicago.

100 OPERATORS QUIT CITY

Western Union Employes Said to Have Found New Positions; Postal Gives Its Side.

A restless day was passed yesterday by Chicago telegraph operators. Word expected from President Small failed to reach the local union officials, and the uncertainty regarding the situation at San Francisco increased from hour to hour. It was felt that when news did come, it would mean either peace or an immediate walkout in Chicago and other cities.

The failure to receive definite information from President Small was taken as a hopeful sign. The Chicago men seemed to see a chance for peace in the prolongation of conferences between him, Small, and Labor Commissioner Neill.

Hear of Peace Offer.

General Secretary Russell of the operators' union heard a report in the afternoon that the strikers in San Francisco had been called into a special meeting to vote on a proposition from the telegraph companies. There was no confirmation of the rumor, and efforts to communicate with President Small failed.

A stir among local telegraphers was caused by the statement given out at headquarters that between 75 and 100 operators had deserted the offices of the Western Union company in Chicago. The defection was not referred to as a walkout. Union officials asserted that the men had accepted positions on railroads in the southwest, and had left the city to avoid a strike.

Postal Denies Low Wages.

The Postal company yesterday issued a statement denying the charge that its employés in San Francisco were underpaid. Figures from the May pay roll of the coast city were cited in support of the company's assertions. In part the statement said:

"The average wage earned and paid telegraphers who work at the key for the month was $112.32, or at the rate of 44¾ cents per hour. The highest class men drew an average of $131 each for the month. The next grade of telegraphers averaged $115.30 each, and the third class earned an average of $106.83. Five other operators earned an average of $84.95.

"Day men work nine hours; night men work seven and one-half hours, and late night men seven hours. All time worked beyond these hours is "extra" and is paid for at the rate of seven hours for a day."

Operators Attack Statement.

The local operators claim that the Postal's statement is misleading. They say that to earn the sums named by the company men are compelled to work excessively long hours. The officers of the telegraphers' union gave out a statement last night, saying in part:

"All crafts and professions in the Golden Gate city have received substantial increases or bonuses since the earthquake, printers being paid $1 a day bonus, in addition to their salaries, and other trades being equally as well provided for.

"As an illustration of the high cost of living the following table has been submitted by a prominent member of the Frisco telegraphers:

House rent, minimum, per month	$ 30
Groceries, meat, etc.	40
Heat, light, and fuel	10
Laundry	5
Car fare	3
Lunch or dinner	15
Total	$103

"This allows nothing for clothing, doctor's bills, incidentals, or any recreation whatever."

Don't Get Married To Your Job

It's a fine thing to hold on to a good job.

And a better thing to be able to hold a good job down—to fill the bill.

It's worth while sticking to it—doing little things well so you'll be given bigger things to do—and better pay—some day.

But it doesn't make any difference what kind of a job you're "sticking to"—"holding down"—"working at"—don't "get married to it," if it doesn't suit you after you've given it a mighty good chance.

Jobs—Positions—Work, at good wages—Salary—Pay, are looking for you if you're any good—every single day in the year, and you'll find columns and columns of them right here in The Tribune.

Because the Employers of the highest class men and women in all lines of work in Chicago know that the best of all sorts of people read The Tribune's Want Columns and know they can use them and depend on them from actual experience.

Read the offers in all classifications today—now—and every day for a good "job" or anything else in the world—almost.

CONTEST OPENED FOR NOMINATION.

Scott Cowen Hastily Starts for Carroll County "to See About It."

SHURTLEFF PETITION OUT

State Senator Berry Tells Governor He Will Not Be a Candidate.

W. Scott Cowen, chief state grain inspector, reappointed yesterday by Gov. Deneen, packed up some personal belongings last night and departed for Carroll county to "see about it." The fight for the republican nomination for governor has opened in that county between Speaker Edward D. Shurtleff of the house of representatives and Gov. Deneen.

It is carried also into McHenry county, the home of Mr. Shurtleff, where petitions for him made their appearance yesterday, and will spread all over the northern tier of counties, if not over the entire state.

This opens the governorship fight, which from now on will be a contest for organization between the governor and the speaker. All efforts to postpone the entrance of state politics into the field until after the hot weather season have been useless, owing to the governor's forcing the hand of his opponents by starting his organization at work.

Berry Out of the Race.

Almost simultaneously with the "début" of the Shurtleff people came the "retirement" of another candidate, State Senator Orville F. Berry, who visited the governor during the day at Springfield and announced that he would not be a candidate.

"I am not a candidate for governor," Mr. Berry said after his talk with the governor. "There is nothing to the story that I would be. I believe Gov. Deneen will be renominated without opposition."

Mr. Shurtleff does not say publicly that he authorized the circulation of his petitions in Carroll county or that he is a candidate for governor. Privately he has told his friends that he is and that his formal announcement will come soon.

Mr. Cowen's reappointment was expected. His supremacy in Carroll county is threatened by the Shurtleff movement, and he says that the speaker's candidacy has fallen into the hands of men who always have been fighting the organization there and never have been able to make headway against it. They are the same men who backed Col. Frank O. Lowden when Cowen carried the county for Yates.

At the same time Mr. Cowen is inclined to regard himself as stung because the Shurtleff people got the jump on him in his own county. In every other county the Deneen petitions have been in the field before a rival could enter, and Mr. Cowen was to have set them going there this week.

His great and good friend, Representative T. V. Gillespie, stole a march on him, and hence Mr. Cowen's sudden arising and departing last night.

Shurtleff's Office in Chicago.

Mr. Shurtleff has been practically a resident of Chicago since the legislature took its recess in May. He has law offices in the Title and Trust building, and while his residence is in Marengo his "professional residence" has been Chicago.

It is not a wild conjecture to imagine that he will be the candidate on whom the anti-Deneen element in the local organization will agree as candidate in Chicago against Deneen. In any case there is likely to be a combination of a Chicago man with Shurtleff to manipulate both the city and the rest of the state.

Both Judge McEwen and Corporation Counsel Brundage are willing to take the local end of the arrangement, but neither wishes to do so with the understanding that there is to be a delivery of delegates to Shurtleff or any other downstate candidate.

What is apparent to every downstate republican is disputed by the local men—that is, that the Chicago anti-Deneen candidacy can be only a feeder to the candidacy of some man from outside of Cook county.

Shurtleff will be a strong candidate in northern Illinois and a weak one farther down the state in spite of his wide acquaintance with present and past members of the legislature from all districts.

TRAIN RUNS DOWN CHILD; CREW BRINGS BODY TO CITY.

Coroner to Investigate Killing of Peter Kimmes, Son of Man Employed at Niles Center—Effort to Hide Facts.

The actions of a train crew on the Wisconsin division of the Northwestern railway, who, after running over a 3 year old boy, placed him on the train and carried him into Chicago yesterday, will be subjected to scrutiny by Coroner Hoffman this morning.

The child, Peter Kimmes, the son of Cornelius Kimmes, a brickyard laborer in Niles Center, was playing in front of his home, near the Webster station, when he ran upon the tracks in front of a south bound passenger train and was run down. The train was stopped and when Conductor Leahy and Engineer Mahoney carried the boy into the train there were no witnesses except the passengers.

When the train reached the Wells Street depot the unconscious child was taken into the station dispensary, where he was kept for some time. Later the office of John Carroll's Sons, 208 Wells street, was notified to remove the body.

Two hours later Mr. Kimmes was notified of the death of his child.

All efforts to secure information from employes and officials of the Northwestern were met with declarations of ignorance concerning the accident, and it was not until midnight that the police, notified by Coroner Hoffman, succeeded in getting even a meager report.

PUPILS DEFEND THE CHAPTER.

Fraternity Officers of Hyde Park High School Say Police Made a Mistake in Blaming Members for Disorder.

An investigation was begun yesterday by members of the Omicron Kappi Pi fraternity to ascertain circumstances which led to the raiding of the chapter house of the Hyde Park High school at Fifty-seventh street and Kimbark avenue last Thursday night by the police. According to reports, several boys and a young girl were arrested in the house.

The fraternity officers asserted that the police had made a mistake in accrediting the disturbance to the chapter, because the clubhouse has been closed for the summer vacation. It was said also that no members of the fraternity were in the place at the time of the raid.

According to the police, the fraternity house was conducted in a disorderly manner and many complaints were registered by residents in the neighborhood.

LIGHTENS THE TAX BURDEN.

Board of Review Cuts Assessments Voluntarily.

FEW FIGURES INCREASED.

Transfer of Illinois Steel Company Bonds Affects Its Total.

The board of review yesterday diminished assessments on the property of a considerable number of corporations and individuals. It appeared to be a propitious day for perspiring taxpayers who had been called in on the suspicion that their assessments were too low only to be surprised in some instances by voluntary reductions by the board.

The Illinois Steel company got off with a valuation of $1,340,000 on property found at 219 La Salle street. This is the sum fixed last year by the assessors and then raised to $4,570,000 by the reviewers following the discovery of a bond issue of $3,180,000. The explanation made for returning to the old figure is that the bonds have been converted into other holdings.

Carnegie Company Has Little.

The Carnegie Steel company, 1101 Rookery building, which paid on $25,000 of personal property last year, was let off on a valuation of $2,330 this year.

The American Can company on all its plants secured a total reduction of valuation of $123,810.

The Crucible Steel Company of America secured confirmation of a reduction from a valuation of $100,000 to $40,000, made by the assessors this year.

Kohn Bros., 192 Jackson boulevard, suffered an increase from the assessors' figures of $245,800 to $300,000.

The Menier Chocolate company, not assessed by the assessors, was given a valuation of $5,000 by the board of review. Carter, Macey & Co., listed with no assessment last year, and assessed on a valuation of $5,000 by the board of review last year, were let off with $2,000 this year.

Final Figures of the Board.

Other work of the board of review is shown in the following table:

	Rev'wers' figures, 1906.	Ass'ors' figures, 1907.	Rev'wers' figures, 1907.

The assessors are coming across numerous instances where somebody apparently just dropped a cipher in setting down the valuation.

Will Hear "Square Deal League."

The appearance of officers of the International Harvester company before the board of review has been set for next Monday. While the board of review professes itself to be able to handle the case without outside assistance, the press agent for the so-called Square Deal Tax league, composed chiefly of former school board members who were "fired" by Mayor Busse, announced the league has "instituted efforts" to get hold of an alleged agreement for voting purposes, putting the $120,000,000 of stock into the hands of George W. Perkins of New York and Cyrus H. McCormick and Charles Deering of Chicago.

TWO DAYS OLD; WEIGHS 18 LBS.

Son of Chicago Couple Declared to Be One of the Largest Ever Born.

Mrs. Harry Ross, 48 South Halsted street, is the mother of a son who, though but two days old, weighs eighteen and a half pounds and measures exactly 2 feet in height in his bare feet. These measurements were taken a few hours after his birth, and the father, Harry Ross, said yesterday that the boy was getting heavier and taller all the time. He is said to be unusually broad across the shoulders, and Dr. S. Greenspahn, 544 West Fourteenth street, told the father the child was one of the largest at birth he had ever seen or of which he had ever heard. Both mother and child were reported as recovering rapidly yesterday, and Ross declared he had determined to name his youngest Theodore Roosevelt Ross. Before the coming of the latter he already had four boys.

CHURCH TO HEAR ITS FAULTS

Walter West, Denied Pulpit, to Speak Outside in Loud Voice.

HIS WIFE ALSO WILL TALK.

She Makes Various Charges Against Deacons Who Ousted Her.

> Moreover, if thy brother shall trespass against thee, go and tell him his fault between thee and him alone: if he shall hear thee, thou hast gained thy brother.—Matt. xviii., 15.

Worshipers who take part in the services at Porter Memorial church this evening probably will be more or less disturbed when this verse, oft repeated and accusing, is wafted through the windows of the church to remind them of recent troubles.

But whether disturbed or not, that is not all to which they will be compelled to listen. Walter West, husband of the woman who was summarily dismissed from the fellowship of the church some days ago, has decided that his wife's side of the story shall be heard.

Yesterday he was informed that he would not be permitted to use the pulpit of the church to make a defense of his wife, so he was compelled to adopt new plans quickly.

"Then the church members shall hear the story from another quarter," said the irate husband.

His Pulpit in Lot Beside Church.

He arranged to take his stand in the lot adjoining the church this evening for the purpose of preaching the sermon to the unwilling ears that will be found behind the windows of the church. Mr. West, who formerly was a Methodist minister, is endowed with strong lungs and he hopes the weather will be such as to preclude the possibility of the windows being closed.

The verse from the book of Matthew will be quoted because it was this verse, according to Mr. West, that was adopted by the church to be followed in all cases where a church member was at fault. His wife never was told of her alleged fault, he says, and cannot correct a wrong of which she knows nothing.

After calling the attention of the church members, and especially that of the Rev. Edward Drew, to this verse sufficiently often to gain their attention, Mr. West will take for the subject of his real sermon the first verse of the third chapter of the second book of Corinthians:

"Do we begin again to commend ourselves or need we, as some others, epistles of commendation to you or letters of commendation from you?"

"I choose this verse because of the anonymous letters in which my wife has been accused of gossiping," said Mr. West.

Mrs. West to Speak.

Mrs. West will take charge of the services in the open air about the time the regular prayer services are over and it is expected that curiosity will draw the church members to the outdoor meeting in sufficient numbers to permit her to make a statement in her own behalf.

"All I want and all I expect is to get a fair hearing and I am going to get it by one means or another," said Mrs. West. "It is evident that neither the pastor nor the deacons desire to give me a hearing, but their wishes will not be permitted to deter me. The action of the church is anything but Christian and we expect to show tomorrow evening that there are two sides to this story."

Mrs. West says that a system of petty graft has been practiced by a certain member of the church, who, when intrusted with a basket of groceries to give to the wife of the janitor, compelled her to work for the food, which had been donated by another.

"Yes, that is only too true," said Mrs. George Meenk, the janitress. "I was sick, but I had to have the food for my six children, as my husband was unable to work regularly."

BREAKS WIFE'S ARM; MOBBED.

Stockyards Laborer, Attacked by His Neighbors, Is Rescued by a City Policeman.

John Kuderna, 31 years old, 4747 Honore street, a laborer, was rescued last evening by Policeman John J. Farrel from a mob of men and women, who were beating him with clubs and whatever weapons they could lay hands on.

Neighbors of Kuderna, who works at the stockyards, said he attacked his wife, Mary Kuderna, who was nursing a baby 2 months old, and struck her with a chair, breaking her right arm.

The woman's screams attracted the neighbors, who dragged Kuderna from the house and beat him. Mrs. Kuderna was carried to a drug store near by and her injuries were cared for by Dr. Helena Malner.

Hammond Lawyer Named First Judge

Virgil S. Reiter, an attorney of Hammond, was named yesterday as the first judge of the Superior court of Lake county, Ind. The appointment was made by Gov. Hanly of Indiana, in accordance with a law going into effect Aug. 1 creating the court. Heretofore Lake county has been part of a circuit, but beginning the first of next month it will have a court of its own.

CAUSES PANIC IN HOSPITAL

Patient Sent from Eye and Ear Infirmary When Violent.

DELIRIUM DUE TO DRINK.

Denied Admission to Other Institutions and Lands in a Cell.

After creating a mild panic among the 200 inmates of the Illinois Eye and Ear infirmary, Peoria and West Adams streets, last evening, James Carroll, 38 years old, 238 West Forty-fourth street, was refused admittance to the county hospital or the Detention hospital. He was compelled to remain locked in a cell in the Desplaines street station, guarded by a policeman.

Carroll was suffering from delirium tremens during the afternoon, but until the evening he did not become violent. Shortly after 8 o'clock he left his room and ran through the hallways of the second and third floors. Fearing that Carroll would leap from an open window, Miss Marie Peterson, one of the nurses, called Dr. Charles T. Girard. Dr. Girard overpowered Carroll until the police arrived. In the meantime, other inmates had become excited and some attempted to leave the building, but were prevented by other nurses.

When they learned the trouble and that there was no further danger they were quieted. The regulations of both hospitals, Dr. Girard said, were such that patients suffering from alcoholism could not be cared for. Several vain attempts to reach persons in authority at either hospital failed. The assistants said they could not accept the patient unless on orders from their superiors.

The police were indignant at the refusal of the hospital employes to accept Carroll. In many instances, they said, patients of this character are locked in cells in police stations and are found dead simply because they are neglected and not given proper medical attention. Dr. Girard said he did not care to criticise the hospital people, but he said it was peculiar that no preparations were made for caring for this class. Carroll was operated on at the infirmary for a cataract of his right eye last Saturday. He was improving and would be dismissed next Friday. It is believed he is temporarily insane.

POLICE OUT TO SUPPRESS GAMBLING IN CHINATOWN.

Pigtailed Devotees of Fantan and Bungloo Reported Active in South Clark Street and Their Arrest Ordered.

Gambling among the residents of Chinatown has broken forth with all its old time fervor, according to a report made to Chief of Police Shippy yesterday. Detectives of the gambling detail were sent out to corral the games and bring the pigtailed gentlemen of the orient into the Harrison street police station.

Sixty tables of fantan and bungloo have been opened up in the South Clark street district between Van Buren and Polk streets, the chief was told. The games are well guarded and it may take some days for the detectives to ferret them out.

The gambling detail picked up two handbook men during the afternoon, but failed to find that "Jim" O'Leary and "Paddy" Grimes and John F. O'Malley were "wide open," as alleged. "Craps" and roulette and faro were reported on at Grimes' place and the Sennet saloon on North Clark street, owned by Mont Tennes.

The raid on "Pat' O'Malley's saloon at 421 South Clark street Monday furnished much amusement for the gamblers. It leaked out they had provided a number of "dummies" of ultra sporting blood, slightly cooled down by adversity, who were willing to allow themselves a ride in the police wagon for the modest sum of 50 cents. After the raid O'Malley opened up his poolroom again and got some fresh blackboards. There was no cessation of business.

Others of the gamblers have taken to cover until the police flurry blows over. They are the smaller fry who are still wondering whether they will be allowed to remain on the face of the earth or not.

DEATH HER BANKRUPTCY COURT

Hilda Olson Believed to Have Committed Suicide Because Unable to Pay Debts.

Despondency over being unable to pay her debts is believed to have been the motive which prompted Hilda Olson, 23 years old, 1435 Addison street, to kill herself by gas asphyxiation. The young woman was overwhelmed by debts, and on last Friday, the day she is believed to have turned on the gas, she received a letter from a sister at Darien, Wis., asking her to buy two yards of dress goods and send it by mail. She lacked money to buy either goods or postage stamps. She had moved into the flat three weeks ago, buying furniture on the installment plan, intending to conduct a boarding house. A week ago a man boarder, the only one she had, gave up his room and went to Omaha, Neb.

More Officers for Salvation Army.

Sixty probationary officers will receive commissions in the Salvation army at the hands of Col. Charles Miles Thursday evening at the army barracks, 517 West Madison street. The new officers are graduates of the Chicago training colleges for field, rescue, slum, and social work for the army. They will be sent into the western states.

TELEPHONE GIRLS FEEL SAFER NOW.

Policemen Stationed at Doors of Exchanges Keep "Johnnies" at a Distance.

ONLY ONE MAN ARRESTED

Crippled Beggar Is Taken Into Custody for Swearing at the Young Women.

To be a "hello" girl, alone and unprotected, in the streets of Chicago last evening spelled perfect security. It meant that "Johnnies" ventured near at their peril, and it meant that a guardian angel in the shape of a big blue coated policeman could be found a short distance away, alert for any obstacle in the path of his charge.

This was the situation brought about by the order of Chief of Police Shippy to "drive the Johnnies away from the doors of the telephone company's exchanges." Policemen stood at the doors and in the immediate vicinity of each exchange and the mashers evidently found the neighborhood too small to hold them also.

There was but one man in Chicago who, either because of ignorance of the fact that the protecting arm of the law was stretching over phone girls or because of greater bravery than the average man, ventured to cross the path of a telephone operator. This man's name is John Abrams, and his present address is the Harrison street police station.

Street Beggar Annoys Girls.

Abrams, who is a cripple, was seated on the sidewalk in Washington street just west of the Chicago Opera house shortly after 10 o'clock in the evening, when three operators from the "Central" exchange, in the Chicago Title and Trust building, passed him.

"Won't you give a hungry man a nickel?" asked the man.

The girls endeavored to pass him, but he stood in their path and began to swear. The frightened girls turned to run and the cripple was about to follow them when he perceived Policeman Thomas Brady, who had been detailed to guard the girls.

"Didn't know the girls had anybody guarding them, did you?" demanded the policeman, seizing the offender by the collar.

There was a struggle, the man begged for mercy, and a crowd soon congregated, but the patrol wagon was called and the man was bundled into it and hurried to a cell.

"That's the only trouble I've had tonight, and I have been pretty watchful," said Policeman Brady, as he returned to his post before the door of the office building. "The girls here are young, and unless we're watchful there are men mean enough to take advantage of their helplessness."

Escorted to Cars by Policeman.

At the Calumet exchange, which is situated in an alley south of Twenty-second street, between Wabash and Michigan avenues, Policeman John O'Connel had his hands full. At 10 o'clock, when one shift of girls left the exchange, the street was beginning to fill with men of the type that the police are compelled to guard against. An alley in that district is not the best place in the world for a young girl, and all of the operators were glad to avail themselves of the welcome presence of the policeman.

"Just follow me and I will take you to your car. Will you take the surface or the 'L' cars?" the policeman said to the operators as they appeared. Then, swinging his club to the wind, he would lead the way.

No trouble from mashers was experienced by the operators at the "main" exchange, Washington and Franklin streets. Policeman Charles Peterson, who is stationed at that corner, is a veteran at the work of protecting the "hello" girls, having had the safety of the young women of that exchange in charge during the last six months.

Protected by Relatives Also.

When the girls emerged from the building at 10 o'clock in the evening many of them were met at the door by their fathers, brothers, and in some cases by their mothers, who had heard of the dangers from "Johnnies" and mashers.

Policeman Peterson said mashers have given that corner a wide berth since the arrest he made two months ago, after Miss Lillian Hanson, a "main" exchange operator living at 1118 Otto street, had been accosted in Washington street as she was leaving the building. The girl screamed for help and Policeman Peterson caught the masher. He was Frank Johnson, and Justice Eberhart fined him $10 and costs.

"Since that time we have had no trouble at this corner," said the policeman. "Occasionally a suspicious looking individual stops near the building about the time the girls come out. But he makes a short stop if I see him."

Fathers and brothers of the operators at the "North" exchange, 275 East Chicago avenue, also acted as escorts to the girls of that office. Policeman Henry Carroll was on duty there. There was no trouble.

"Where is Mr. Policeman?" many of the girls exclaimed as they stepped out on the sidewalk.

"Don't worry; here I am," said the policeman, politely. "You needn't be afraid of anything. The mashers are scarce in this vicinity."

At the "Monroe" exchange, Sangamon and Monroe streets, Policeman Julius Zimmerman was on duty. All the operators left the office in safety.

BILLIK A CONFESSED FAKIR.

Admits Extorting Money from Mrs. Vrzal by "Charms."

APPARENTLY IS A BIGAMIST.

Tries to Divert Murder Suspicion Against Woman Accuser.

Herman Billik, accused of murdering five members of the Vrzal family, took the witness stand in Judge Barnes' court yesterday, and made a voluble defense of himself. He sought to throw suspicion on Emma Niemann, the married daughter of the Vrzals.

Billik admitted that he was a fake hypnotist, and that his mystical performances were for the purpose of securing money from the credulous.

Instead of a weird creature with an "evil eye" of hypnotic power, and holding mastery over supernatural realms, Billik appeared simply as a much excited man trying to extricate himself from an embarrassing position. Part of the time his excitement and rapid speech made his testimony unintelligible to the court stenographer.

In response to questions put by Assistant State's Attorney Holt, Billik said he was born in Germany, of Bohemian parents; that he married there, but had no children by the marriage. Twenty years ago he left his first wife in Europe and came to this country under the name of Ziajcek. He said he married Mary Cermak, his present wife, in Cleveland, O., after living with her for two years.

Forgets Date of Divorce.

Billik was unable to give the dates of his divorce and second marriage. He was unable to remember the name of the judge who divorced him or of the witnesses who saw him married to Mary Cermak. Billik naively told about visits to Chicago and of supporting himself as a fortune teller.

"What is the longest honest job you ever had?" asked Mr. Holt.

"I worked as a tailor for six or seven years and as a butler for a year and a half," said Billik. "I owned a saloon at one time."

Mr. Holt asked him about his relations with a Mrs. Yorks of Cleveland, whose husband died mysteriously and whose life insurance the companies refused to pay without investigation. Billik said he met her in San Francisco, but denied that he ever obtained any money from her or that he told his son, Herman, that he could do so.

As for his charlatanism in Chicago, Billik said he "worked charms" because the Vrzals wanted him to. He said a milkman once took up his residence across the street and thereby caused the Vrzals to fear he would bring bad luck. The milkman went away soon after Billik sprinkled the threshold and made passes over it, but Billik admitted the sprinkling and the passes had nothing to do with the moving. "I did it because they wanted me to," he said.

Attacks Mrs. Niemann's Character.

He attacked the personal character of Emma Niemann and said her parents were "much grieved" by her conduct. Billik otherwise sought to throw discredit on the woman, but the court would not admit the evidence.

Billik said that at no time did he have any intention of leaving his wife and had told the Vrzals that he would merely to quiet their demands for money from him. He described Mary's death and denied the story told by Emma Niemann.

"Emma was not present when Mary died, but was sent for later," he said. "Mary died in my arms. Emma returned later and fainted. I did not pick her up. Tillie, the next to be taken sick, became ill after a visit to the Niemann house. Mrs. Vrzal blamed her sickness to drinking well water."

Billik said Emma Niemann made frequent visits to the Vrzal house during the illnesses of the other children.

Admits Lying to the Vrzals.

"You lied to the Vrzals to get money, didn't you?" Mr. Holt asked.

"O, I had to tell them something," said Billik, shrugging his shoulders.

Of the letter from Mrs. Vrzal to him, introduced by the state as evidence of the conspiracy charge, Billik said:

"I told Mr. Shippy where to get it. I saved it to threaten Mrs. Vrzal with. She always was threatening to make me trouble because of the money I owed her. In the letter she suggested poisoning my mother, and I intended to use it to frighten her with."

Billik said he left French Lick Springs the last of July, 1906, too late to have been able to poison Rosie Vrzal, who died soon afterwards. He said he concealed his presence at the Vrzal home the morning Mrs. Vrzal committed suicide, because he did not want to be a witness.

Dr. Emil Schmidt of Cleveland, O., in whose laboratory the state asserts Billik had access to arsenic, denied that Billik had any such opportunity. Dr. Schmidt said his wife and Billik were brought up in the same family.

Billik's daughter, Edna, who was kept outside the courtroom during her father's testimony, is to be put on the stand today. It is expected that she will impeach the story of Jerry Vrzal.

AWFUL ITCHING BURNING SPOTS
Formed on Legs and Exuded a Watery Matter—Then Spread to Arms—Kept Ankles Bandaged Over a Year Until Skin Was Made Smooth and TORMENT WAS STOPPED IN 3 DAYS BY CUTICURA
"In December 1905 I had a blood-red spot about as large as a nickel come on my left shin about three inches above the ankle and in about two weeks the same kind of a spot came on the right shin. I did not know but it was poison from some black stockings but my wife said it could not be for she had washed them thoroughly twice. The spots spread until they were some two inches across. Then my shins and under my ankle-bones commenced to break out in a fine rash which extended about halfway to my knees. The burning and itching were something terrible and later the rash began to exude a watery matter. Finally it went to my elbows and above and below them. I doctored with two doctors but it did no good. I kept my ankles bandaged for over a year. One day a friend of mine said he believed the Cuticura Remedies would help me. I sent for them and in three days after using the Cuticura Remedies there was a complete change. The skin cleared up smooth and the itching stopped. I am still using the Cuticura Remedies for, once a week or so, some little spot will break out in a fine rash and commence to itch. But washing with Cuticura Soap and putting on Cuticura Ointment drives it all away. I am seventy-one years old to-day. Geo. N. Westcott, Postmaster, Ceylon, N. Y., Apr. 29, 1907."

White Sox Win in Thirteenth. Mordecai Brown Rescues the Cubs.

CRIPPLED ISBELL SAVES WHITE SOX

GAME IS ONE OF SPASMS.

Thirteenth Inning Reached Before Contest Is Ended, with Score Three to Two.

BY SY.

"Old Rheumatix" Isbell was responsible for a lot of cold dinners and colder receptions for benedict fans last night when he threw away his crutches, butted into the second game of the New York series, and broke the Sox extra inning hoodoo, although he waited until the unlucky thirteenth to do it. Score 3 to 2.

It is not often it falls to the lot of one man to be a hero, a lobster, and a monarch of the whole south side all in the short space of thirty minutes. But that was Isbell's. Stiffnecked and bent with rheumatism until he resembled Bob Fitzsimmons more than ever, "Issy" broke into the game in the ninth and saved Eel Walsh from a self-inflicted defeat. Then, after practically winning the game, he threw it away by a piece of overconfident baserunning, only to win back his laurels and the victory in the thirteenth session, after Manager Griffith had used up two lusty pitchers right on top of a pair of double headers.

If ever man earned the right to retire on laurels and spend the rest of his life in peace with the cow, the horse, and the dog down on the Wichita farm that man's name is William Francis Isbell.

Sox in Heartbreaking Struggle.

For almost nine innings the world's champions struggled and strained in the hot stockyards sirocco, until they were ready to sweat blood from every pore, without being able to break down the defenses erected in their path by the deliberate Mr. Doyle. Not a run could the Sox score by hook or crook or hit, of which last named they had bagged only a measley four.

It seemed a certainly the Highlanders would be returned victors on the strength of one little blundering run which had been handed them deliberately by Walsh unassisted. That run came off way back in the fifth, when Walsh passed Thomas, after having two strikes and no balls called. There was one out at the time and Doyle was ordered to sacrifice, which he did. Griffith must have had a hunch, for directly after Walsh let fly a pitch so wild it almost bounded into the grandstand, completing the gift run. That was all for New York in nine innings. Four hits were made off Walsh in that time, but not one of them figured in the lonely tally.

Time of Spasms for Fans.

Chicago's last chance began with a fly by Jones to Hoffman; then Donohue worked Doyle for a pass. Right there Isbell butted in and produced more heartaches and joys in half an hour than usually come to one fan's lot in a month. "Jiggs" caught the enemy napping by getting a long lead and stealing second so far there was no chance to throw him out; then Isbell whacked the next ball on a line into left for two bases, scoring Donohue with the run that tied.

From hero to lobster was a short jump, for Issy ruined his reputation almost immediately by trying to steal third and getting caught by an awfully close margin. Then Dougherty cracked a double to right center, on which Isbell could have walked home, even on crutches, and the game ought to have been over. Davis wasted Dougherty's good two bagger by striking out.

Doyle opened the tenth with a single, but Hoffman's bunt forced him, and the rest was easy. Sullivan tried to lead the Sox to victory in the tenth with a beauteous two bagger to left, but Quillin struck out on three bunts. It was bad judgment to make him do it, as the visiting infield was pulling itself all out of shape with every pitch, expecting a bunt, and leaving great holes through which Quillin could have pushed a hit in almost any direction if he had been allowed. Sullivan was trapped on Walsh's grounder, and although he got back to second safely enough, "Blind Tim" Hurst called him out. Hahn forced Walsh, and the side out.

Stockyards Aroma Is Pronounced.

Two terrific flies to Hahn and Jones and a grounder to Davis settled New York in the eleventh, but in their half the Sox made another strong bid. With Jones out, Donohue belted a single over Elberfeld's head. Isbell lined a drive to right which looked good for the game, but Laporte dashed back and pulled it down. Then Donohue stole second again. Doyle feared Dougherty and passed him intentionally, bringing up Davis for the second time where a hit would win. This time George popped a foul to Moriarity.

It was one, two, three for both teams in the twelfth, and so thick was the stockyards aroma it was certain only one more round could be played.

Realizing this, "Griff's" men went out and apparently won the game in their half with two awful soaks at the ball, one of which netted Chase a two bagger and the other Williams a triple, and Chase a run.

Then, when every one thought the Sox were licked and the extra inning kibosh still in existence, the champs brought back the departing throng to watch them smash that kibosh. Hahn was first up and hit sharply to Elberfeld. The shortstopper fumbled, grabbed up the ball, then fumbled again in his haste, and Eddie was safe. Jones made one effort to bunt, saw the enemy's infield draw itself out of position, then switched the game by pushing a little hit over third base. Conroy slipped and fell as he got the ball, letting Hahn romp to third and Jones to second.

Foxy Move Avails Not.

There was nobody out, a tie was certain, and victory within reach again. Orth, who had taken the place of the exhausted Doyle in the twelfth, gave Donohue two bad balls, then was ordered to pass him rather than put them over straight. That filled the bases and made possible a double play by way of the plate. It was a foxy move, all right, but the enemy reckoned without Isbell. Once more the bowed cripple faced the fire with the memory of the unprintable things which had been said to him after the ninth still rankling in his soul. The infield was right on top of the plate itching for that grounder which was to force Hahn at home and pull Orth out of the hole with a double play. Nixy, and likewise thrice nit. Isbell tapped the ball on the nose straight out past Orth, between Elberfeld and Williams, both of whom made desperate efforts to arrest it. Hahn scored and behind him came tearing Jones, who raced to the plate with the winning run before Hoffman's throw was half way there. Score:

CUBS WIN, THANKS TO BROWN

Mordecai Comes to Rescue When Champions Are in Bad Way.

RESULT IS A 4 TO 3 SCORE.

Pfiester Is Supplanted on the Slab After a Wild Heave in the Eighth.

BY CHARLES DRYDEN.

Boston, Mass., July 16.—[Special.]—Thanks to Mr. Brown of Terre Haute, our ever ready reserve, the Cubs managed to keep their noses above water in the opening fracas with the dry cleaned athletes. Poor Jack Pfiester did his disappearing act in the eighth round, and we walloped the enemy, 4 to 3.

Until he sailed the ball into the bleachers, allowing Tenney a home run, the unlucky Pfiester was doing first rate. He had held the heavy boys to three loose singles in seven rounds, and the Cubs, with Capt. Chance in command, were leading by a score of 4 to 1. But in the eighth Tenney dumped the ball in front of the plate and made the circuit on the heave into the bleachers. Two singles and Schulte's gargle scored the second tally before the band was out. Thereupon our ever ready reserve waded into the going.

Brown must feel like a beef stew in a short order restaurant these hot and gummy July days. They keep him warmed up all the time, which is a good thing. The Terre Haute demon was bubbling behind the stand when the southpaw got into trouble, and it was but the work of a moment for gallant Mordecai to rescue him. Our fingerless phenom used the pivot ball and fanned the first man. The next two were easy. In the ninth the enemy recognized a master mechanic was on the slab and passed away like summer clouds.

Lindaman's Spit Ball Peters Out.

Lindaman was a hot proposition, so hot his shirt almost melted off. He lost so much moisture through the pores that his spit ball sort of petered out at the finish. The Cubs rammed him ten times. Two doubles by Evers and Schulte's triple put the champions into the running after the foe had taken the start in the opening round. Pfiester pitched a fine game until his home run chuck in the eighth. All five hits were made off the southpaw. Nobody dares swat our ever ready reserve. That is not what he is sent in for.

An unbroken round of gayety has attended the Cubs on their present tour, and the end is not in sight. New York has yet to celebrate in our honor. First they came near a riot at Brooklyn, which attracted the notice of the civilized world. Next we hobnobbed with live Elks at Philadelphia, supposed to be the deadest town on the map. The hilarity there was loud enough to wake up the ossified kings of Egypt. The Cubs survived that blowout, and now comes reaction. This morning we butted into the state association of undertakers, holding a convention at Copley Square hotel. The feverish jollity of funeral directors was something to worry the Cubs. In the morning the delegates paraded the main streets carrying on a pole large floral pillows with the inscription, "Asleep," done in forget-me-knots.

Keg of Coffin Varnish Tapped.

The evening program was on the social order. The president of the association tapped a keg of coffin varnish in parlor A and invited the athletes to partake. One of the genial undertakers offered Jack Taylor a job driving a hearse at Chelsea, Mass., during the winter months. Looks good to Jack.

The hot weather must have made the athletes dopey, as they were more than two hours playing the game. Our fellows did some funny stunts on the bases, Sheckard being caught napping twice. He introduced the first of his sleeping beauty pictures in the opener. After Slagle went out the late captain singled and was nipped off the bag by the pitcher. Schulte fanned. Bridwell opened with a hit and Tenney bunted. Moran's throw hit the runner and glanced into right field. Schulte threw Tenney out trying for second. Brain's safety tallied Bridwell. Beaumont forced Brain and Flaherty was easy for Evers.

Vapor Float Mows Down Cubs.

Capt. Chance proceeded to tie the score in the second. The leader drew a pass and stole the next base. Steiney popped a foul to Needham and Tinker fanned. A double by Evers scored Chance and Moran struck out. Lindaman's vapor float was mowing down the Cubs at a terrible rate. He whiffed Pfiester in the third. Slagle singled and was killed trying for second. Sheckard got hit with the ball and again Lindaman threw his hook into him at first base. Schulte's dandy triple opened the fourth. While Chance was striking out, a wild pitch counted Schulte. After Steiney flied, Tinker broke off a single and Evers skied to right.

By using a lot of athletes the Cubs realized two runs in the seventh. Tinker walked, got a good toe start, and scored on Evers' double to right. Moran singled. Pfiester bunted to Lindaman and was saved by a wide throw to first. Slagle fouled Brain and Sheckard's out brought in Evers. Schulte lined to third.

In the eighth Pfiester made a home run throw into the bleachers of Tenney's grounder. Brain singled. Schulte fumbled Beaumont's offering, on which Brain scored and Beau. reached second. Brown relieved the south paw and fanned Flaherty for the first out. Burke popped to Evers and Ritchey was thrown out by Tinker.

End Is Quickly Reached.

In the ninth Needham was easy for Steiney. Randall batted for the pitcher and struck out. Bridwell bumped to third, and the game was over. Score:

FORSTALL BEATS ROSS AT TENNIS.

Excellent Playing Marks the State Tournament at the Aztec Courts.

MISS NEELY SCORES TWO.

Celebrates Her Return by Defeating the Misses McConnell and Phillips.

BY J. E. RICKER JR.

It was a triumph of the Aztec club over Kenwood and Northwestern university over Chicago when James J. Forstall defeated Allan Ross in their fourth round match in the Illinois state tournament yesterday. But more important than that is the fact that by defeating Ross Forstall sprang the biggest surprise of the tennis year and put out of the running the one man considered certain of a place in the final round.

In the first set Forstall soon proved that he was up to his best form by holding Ross even, point for point, until "four all" was called. Then, playing magnificent tennis, he won the next game, taking the lead at 5—4. The next game was hard fought and at one time Forstall led at 40—15, but Ross managed to pull the game out and won the first set, 7—5.

Plays Finest Kind of Tennis.

The next set Forstall, playing as good tennis as was ever seen on the Aztec courts, ran away from the Kenwood man rapidly, and by means of the most accurate kind of drives passed Ross almost at will, winning the set 6—0.

The third and final set was largely a repetition of the second, with the exception that Ross managed to capture three games.

The three other favorites, C. S. Peters, Walter T. Hayes, and Carr Neel, won their matches in easy style. The defeat of Gardner by Peters was a surprise.

In the women's singles Miss Carrie Neely celebrated her return to the west by winning two matches in fairly easy style.

Mrs. Robert Williams of the Aztec club won her way into the finals by defeating Miss Louise Marshall, Bryn Mawr champion, 6—4, 3—6, 6—0.

The first round in men's consolations was also played.

Summaries of the Play.

NOTES OF THE WHITE SOX AND CUBS.

CUBS.

A feature of the game was the foul ball Pat Moran's brother muffed in the grand stand. He is not in the same class with Pat.

A large parcel of Pat Moran's relatives came on from Fitchburg to see Pat cross bats with the dry cleaned athletes of this town.

Pat Flaherty collided with the fence capturing Tinker's fly in the eighth. The athlete jarred his cap off, but hung on to the ball.

Jim Sheckard formally surrendered the shoulder straps to Cap Chance, who is back on the job, leading the Cubs with his usual dash and spirit.

Kling's pool thumb is well on the road to recovery from the crack it got at Philadelphia. John expects to play in one game of the present series.

Charley Williams and Lundgren stopped off at North Attleboro, Mass., to attend a monster clambake in honor of Williams, who used to live there.

At a downtown baseball office Murphy tied a tag to his old straw hat, offering a pass to the finder if the hat showed up at the ball park. When the gate opened there was a boy on hand to claim the reward.

WHITE SOX.

New York again today, for two games.

The first scrap will be started at 2 o'clock.

Quillin was the recipient of an umbrella the first time he came to bat and took a walk in consequence.

Hoffman struck out five straight times, thrice in Monday's game and the first two times up yesterday. He had two strikes called next time at bat, then stuck his shoulder into a curve and reached first.

Davis had the busiest day of the season, with fifteen chances, of which he accepted fourteen. Donohue swelled his fielding average with twenty-four chances, including four assists. Walsh took care of twelve chances cleanly.

Dougherty made a great play on Chase's hit in the thirteenth, cutting it off grandly and whipping it back to second in what looked like plenty of time to cut off Chase, but Davis failed to hold the throw. But for that New York would not have scored.

Griffith used good judgment in pitching Doyle yesterday. If he starts him in a double header it will be difficult to finish eighteen innings. Thirteen innings dragged through two hours and three-quarters, largely because of Doyle's deliberate delivery.

Davis missed a double play in the fourth with Elberfeld on second and one out. Laporte smashed a liner straight at George, but he failed to hold it, although he threw the batsman out. Elberfeld never could have got back to second if the ball had been caught.

Three innings were reeled off without a hit on either side, but the Sox put Walsh in a deep hole in the third. Rohe missed Conroy's grounder, and when Walsh fired Thomas' bunt to second ahead of "Wild" Davis muffed. Doyle sacrificed, but Walsh struck out Hoffman and Chase flied.

Although it was Elberfeld's error which helped Chicago win in the thirteenth, he played a great game up to that time, robbing the Sox woefully. In the seventh he performed Evers' specialty of stabbing a wild throw to second with one hand and putting it on the runner with the same motion.

RACE IS BATTLE OF THE DRIVERS.

Desperate Five Heat Contest in 2:13 Pace at Libertyville Track.

HONORS ARE WITH GEERS.

Veteran Reinsman Wins with Dan S. When His Tired Horse Seemed Done.

BY HENRY TEN EYCK WHITE.

There was a desperate battle of five heats for the $5,000 purse given the 2:13 pacers at Libertyville yesterday, three of the best drivers in the land—Geers, McDonald, and Murphy—behind Dan S., Hidalgo, and Leland Onward furnishing the fireworks, victory finally going to roost with Geers and his tired pacer that, after winning two heats, failed so lamentably he seemed out of the contest for good.

Before the start it was figured by the wise ones that Hidalgo, at present the best backed horse in the Chamber of Commerce race at Detroit next week, ought to win handily, as he was credited with a porkout mile that made him look like a sure 2:05 horse in a race. He sold for $18 against $20 for the field in much of the betting, but there were some pools in which he brought $15, Dan S. $10, and the field, consisting of Leland Onward, Tommy Grattan, Jim Daly, and Kingpin, $5. The short end was snapped up by some wise folk, who came up from Cleveland, where Leland Onward was trained, especially to pick plums, and at one stage of the race it looked as though they would win, but in the end "Pop" Geers outdrove Murphy in a hard finish and got all the money.

Wonderful Effort by Contestants.

Hidalgo was out for every heat and finished second in four of the five miles paced, being beaten three times in neck and neck finishes. In the first heat Kingpin, Dan S., and Hidalgo were in front of the others at the first turn in the order named. On the backstretch Dan S. moved up to Kingpin and soon was a neck to the good. They had done the first quarter in :32 and at the half in 1:04¼ Hidalgo was right at the others' heels. Around the lower turn the pace was terrific, every horse at top speed, the third quarter being done in :30½, with Hidalgo in second place, and Dan S. leading by a nose.

They swung into the homestretch without any diminution of the clip, and for an instant at the seven-eighths pole Hidalgo was a shade to the good. McDonald went to the whip at the long distance stand, and Geers followed suit a few strides later. Both horses were tiring, but Dan S. held on a shade the longest, going under the wire in 2:05½, which made the last half 1:01, each quarter the same. It was a wonderful effort by two green pacers over a track that was a trifle tiring on nags of their gait, and took a lot out of them, as the subsequent racing showed.

Battle of the Reinsmen.

In the second heat Hidalgo went away with a rush and soon had the pole, being joined by Kingpin on the turn, which left Dan S. directly behind them. They raced in these positions to the quarter in :32½, and the half in 1:04¼. The leaders were acting as a wind shield for Geers' horse, and he staid right there until the homestretch was reached, the three-quarters being passed in 1:35½. Just as they straightened away for home Geers pulled out with Dan S., and from the head of the stretch to the wire there was a battle of reinsmanship between him and McDonald. Hidalgo was going several gaits 100 feet from the goal, but he was wabbly, and right at the end Dan S. proved the best. The time was 2:07½.

In scoring for the third heat both the leaders showed the effect of the hard miles they had gone. Geers kept the pole this time all the way to the three-quarters, with Hidalgo alongside of him, the quarters being :32, 1:04, 1:36. On the turn Leland Onward, which had been third all the way after finishing an easy fourth in the first and second heats, came up to the others with a rush. Down the homestretch all three drivers teamed for their lives, but at the end, the others being so tired they staggered, Leland Onward was the best and won by a long neck in 2:09¼.

Pace in Early Stages Slow.

Then came the star drive of the afternoon and had it not been apparent all the drivers were in dead earnest the work would have looked bad. Even to the laymen it was evident that Dan S. and Hidalgo had the foot of Leland Onward in a brush and the general belief was that Murphy would force the pace all the way. Instead of doing this he sauntered over to the quarter in :38 Geers and McDonald strolling along a length back. The funeral procession reached the half mile ground in 1:15½ and solemnly wended its way to the three-quarters in 1:49¼.

At this point McDonald came up to Murphy and the latter set sail. In carrying McDonald wide around the turn to the homestretch he left an opening for Geers, who came through at the pole with Dan S. He was going great guns and would have won but for a break near the wire caused apparently by the wild sweeps with his whip which Murphy was making in "reefing" Leland Onward, which finally won in 2:20¼ from Hidalgo.

For the fifth heat different tactics were followed. All hands went away at a decent pace the quarter being done in :34½, the half in 1:07¼, and the three-quarters in 1:39¾. In the homestretch Leland Onward clearly had the best of it most of the way, and until the wire was only 100 feet away he looked like a winner, but Geers, after his nag apparently was beaten, put it all over Murphy in a final finish, when he won by a head in 2:14½.

Results of the Other Races.

The Memphis man took down the persimmons in another pacing race, that for 2:08 horses, with John A., his miles being 2:06¼, 2:06¼, 2:09¼. The winner is a handsome stallion, dark chestnut in color, and had been widely touted as likely to be king of his class this season. Whatever the cause may have been, he was put to a desperately hard drive at the finish of the third mile to stall off Kruger, and in the other heats he had none too easy a time beating the McDonald pacer. Kruger did a lot of swerving in the final eighth of one of the heats, and McDonald put up a hard fight with him all the way, being a close second in all the miles.

The third race was for 2:08 trotters and Early Alice, which was the best backed one, beat the field, consisting of Turley, Charley Belden, Patchen Maid, Watson, and Robert Mc., beaten all the time. In fact, so great was her superiority that after making a break going away in the second heat she trotted around the others when the time came and won all alone. Her heats were 2:10¼, 2:10¼, 2:10, which showed the others were not up to much. Turley seemed short of speed in the first and second miles, but went well for seven-eighths of the third, being outfinished by Belden. Watson was second in the other heats.

Several Horses Are Distanced.

As to the horses other than those mentioned in detail in the three races, it may be said that Robert Mc. and Patchen Maid were distanced in the opening heat of the 2:08 trot. The first named made a break right after the word was given, and after being taken on a trip to the outside fence was naturally unable to come back in time to finish with the others. Patchen Maid made a high dive at the first turn and finished back of Robert Mc.

In the 2:13 pace Kingpin, which paced well in the first heat, broke in the third mile at the three-quarters and met the red banner in spite of the protests of his driver. Jim Daly, all the way from Paterson, N. J., where the anarchists come from, shared a like fate in the opening heat before anybody had a chance to see what he looked like. Tommy Grattan, after pacing a fine third in the first and second heats, was distanced, but he had a good excuse, as the sultry air had him near the thumps in the opening mile.

Stars to Perform Today.

The program today includes three races, of which the feature one is the $5,000 purse for green trotters, in which Highball, Sonoma Girl, Sadie Fogg, and other cracks are booked to start. Horsemen look for a mile in 2:06 or better, and there is talk that Sonoma Girl is expected by her managers to beat the Geers horse, no matter what clip he shows.

Green Pacer Goes to Detroit.

Lexington, Ky., July 16.—[Special.]—W. W. Evans shipped tonight, to participate in the opening of the grand circuit races at Detroit, the fast green pacing gelding Whitelock, by Wiggins, dam Maid of Windsor, by Pavinea. Whitelock was withdrawn from the C. of C., but will start in the 2:15 pace on Tuesday, and Evans will go to Detroit to drive him.

EACH TEAM SURE OF VICTORY.

Ansons and Gunthers to Struggle Today on the West Side for the Busse Cup.

The baseball game between Anson's Colts and the Gunthers, at the west side National ball park today, for the benefit of the Illinois Industrial School for Girls, is expected to be a warm one, as each team is anxious to win the Busse cup, which will go to the victorious nine. The mayor has promised to present the trophy in person to the winners of the game.

The Gunthers will be followed from their north side stamping ground by a band of friends headed by their megaphone quartet to their place in the stands near first base, while the Ansons will be headed by a brass band and will occupy the third base bleachers.

"They cannot get around our batteries—Keely, Ruger, or Bergman in the box, with either Zangerle or Asmussen behind the bat" —Manager Nieson of the Gunthers said yesterday. "We have the Indian sign on that bunch of college chaps that the captain has gathered."

"So Niesen is dead sure he is going to trim us, is he?" Well, then listen to Manager Cherry of the Ansons: "We have Percy Skillen, the Darthmouth boy, River Forest's invincible twirler, signed for the rest of the season and he will pitch his first game for us on Wednesday. Guess they will have to go some to lift that cup, while we are in sight with Percy, backed up by our present aggregation of stars."

VICTORY APIECE IN DETROIT.

Senators Divide Honors in a Double Header—Siever and Hughes Winning Pitchers.

Detroit, July 16.—Detroit and Washington each took a game of the double header. The locals won the first 3 to 0, Siever and Smith both pitching the finest kind of ball. Siever's support was more certain. Hughes should have had a shutout in the second game, which Washington won, 6 to 1, an error by Altizer following Detroit's only two hits, letting Crawford score. Willett was wild and allowed Washington to run the bases almost at will. The teams double head again tomorrow. Scores:

SHOW THEIR SKILL AT TRAPS.

Western Men Make Good Showing in Shoot Preliminary to the Great Eastern Handicap.

Boston, Mass., July 16.—[Special.]—Westerners carried everything before them at Wellington today in the 180 bird shoot preliminary to the Great Eastern handicap. Fred Gilbert of Spirit Lake, Ia., and Lester S. German of O'Fallon, Ill., professionals, were tied for high gun honors with scores of 178 each. J. S. Young of Chicago, state champion, was second, scoring 169 among the amateurs, and Harry Bonser of Cincinnati was third. Dennis A. Upston of Cleveland was tied for fourth place among the amateurs. William H. Herr of Concordia, Kans., had an off day and broke only 150.

SWIMMERS GO TO JAMESTOWN.

Handy and Swatek Will Represent New Illinois A. C. in the National Championship.

H. J. Handy and E. P. Swatek will leave Saturday night for Jamestown, where they will compete for the Illinois Athletic club in the National A. A. U. swimming championships. Handy has been entered in the distance championships and will be pitted against the best swimmers in the country. It is probable he will meet his old rival, Daniels, in the half and mile. Swatek will swim in the breast stroke and back stroke championships. A. M. Goessling of the Missouri Athletic club and C. A. Ruberl of the New York A. C. are the most dangerous men the Illinois swimmer will compete against, as both are record holders. Handy has been training faithfully the last month. The races are not scheduled until the 25th, 26th, and 27th, but the swimmers will leave early enough to give them a chance to become accustomed to the salt water.

CUTS RECORD FOR MILE AND EIGHTH

COMES HOME ON THE BIT.

Performance of Dubois' Great Thoroughbred Is Made in Seagate Stakes.

New York, July 16.—[Special.]—Charles Edward, the noted 3 year old colt by Golden Garter-Flora Mac., who won the Brighton mile event in 1:37⅘ last week, hung up a new best record for a mile and an eighth at Brighton Beach today when he won the Seagate stakes in 1:50⅗. Charles Edward was purchased for $9,200 by William H. Dubois not long ago at a sale of Sydney Paget's horses. Dinna Ken, winner of the Realization stakes at Sheepshead Bay, was an overwhelming favorite at 7 to 10.

At the outset Kentucky Beau set a terrific pace and opened up a gap of several lengths. Mountain rushed Dinna Ken after him, while Knapp lay in third place with Charles Edward. Kentucky Beau soon exploded and Dinna Ken went to the front as he reached the far turn. But when Knapp began to make his run with Charles Edward it was seen that Dinna Ken was pitted against a wonderful race horse. Once in the home stretch Charles Edward breezed in front and came home on the bit six lengths in front of Dinna Ken, which stood a drive to beat R. T. Wilson Jr.'s Monfort by a head. The fractional time of the race was as follows: :12½, :24, :35 3-5, :47 2-5, 1:00, 1:12 2-5, 1:25 3-5, 1:38 1-5, 1:50 3-5, the last mile being run in 1:38 2-5. The best previous record for the distance was 1:51, made by Frank Farrell's Bonnibert in 1902.

Outcome in Other Events.

A. J. Joyner's Rialto, favorite, made all the pace in the handicap for 2 year olds and won in a drive by half a length. August Belmont's Black Oak at 30 to 1 took the place from King Sol.

Maiden nonwinning jockeys had mounts in the first race, which was won by Royal Ben, which showed the way always and beat Star Cat, a 15 to 1 shot, by three lengths.

Yorkist came home winner in the third race. Notter had to drive him hard to beat Cutter by a head, while Miss Doyle, the favorite, was always outrun.

Please, well backed, made a runaway of the fifth event and beat He Knows in a gallop by four lengths.

T. C. McDowell's Berwick showed the way in the last race and won easily by a length and a half from Troublemaker, a 60 to 1 chance, which had half a length advantage over Escutcheon. Druid was badly ridden, as was Robin Hood.

AMERICANS AGAIN ARE BEATEN.

Wright Wins, but Behr's Defeat Spoils All Chance of Winning the Davis Trophy.

LONDON, July 16.—The American tennis players at the Wimbledon courts today lost their chance of challenging for the Davis cup by the narrowest of margins. Beals C. Wright succeeded in winning his match against A. F. Wilding, Australasia, 6—8, 6—3, 6—3, 7—5, making the points equal, but Norman E. Brookes, Australasia, was too much for Karl H. Behr, who, after the first set, was clearly outplayed. All the tennis experts were of the opinion that Behr had not had enough experience to beat Brookes, who has been playing in England for several years. Score: 4—6, 6—4, 6—1, 6—2.

Sporting Notes.

Entries for the open tennis tournament of the Wanderers club will close tonight with Chairman G. H. Dunham.

The final football match for the championship of the Chicago League of Association Football clubs between the McDuffs and Hibernians will be played Sunday afternoon at Sixty-ninth street and Ashland avenue.

SPRAY WINS A BOAT RACE SAILED IN A FLAT WIND.

Second Event of the Interlake Regatta Proves Little More than a Drifting Match.

Toledo, O., July 16.—[Special.]—The second day of the interlake yacht races started with a six mile breeze which almost flattened out after the boats made the first turn. Spray, sailed by Commodore Price and flying the C. A. A. colors, again led the fleet and won in the twenty-one foot class. Invader of Lake Ontario was close beside Spray and did the fastest work in the race, starting in the universal class, behind the twenty-one footers, and winning in its class.

In the eighteen foot class Bonitivo won for the second time, with Fanette second and Malilian third. In the sixteen foot class Sella II. led, with Hoorah second and Gamble third.

The course of today's race was the windward and leeward one and proved a disappointment, the event turning into a drifting match. The showing of Invader, the crack Canadian yacht, was the main feature of the race. Although starting five minutes after the twenty-one footers, Invader overhauled all except Spray at the outer mark.

The result of today's race assures one thing for the Interlake Yacht association. After several years of endeavor the Victory cup finally will be lifted. Spray has two heats on the cup, and if it wins this year, under the colors of the C. A. A., the cup will go to Lake Michigan with Commodore Price and cause no more trouble to Lake Erie sailors.

POSTPONE THE AUTO HILL CLIMB

Event at Algonquin to Take Place Aug. 9—Some Changes in the Conditions.

The annual hill climb of the Chicago Motor club and the Chicago Automobile Trade association has been postponed a week because of the Glidden tour and will be contested at Algonquin, Ill., on Friday, Aug. 9.

This action was taken yesterday at a meeting of the contest committee, which at the same time added one more event, a free for all, which will allow of the competition of steamers. The basis of classification also was changed, it being the intention to classify the cars according to piston area instead of price.

In the first five events only gasoline cars will contest, the classification being as follows: Class 1, cars whose engine bore squared multiplied by the number of cylinders is under 35; class 2, cars whose cylinder bore squared multiplied by the number of cylinders is 35 and under 50; class 3, cars whose engine bore squared multiplied by the number of cylinders is 50 and under 65; class 4, cars whose engine bore squared multiplied by the number of cylinders is 65 and under 90; class 5, cars whose engine bore squared multiplied by the number of cylinders is 90; class 6, free for all, open to gasoline cars of classes 3, 4, and 5, and steam machines of stock pattern.

In the free for all the winner will be the car making the fastest time, but in the other events the same formula as was used last year will be retained—that is, the cylinder capacity of the car multiplied by the time in seconds, and this result divided by the weight of car with driver.

The entry fee also was increased to $30 from $10, but those who start in the climb will be refunded $15, which will bring the fee to $15 for those actually contesting. Entries close with Charles P. Root, 1200 Michigan avenue, on Aug. 5.

American Boats Victors.

Shelburne, N. S., July 16.—In the first of the series of international dory races today off this port the three challenging American boats defeated the Canadians. Elizabeth of Revere, Mass., finished first, Sunny Jim of Swampscott, Mass., second, and Crescent of Annisquam, Mass., third.

New Yorker's Total of 87 Wins "Top Col., Next to Reading Matter."

TOURNEY AT MIDLOTHIAN

W. M. Jones, J. Newton Annis, and E. J. Ridgway Among Other Victors.

BY J. G. DAVIS.

Opening guns in the third annual skirmish of the American Golf Association of Advertising Interests were fired yesterday at the Midlothian range. There were strong magazine guns and others of more "weekly" caliber.

E. A. Freeman of New York, winner of the initial championship, did the best pin firing of the large squad of 128 starters, his gross total of 87 being the best of the day and winning the Milwaukee Journal medal and possession of the Dewar trophy for one year. W. M. Jones of Chicago won the C. D. Peacock trophy for best net score with a total of 89—5—84.

The qualifying round was divided into three divisions, A from 1 to 7 strokes, B from 8 to 15, and C from 15 strokes upwards. J. Newton Annis of Detroit won the Witt K. Cochrane trophy for best net score in class B, with 92—10—82, E. J. Ridgway taking the Kalamazoo Stove trophy for second best net with 99—14—85.

Wins Biddle Trophy.

A. H. Sanders of the Midlothian club led in class C with 106—18—88 and won the W. B. Biddle trophy, the donor of this cup taking the Deutsche Haus Frau trophy for second best net score, with 111—20—91.

The big field was something of a surprise to the officials, the turnout of 128 being a little over half of the membership of 255. It was not until late in the evening the last pairs were in, and then the handicappers had a big task in readjusting the allowances for the match play rounds today. Eight flights will play, the first sixteen competing for the championship, all starting at scratch. The remaining flights will play their first round at nine holes. The field for the main honor, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE trophy, and possession of the Studebaker trophy for one year, contains seven Chicagoans, with Lee Maxwell, the former Maroon football player, as the favorite, and E. A. Freeman of New York as second choice. Other players are from Detroit, Milwaukee, Pittsburg, Cleveland, and Youngstown, O.

Officers Are Elected.

At the annual meeting of the association last night officers were elected as follows: President, W. H. Freeman, New York; first vice president, D. McK. Lloyd, Pittsburg; second vice president, C. D. Carlisle, South Bend; secretary and treasurer, C. F. Stoddardt, Chicago.

Play is scheduled to start this morning at 9:15 o'clock, when the second flight men will tee off. They will be followed by the championship contestants, after which the flights will proceed in regular order.

Following are the pairings for today, with the handicaps in brackets and the gross scores made yesterday:

Big Field at Glen View.

A fine field is entered for the annual open tournament of the Glen View club which will start this morning with the qualifying round for the Glen View Directors' and Veterans' cups. Sixteen will qualify in each event. A great majority of the younger players of the city are entered, and the battle for the Glen View trophy, at present held by Warren K. Wood, should produce some fine golf.

Pairings are as follows:
J. M. Sellers, Glen View, vs. Ralph Hoagland, Riverside.
Warren B. Sawyer, Glen View, vs. J. H. Kedzie, Glen View.
K. L. Ames, Glen View, vs. Walter E. Egan, Exmoor.
A. B. Swift, Onwentsia, vs. N. Moore, Lake Geneva.
H. R. Hixson, Glen View, vs. R. J. Couch, Glen View.
W. K. Wood, Homewood, vs. D. A. Engler, Glen View.
N. Bokum, Glen View, vs. Lawrence Rea, Onwentsia.
R. Wells, Homewood, vs. M. P. Noyes, Skokie.
G. Lindsay, Homewood, vs. W. C. Salisbury, Glen View.
Mason Nears, Evanston, vs. D. S. Dingee, Exmoor.
J. B. Hylan, Westward Ho, vs. L. L. Hebberd, Jackson Park.
Mason Phelps, Midlothian, vs. P. Manchester, Skokie.
M. M. Gridley, Glen View, vs. E. Quincy, Oconomowoc.
S. Z. Letts, Glen View, vs. J. Gardner, Midlothian.
E. P. Donaldson, Glen View, vs. L. N. Hoyt, Glen View.
J. Munton, Maywood, vs. J. R. Towle, Jackson Park.
P. B. Hoyt, Glen View, vs. J. D. Towne, Glen View.
W. Hoyt, Skokie, vs. G. E. Colby, Irving Park.
R. O. Ainslee, Westward Ho, vs. E. R. Gadsden, Jackson Park.
A. P. Euston, Evanston, vs. R. L. Grant, Jackson Park.
J. L. Ling, Ouilmette, vs. W. G. Quinn, Jackson Park.
S. Ropp, Irving Park, vs. A. B. Lee, Jackson Park.
T. S. Swirles, Westward Ho, vs. E. A. Eulass, Calumet.
F. E. Hall, Ouilmette, vs. W. L. Eulass, Calumet.
B. Devol, Riverside, vs. J. H. McDonald, Jackson Park.
F. Hall, Westward Ho, vs. R. C. Larrabee, Calumet.
W. Kettlestring, Maywood, vs. Gordon Davis, Midlothian.
Walter Maas, Maywood, vs. E. J. Wickersham, Jackson Park.
W. C. Baldwin, Maywood, vs. W. M. Wilson, South Shore.
B. S. Noyes, Glen View, vs. F. W. Madden, Exmoor.
A. W. Hatch, Maywood, vs. L. Clark, Evanston.
K. Clow, Onwentsia, vs. A. Seckel, Riverside.
W. M. Thompson, Glen View, vs. A. G. Scully, Exmoor.
E. J. Pumphrey, Glen View, vs. A. W. Sherman, Evanston.
C. G. Davis, unattached, vs. C. M. McDonald, Jackson Park.
A. Stillwell, Midlothian, vs. C. Donnell, Evanston.
N. Towne, Glen View, vs. H. Schollenberger, Wheaton.
J. H. S. Lee, Skokie, vs. A. B. Clark, Maywood.
P. Miller, Jackson Park, vs. D. C. Wartele, Riverside.
Dr. Walters, Glen View, vs. A. E. Nyman, Westward Ho.
J. Holabird, Glen View, vs. R. H. Salter, Westward Ho.
J. Weed, Auburn Park, vs. R. Salter, Westward Ho.
N. Ridlon, Glen View, vs. A. B. Clampett, Ouilmette.
R. W. Patton, Exmoor, vs. B. K. Peck, South Shore.
K. Edwards, Midlothian, vs. J. E. Blunt, Skokie.

POLO PONIES ARE DUE TODAY.

Strings from the Bryn Mawr and Buffalo Clubs Are Expected to Reach Onwentsia Club.

Thirty polo ponies from the Bryn Mawr club and twenty-eight from Buffalo are due to arrive at the Onwentsia club today.

Members of these clubs, who will compete in the national championship games to be played tomorrow and Saturday and through next week, also are expected.

The opening game will be between Onwentsia and Buffalo. All games will begin at 3:30 o'clock. Admission is free, and the public is invited. Trains leave for Lake Forest at 2 and 3 o'clock.

ENGLISH FIGHTER IS KNOCKED OUT.

Harry Lewis Puts It on Goldswain in Lively Mill at Philadelphia.

MURPHY WANTS A MATCH.

Gloveman Says He Will Take On Either or Both of the Sullivan Twins.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 16.—[Special.]—Those present at the National Athletic club tonight saw Harry Lewis knockout Jack Goldswain of England in a rattling good fight, which lasted four rounds and a half. Lewis devoted himself to the stomach at the outset of the bout and ripped home three lefts, which made the Britisher wince.

Lewis forced matters in the second and sent Goldswain tumbling on the ropes with a left hook on the jaw, but the Britisher rallied and put a hard right on the jaw just as the bell sounded. For about half of the third round Lewis beat his man all over the ring, but at the finish Goldswain again rallied and rocked Lewis with a number of swings to the head.

Goldswain did his best work in the fourth. He held his own in a series of rapid exchanges. The crowd encouraged him with excited cheers, but Lewis kept his head and kept banging into the Englishman's stomach.

Goldswain was tired when he came up for the fifth. They exchanged hard lefts and then Lewis dropped him with a right on the jaw. Goldswain came up, whereupon Lewis drove home another terrific right. Goldswain wabbled and finally collapsed.

CAPONI HARD UP FOR A MATCH.

Local Man Offers to Meet Either of the Twin Sullivans—Fitz and Johnson Tonight.

Teddy Murphy figures he has a hard luck story coming with the way the fighters are dodging a match with Tony Caponi. The latter is acknowledged to be one of the best 150 pounders in the country, and, although he has fought fifty-one battles, the charge of faking never has been lodged against him; yet Caponi constantly has to go out of his class to get a match.

"I've made up my mind there's only one thing I can do," said Murphy last night, "if I am to get a match that will prove anything like a drawing card. That is, to go after the Twin Sullivans—both of them. Accordingly I have decided to agree to meet either Twin Mike, at 148 pounds, weigh in at 3 o'clock, or Twin Jack, at 158 pounds ringside. I will make either match for any part of $1,000 on the side, or for winner to take all, and am willing to go to Denver or Tonopah.

"You know we tried to get on with Joe Thomas and with Ketchell, the fellow who fought Thomas a twenty round draw the other night. Ketchell, by the way, is no beginner. I knew him up in Butte several years ago. He is a husky fellow, now about 22. Neither of them wanted Caponi's game.

"The trouble is, Tony is right between weights. He is too heavy for the welters and too light for the middleweights and light heavies. As a result, he has had to give away weight in practically all of his fights. I hope some attention will be paid to his challenge to the Sullivans.

Bob Fitzsimmons' battle with Jack Johnson will attract national attention to their setto at Philadelphia tonight. The general opinion is Fitz is too old—too old at last—but Bob has fooled 'em before. Anyhow, it will be watched with interest.

George Schrosbee and Carl Anderson will have a ten round match tonight at West Hammond. "Doc" Krone will referee.

George Siler's condition is considerably improved, and today he will start on an automobile trip to Iowa with his stanch friend, Dr. Cole of that state, at whose home he will spend several weeks. Mentally the veteran is as vigorous as ever, and he will continue his Sunday letters in THE TRIBUNE.

Palmer Guilty of Manslaughter.

GUILDFORD, Eng., July 16.—The grand jury today returned an indictment for manslaughter against "Pedlar" Palmer, the English pugilist, who with another man was arrested April 24 last on suspicion of having caused the death of Robert Choat, a gashouse stoker, of Deptford. Choat's body was found in a railroad car coming from Epsom, after the races, in which Palmer and his companion had ridden. Palmer is alleged to have struck Choat several blows because he refused to stop singing when requested to do so.

LARGEST 2 CENT CIRCULATION IN THE WORLD.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 17, 1907.

NO MORE DELAYS.

Judge Grosscup has set next Wednesday as the day when the parties interested in the reorganization of the Union Traction system are to have a hearing. It is said that some of the parties intend to ask for a postponement until Aug. 2. The published plan of reorganization does not give them all they think they are entitled to, and they desire additional time to prepare figures and arguments to back up their contention.

The people who use the Union Traction cars, when able to get on them, care little how the different classes of bonds and income participation certificates of the Chicago Railways company are divided up among the Union Traction stockholders and those of the underlying companies. None of the stockholders has even manifested much sympathy for the patrons of the street car lines and cannot look to them for sympathy in this time of tribulation.

What the men and women who go to and from the business district on the surface lines want is better service. If the advent of that service should be delayed even for a week at the hearing before Judge Grosscup they are against postponement. They think that their claims to consideration are weightier than those of some stockholders who regret their inability to get so many nickels out of the pockets of street car users in the future as they have been getting in the past.

If the contest over the apportionment of Chicago Railways securities could be carried on without delaying the rehabilitation of the north and west side lines the community would not care how long the lawyers talked and the arbitrators pondered. But to delay the hearing is to delay the work of reconstruction, and that is something the public will not put up with. Traction stockholders had a merry time of it in Chicago for many years and had their jests over the straphangers. The time has come for the stockholders to step to the rear and let the strapholders have their day in court.

CUSTOM HOUSE COURTESY.

Without presuming that Mr. Fairbanks will be thrown into a panic by the announcement that Secretary Cortelyou has weakened his presidential boom by a strategic move in securing the good will of incoming tourists, it is in order to compliment the secretary's amiable intentions and benignant purposes. The percentage of sea traveling Americans is hardly large enough to justify an assurance of making a campaign issue of changes in customs regulations, and it is probable that the nominating convention will not be made up to any considerable extent of delegates who will be bound to Mr. Cortelyou for easing their burdens during the overhauling of trunks on the steamer piers. Mr. Fairbanks is still several laps ahead on his life saving record.

But the secretary is fairly entitled to public appreciation and thanks for his official declaration that in future the customs service must be distinguished by politeness and consideration. Hereafter a returning tourist or a foreign visitor will not be held presumptively a bandit, a thief, and an enemy to the government. He will not be greeted in a surly manner and ordered about harshly and mercilessly. He will not be treated as if a public nuisance and a person against whom the government in general and the inspector in particular has a righteous grievance. He will be permitted while on the ocean and at his leisure to make out his declaration, and the old time oath will not be required, to say nothing of the other oaths which have been excited by a course of rigorous and exasperating treatment. The inspector will be instructed to proceed about his business with delicacy and tact, to be polite and conciliatory, and, in short, to make the official examination a relaxation and a pleasure to which every passenger will look forward with the liveliest and most agreeable expectations.

While praising Mr. Cortelyou for his considerate action and for his proper interpretation of the treatment that should be accorded to arriving passengers, he has merely lived up to a just conception of duty. Politeness, which is unhappily not an American official trait, is specially necessary in the attitude of a federal employé. The customs inspector is a man who is naturally unpopular at the outset. His task is disagreeable and provocative of resentment. It is in his power to make it insufferable to all those who have the misfortune to be brought under his sway. On the other hand, he can so invest his duties with sweetness and light as to obliterate all memories of former boorishness and intolerable oppression and establish a high water mark of courtesy as an example to all other governments. We have had numerous examples of the evil side of baggage inspection; now we may look for the promised blissful change in methods. Mr. Cortelyou has established a reputation as a man of energy and promptness in the administration of business affairs. This is another illustration of wonder working which will increase his reputation and his popularity if the reform outlives the announcement.

RAILROAD LOBBYING.

President Winchell of the Rock Island railroad says that that system will retire from the game of politics, will give up its lobbyists, and will devote its attention in the future to the cultivation of friendly relationships with the business interests of the districts through which its lines pass. He expresses his opinion that there is only one proper relationship between the railroads and the people and that a business one.

Assuming that this frank statement represents the conclusion which has been reached by one of the leading western roads, it is gratifying that there is a disposition to withdraw from a field into which the railroads never should have entered. It is perfectly true that the business relationship with the people is the only proper one. The normal function of a railroad is to assist in the development of a territory by helping the farmer to market his crops and the merchant to secure his supplies, furnishing the people with means of transportation and communication. If that were done with a square deal for every one there would be little complaint from any source.

But the people have heard of the railroad lobby for years. They have known of the corruption of legislatures. They have seen certain members of the community favored above others. They have been familiar with passes, rebates, and special privileges. They have been convinced that in some of the American commonwealths railroad interests have absolutely dominated politics, dictating nominations, directing legislation, and subordinating everything to their own wishes.

These are the conditions which have led to the discontent with the railroads and to the hostile legislation which has been forced by the insistent demands of an outraged constituency. It is quite likely that the entrance into politics may have been a natural result of the situation in former years. But this is a good time to retire and to employ every energy for the establishment of pleasant relationships with the people.

President Winchell is right in another position—namely: in his assertion that the people will deal fairly and justly with the railroads which take the right attitude. The railroads have had things their own way for a long while. Conditions have now changed. But the people are just in the long run. They will be quick to show appreciation of any change of heart. They will do the square thing. If the railroads seek to get the shippers' point of view and then try to correct abuses and to improve service where it is possible, hostile laws will not be kept in force where it is plain that they work undue hardship.

Railroad men as individuals have a right and a duty to take interest in politics just as every other citizen has. But the people have become tired of the corporate influence in politics. That is the plain fact. The recognition of the situation on the part of the Rock Island leaders is a sign of wisdom.

TAKE EVERY PRECAUTION.

Occasional accidents are as much to be looked for on a warship as in an industrial plant. If the officers and crew are to be fit for service in time of war they must practice with the big guns. They must engage in work where momentary carelessness and the neglect of some seemingly trivial precaution may mean sudden death or permanent disablement. On a battleship as in an iron or a powder mill eternal vigilance is the price of safety, and in spite of the utmost vigilance deplorable casualties may happen.

Though there is the ever present possibility of accidents like the one on the Georgia day before yesterday, they make a far profounder impression when they occur than casualties with greater loss of life in some mill or factory. It may be because the victims are fighting servants of the people, the men to whom the country looks for heroic deeds in the hour of danger. It may be because of the underlying thought that it is only in time of war that violent death should visit them on board ship. But the loss of life during the war with Spain was practically nil, while that since the war from bursting guns and explosions of powder or shell has been painfully great.

The navies of other nations are not immune from disaster. English and French submarines have gone to the bottom and remained there. Vessels have been wrecked or have blown up. There do not seem to be so many accidents from gun firing as in the American navy. That may be because there is less target shooting or because some accidents are hushed up. Or it may be because greater care is exercised. There may be a keener appreciation of the lurking danger. It may appear upon inquiry that the explosion on the Georgia must be catalogued among those that could not be guarded against, but when one considers the series of accidents it is impossible to shake off the impression that carelessness had much to do with one or more of them.

The gun practice cannot be given up in spite of all the inevitable hazards. Some hidden and undiscoverable defect may lead to the bursting of a gun after the firing of a few rounds. But every precaution that can be thought of should be taken. When in action there may not be time to consider all of them, but in peace none should be neglected. That should be the imperative order of the navy department.

THE PLAN OF REORGANIZATION.

The plan of reorganization of the Union Traction system is Egyptian darkness for most laymen. Even some of the La Salle street dabblers in affairs of finance say they cannot understand it. It is a mystery to them why the Chicago Railways company should propose to put out second mortgage bonds, sinking fund interest debentures, five year and ten year collateral notes, and income participation certificates, series A, B, and C. Nor are they able to perceive the rule which has governed in the proposed distribution of the securities among the different beneficiaries.

The plan is not so complicated as it seems to be at the first glance. It is a reasonably successful effort, except in the opinion of a few discontented minority stockholders, to give a "square deal" to all who are interested in the Union Traction system.

First in order of merit are the holders of the bonds of the north and west side railroad and railway companies. They get the face value of their securities in 4 per cent twenty year mortgage bonds. The owners of the outstanding shares of the North and West Division railway companies—the original corporations—get in those bonds twice the par value of their shares. This will give them 8 per cent a year for twenty years. Their shares have been paying them from 30 to 35 per cent a year.

The North Chicago Street railroad company was organized by Mr. Yerkes to lease the railway company. Its outstanding shares have little real value, so their holders are not given bonds, but 100 per cent in income participation certificates, series A, to draw $8 a year, if earned. As operating expenses and interest on bonds, collateral notes, etc., have to be paid first and as 55 per cent of what remains will go to the city, it will probably be several years before there is much of any income for the holders of certificates to participate in.

That is equally true of the owners of stock in the West Division railroad company, who are given only 62½ per cent of the face of their shares.

The Union Traction preferred, being more watered than the stock of the West Division railroad company, is scaled down 50 per cent, and the holders are to get income participation certificates, series B. As nothing will be paid on that series until the demands of series A shall have been met, the prospect of dividends is poor. Poorer still are the chances of the owners of Union Traction common—to be scaled down 75 per cent—who will be allotted certificates, series C.

The sinking fund debentures will go towards taking care of the stock and bonds of the Chicago Passenger railway—the Adams street line. The collateral notes will be used to pay off the floating indebtedness of the various companies.

Judge Grosscup has said he is satisfied with the main features of the plan of reorganization, though he has taken exception to some details which can easily be modified. There are features which seem to suit him, but do not please some minority stockholders in the original companies. If he shall not change the plan in their favor, they will appeal from his decision. There is reason to believe that the Circuit Court of Appeals, in view of the need of an early disposal of the case, will act promptly. If it shall sustain Judge Grosscup that will end the matter.

With a plan of reorganization finally approved the board of supervising engineers will have no excuse for laziness. The public will look to it to push things—to put workmen on the streets and new cars on the tracks. Everything ought to be settled by the Circuit Court of Appeals before summer ends, and the beginning of winter should see a visible improvement in traction service.

AFTER THE WALNUTS.

New Schedule.

"Mother objected to Frank calling so often."

"Well?"

"So hereafter he is to come only on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, Saturdays, and Sundays."

Her Letters.

Yearly by lake or mountain,
Yearly by stream and shore,
She hies away for the summer,
Till the redhot days are o'er;
And daily by mail her letter
Comes with its wail of care:
"O, look in the dresser, lovey,
And send me that 'rat' of hair!"

Fond in her beautiful patience
When resting by lake or sea,
She turns from her latest novel
With ever a thought for me;
And so, in the morning early,
Her postal is handed in:
"Look on the bureau, darling,
And send me that green hatpin!"

Ever from where she wanders,
Lake, or valley, or hill,
She shows in her dreamful dalliance
She knows I am living still—
For, morning, and noon, and evening
Faithful her letters pour:
"Now don't you forget to water
That rubber plant by the door!"

Fooled Her.

"He promised to give me a quarter of his salary each week."

"A liberal allowance."

"So I thought. But now I find I can't do much with 25 cents."—Pittsburg Post.

Proper Diagnosis.

"Senator Beveridge," said a young physician, "addressed the class I was graduated from on our commencement day. He advised us in this address to be broad and generous in our views.

"He said he once saw two famous physicians introduced at a reception. They were deservedly famous, but they were of opposing schools; and the regular, as he shook the other by the hand, said softly:

"'I am glad to meet you as a gentleman, sir, though I can't admit that you are a physician.'

"'And I,' said the homeopathist, smiling faintly, 'am glad to meet you as a physician, though I can't admit you are a gentleman.'"—Cleveland Leader.

His Plea.

"Now then, prisoner," said the magistrate, "what have you to say for yourself?"

"Well, suh, I done admittance de trufe ob all dat's been testicated agin me, jedge, but I des natch'ly hope, suh, dat yo' is gwine be easy wif me, 'kase I hyar yo' is a mercenary gem'man."—Philadelphia Press.

Apology Accepted.

A SONG OF CONTENTMENT.

[From Puck.]

In the guff that once was current in the magazines of rot
We were told that any dub could hit the target every shot.
We were told that if we toiled from morn to midnight we could reach
Heights from which the world's successes liked to pose and smirk and preach.
We were taught that careful saving of our pennies was the thing;
We should cut out all the frivols—youth should never have its fling.
Grind and grub and grub and grinding—these were sure to win the race;
But today we learn that riches are a terrible disgrace.

Once the man who made some money was considered to have done
Something worthy emulation by the other fellow's son;
Once we learned that little Willie, who refused to go and play,
But would rather stick to business, was the hero of the day.
In the mottled books they loaned us from the libraries of yore
All the manly virtues centered in the boy who swept the store.
Now, he'd better be a horse thief or a bandit, don't you know,
Than a tight wad sitting watching for his bank account to grow.

'Tis a pleasant change, I take it; for beneath the old régime,
Though I groped for glory's glamour, I could never grab a gleam.
Something told me I should not, although I beat Methuselah's time,
Make a fortune—I'm delighted they've discovered it's a crime.
Now, when I am broke and shiftless, when I owe my every friend
Who, when I was prone to borrow, was so careless as to lend,
I shall swell with conscious righteousness, specific cause of which Is the thought, "I know I'm honest, 'cause I kept from getting rich."

EX-ARCHDUKE LEOPOLD of Austria, who now bears the name of Leopold Wolfling, wishes it to be known that there is no truth whatsoever in the reports which have been published to the effect that he is seeking, now that he is divorced, to recover the imperial rank and prerogatives which he sacrificed in order to wed the Viennese soubrette, Wilhelmine Adamovic. His only object, so he declares, is to be allowed to live in peace and undisturbed the quiet bourgeois life of a citizen of the Swiss republic, and he indicates that the eccentric character of his ex-wife has until now prevented him from enjoying to its full extent the freedom which he acquired when he ceased to be subject to all the obligations of a prince of the blood.

As I intimated, when he first commenced his proceedings for divorce against the pretty but uneducated woman to whom he had linked his lot there was no prospect whatsoever of his ever being restored to his rank as an archduke of Austria, as a royal prince of Hungary, as a knight of the Golden Fleece, or as a general of the army.

For not only is the old emperor profoundly irritated against him, but Wolfling is likewise an object of particular abhorrence to Archduke Francis Ferdinand, the heir apparent, with whom he started on a trip around the world. When they reached Bombay Francis Ferdinand, who was no saint in those days, was so shocked by the behavior of his cousin that he declined to sit at the same table with him, to hold any intercourse whatsoever with him, or to continue to be his traveling companion. Leopold, indeed, was recalled from Bombay to Austria by a peremptory cable from the emperor, issued at the instigation and at the request of Francis Ferdinand, the heir apparent.

So Leopold Wolfling, in denying that he wishes to recover his imperial and royal dignities and honors, and in proclaiming his wish to be allowed to live the life of a plain Swiss citizen at Zurich, is merely making the best of his inevitable fate.

Sir Joseph Hooker, who has just been decorated by King Edward with the order of merit, is the famous naturalist and botanist, and was attached in that capacity to Sir James Ross' memorable antarctic expedition on board the Erebus in 1839, being indeed the only surviving member of that expedition. He has just completed his 90th year, and will be remembered not only by reason of his own discoveries but also as the closest friend, intimate associate, and champion of Charles Darwin.

Sir Joseph is a retired officer of the royal navy and, like his father, Sir William Hooker, was for many years director of the royal botanical gardens at Kew. He is, so far as I am aware, the only knight of the English order of merit who possesses also the Prussian order of merit, founded by Frederick the Great.

Young Baron Maurice de Forest, one of the two natural sons and the principal heir of the late Baron de Hirsch, is so colossally rich that his action in joining the liberal party in England and in ranging himself politically under the banner of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman is worthy of being placed on record.

As I mentioned the other day, he has lately purchased from Lady Kinloss Stowe palace and Stowe park, which was the ancestral home of her father, the last duke of Buckingham and Chandos. The Stowe park estate is a large one and its possession renders the young Baron de Forest one of the greatest landowners in the county of Buckingham, which, owing to the number of Israelites among its territorial magnates, including all the English Rothschilds, as well as Lord Michelham and Lord Wandsworth, has been nicknamed "the land of Goshen."

Baron de Forest is now wedded to the Hon. Ethel Gerard, sister of Lord Gerard, and is a Roman Catholic.

He formerly was married to the widowed Mme. Menier, daughter of the owner of the Paris Matin, but that union was dissolved by the courts and annulled by the vatican.

Although young De Forest's title is an Austrian one and he owns large estates in Austria, yet he is an English citizen, was educated in England at Eton and at Christ church, Oxford, and has served in the English army, in which he held the rank of lieutenant.

Holland house now belongs to Lord and Lady Ilchester, having passed into the possession of the late earl of Ilchester on the death in 1889 of the childless widow of the last and fourth Lord Holland.

Holland house in the early part of the nineteenth century was famous for its salon. That was more particularly in the days of the wife of the third Lord Holland, nephew and political associate of the famous statesman, Charles James Fox. She hailed from Jamaica, had been a Miss Vassal, and after marrying Sir Godfrey Webster eloped with the third Lord Holland, whom she married after being divorced from Sir Godfrey.

In spite of this statesmen and celebrities from all over Europe were wont to gather around her at Holland house in the Kensington suburb of London, among the habitués of her salon being the great Talleyrand, Mme. de Staël, Princess Lieven, the poet, Lord Byron, Baron Humboldt, Lord Macaulay, Lord Brougham, the poet Tom Moore, Sir Walter Scott, and, in fact, all the men of note of the age.

By her marriage to the third Lord Holland in 1797 she had two children, a son, who succeeded his father in 1840 as fourth and last Lord Holland, and a daughter named Mary, who married the third Lord Lilford.

The fourth Lord Holland spent a number of years in the diplomatic service, married Lary Mary Coventry, daughter of the eighth earl of Coventry, in 1833, and died in 1859, having had no children by his marriage.

True, Lord and Lady Holland had an adopted daughter, concerning whose birth much mystery always prevailed. She was known as Mary Fox, and married in London with much pomp and ceremony Prince Aloys Lichtenstein of the German sovereign family of that name, dying about five and twenty years ago at Vienna, where she made her home after her marriage.

The widow of the fourth Lord Holland continued to maintain a salon at Holland house after her husband's death, and among her favorite guests were the late Lord Houghton and Lord Ronald Sutherland Gower. During the last ten years or so of her life Lady Holland was so much of an invalid that when she died in 1889 Holland house had to a great extent ceased to be a factor in the social life of London, and the kindly hostess had become almost entirely forgotten.

Holland house then went, as I have stated above, to Lord Ilchester, a distant kinsman of the last Lord Holland, but the chief of the house of Fox, to which they both belonged.

* * *

The founder of the family was Sir Stephen Fox, who commenced life as a poor choir boy and who had the good luck to hear of the death of Oliver Cromwell before any one else, and was the first to inform Charles II. of the news. This won for him the good will of the "merrie monarch," who gradually promoted him until he became a knight, a member of the privy council, a lord of the treasury, and paymaster general of the army. He had two sons, the elder of whom became the first Lord Ilchester, while the second son became the first Lord Holland.

I may add that the Holland peerage, having become extinct in 1859, no record of its members, of their births, deaths, marriages, etc., is to be found in any of the standard "peerages" and works of reference published within the last quarter of a century. The records are, however, accessible to those who wish to go to the trouble of making researches.

I forgot to mention above that the famous Count d'Orsay made his début in London at Holland house, and he at once commended himself to the brilliant circle which used to gather there round the Webster Lady Holland, by the lesson which he gave to his hostess, in spite of his youth, he being but about 23 years of age at the time.

Owing to considerable abdominal development Lady Holland was continually letting her napkin slip from her lap to the ground at dinner, and as often as she did so she smiled blandly but authoritatively on young Count d'Orsay and asked him to pick it up. He politely complied several times, but at last, tired of this exercise, he exclaimed, to her great surprise, in French:

"Would it not be better for me, madame, to sit under the table in order to be able to hand you up your napkin more rapidly?"

BIG LIFT FOR SICK BABIES.

Thousands at Riverview Park to Aid "The Tribune" Hospital.

GREAT SPORT FOR CHILDREN

Everybody Pays for Admission, Some as Much as $5 Apiece.

Outside a canvas sign stretched from pole to post bore the announcement that it was THE TRIBUNE babies' day and that the free list had been suspended. A man with a megaphone hoarsely urged the throng to drop their dimes in charity's tin cup and pass through the gates.

Inside, elephants, camels, mounted Indians, Parisian dancers, and weird looking sooth sayers wound through the park in long processions; spielers mingled their voices with the music of bands and electric pianos; men, women, and children thronged into every show and left their contributions to THE TRIBUNE hospital and ice fund.

That was Riverview park last night, when every dime that clinked into the cash registers of the gate meant 100 pounds more ice for the sick babies of the stifling tenements, and when every fifty dimes dropped into the box meant a sick child and its mother taken from the squalor of their tenement homes to THE TRIBUNE's finely equipped hospital camp at Algonquin on the banks of the Fox river.

Everybody who made his way into the park became a philanthropist in a small way, perhaps helped to save a life, bought the chance to give to charity at a cut rate price, and everybody at the same time bought the biggest measure of fun ever sold for a dime.

Children Swarm to Riverview.

Long before 7:30 o'clock, when the spielers began to get busy, the turnstiles to Riverview park were revolving like windmills in a gale. Children came in tens and twenties to help the less fortunate children who depend upon THE TRIBUNE's two summer charities for relief from sickness and suffering, and they brought with them their mothers and fathers and all their other relatives who had dimes to spend. From noon until late at night it was children's day at Riverview.

Dangerous looking westerners from the train robbery took little children to ride with them on their bucking bronchos, and the bronchos, knowing they had children aboard, didn't buck. Big Otto, who runs the wild animal show, invited the little patrons of charity to play with his real, live Teddy bears, and the Teddy bears, knowing the little children never had played with live Teddy bears before, didn't bite. The children shot the chutes, toured the park on the miniature railway, rode on the elephant's back, whirled around in the boats that circle the under world, and did so many things that children have never been permitted to do before in Riverview park that it was a day they never will forget.

Many New Features Provided.

All evening the park was thronged. At every show along the Pike, the Bowery, and the Marine causeway new features were added in honor of THE TRIBUNE Babies' day. Nothing was left undone by the management and the concessionnaires to make the day one of the biggest in the history of the park. Every automobile that rumbled along Roscoe boulevard deposited its quota at the gates of the park, every car that jangled along Western avenue clattered to a standstill at the entrance to the park; the elevated trains brought thousands and thousands walked.

One of the first comers was Paul Cooper, president of the park company. He came on foot, and discovered the sign over the entrance bearing the words:

FREE LIST SUSPENDED TODAY.

Tribune Ice Fund and Summer Hospital Day.

Everything Goes to the Babies.

The man with the megaphone rushed up to President Cooper and informed him that his pass would not get him into the grounds.

"I know, I know," commented Mr. Cooper, laying a $5 bill on the tray and going in without his change.

Pays $20 for Four Admissions.

President Cooper was the first of those connected with the park to arrive, but none escaped. Everybody, from the man who runs the gum stand to Joe, the grass cutter, paid to get in.

Shortly before 9 o'clock a touring car swung into Western avenue and lumbered up to the curb.

"Here!" shouted Dr. N. P. Valerius, treasurer of the park company, alighting and rushing up to the ticket seller, "Give me 200 tickets. This is TRIBUNE babies' day and they tell me I have to pay to get in."

Dr. Valerius thrust a $20 bill into the hands of the ticket seller and climbed back into the car with several yards of tickets streaming behind him. All of the boys of the neighborhood gathered around to see the doctor give up the 200 ticket to get four people through the gate.

A few minutes after Dr. Valerius had paid his way into the park Tom Prior, director of publicity, made his way across the street in answer to a telephone call. It cost him $2 to get back into the park.

Big Bags Filled with Dimes.

Although the officers of the park company failed to get back any change from the ticket sellers, the friends of THE TRIBUNE babies and the thousands of amusement seekers who thronged into the park all evening paid only 10 cents apiece, and the dimes fell into the till so rapidly that a relief expedition was organized and sent to the gates with canvas bags before 10 o'clock to carry away the money that had been exchanged for tickets up to that time.

The Great Train Robbery, the feature attraction of the park, was the point to which all steps were directed. The net receipts from the sale of admission tickets to that stirring picture of frontier life in the days gone by were divided with THE TRIBUNE babies, and thousands of persons swept into the huge circular tiers of seats surrounding the stage to add more dimes to THE TRIBUNE hospital and ice fund.

The receipts are still being counted, and when all the dimes have been packed in sacks and delivered to Treasurer F. H. Rawson of the hospital and ice fund announcement will be made of the amount realized from THE TRIBUNE babies' day at Riverview.

ROUMANIAN QUEEN ASKS AID FOR CITY BUILT FOR BLIND.

Iowa City, Ia., Woman Gets Letter from "Carmen Sylva" Telling of Progress of Colony.

Iowa City, July 16.—[Special.]—Mrs. Vinnie Ream Hoxie of this city, the sculptress who executed the statues of Lincoln and Farragut at Washington, D. C., has received from "Carmen Sylva" (Elizabeth, queen of Roumania), a most interesting letter.

This gifted woman has established near Bucharest a city for the blind, called the "City of Light," and desires the aid of all who have sympathy for the afflicted.

In her letter, not without a gleam of humor here and there between the lines of pathos and tenderness, the queen tells of the growing city and its happy people.

Among other things she writes:

"What takes me up completely at the present moment is my interest in this work. We have more than 20,000 blind. England has but 40,000. Nothing has been done for them yet. I begin by taking in those who have gone blind and giving them work. The inventor of the new printing press is the head of the establishment.

"I wish I could show you the colony as it is now, with more than 100 blind, working at eleven different trades. You should hear them laughing and making fun together, arriving in the last stage of despair, but soon becoming happy.

"Blindness is not hereditary, so we may have as many children as we please.

"The city will be a socialistic one—the first real one in the world. I hope it will prove to be the 'forest of Arden.'"

Among the New Books

Victor S. Clark has written "THE LABOR MOVEMENT IN AUSTRALASIA" (Henry Holt & Co.). The reasons that led him to treat of such a subject he states briefly in the preface, and may be condensed without any injury to the author's views as follows: Methods of social democracy in Australia historically continuous with methods of political democracy in Great Britain. Australian socialism is distinguished from continental socialism by the same features that distinguish the magna charta and the bill of rights from the crystallization of political theory in the documents of the French revolution. Australian socialism has been called a "socialism without doctrines." Its object is to secure instruments by which workers may control industries. It seeks toil rather than proclaims theories, and does not seek to harmonize practical attainments with a preconceived idea of society. Therefore the socialism of Australia is unique and worthy of study as a phase—though still incomplete and perhaps not abiding—of Anglo-Saxon history. It is even more important from a practical standpoint as revealing the vital forces directing the later movement as a world-wide phenomenon.

In his treatment of the theme the author considers the country and its resources, the people and industries, workingmen and trade unions, the labor program, a white Australia minimum wage board, industrial arbitration acts, justice capable of compulsory arbitration, the economic and social effect of industrial regulation, and the government in business.

A. L. Seeley has translated certain portions of Vasari's "LIVES OF THE PAINTERS," under the title, "STORIES OF THE ITALIAN ARTISTS," and E. P. Dutton & Co. publish the book with many beautiful illustrations. The frontispiece is a colored reproduction of the central portion of Perugino's fresco of the crucifixion in the convent of Sta. Maria Maddalena of Florence, and even the illuminated title page is adapted from a thirteenth century manuscript in the British museum, while the binding is an adaptation from a fifteenth century example in the Laurentian library at Florence. Besides the frontispiece there are seven other colored plates. The other illustrations are in halftone. Mr. Seeley has been content to let Vasari tell his story in his own words. There can be no doubt that with the addition of the pictures Mr. Seeley's abridgment of the old critic's work will be more acceptable to many art students than the full text.

Bernard Shaw, taken in any form, is a brain tonic. He forces one either to agree enthusiastically or disagree violently with him. Either emotion requires the use of the mental energy we term thought. Therefore in an age of intellectual ennuie Shaw-prodding is a boon, and accordingly the two volumes of criticisms and essays now published under the title, "DRAMATIC OPINIONS" (Brentano's), are welcome on the scene.

They comprise a collection of the criticisms written by Mr. Shaw for the Saturday Review during the three years, 1895 to 1898, in which he amused himself with slashing the plays of others instead of writing plays of his own. The London stage never had a more lively three years. His wit carried stings for players, authors, and theatergoers, but on the whole the blows were inspiring rather than deadening. Indeed, the curious analyst will find, probably to his surprise, that the destructive force was employed for a constructive end. Enough time already has passed to show a decided growth along the path blazed by the seeming iconoclast.

The abiding conviction, however, reached after the attempted digestion of the mass of comment, is that as a disrespector of things and persons Shaw is a unique and fearsome being.

A anthology of the best prose of all ages is always to be desired, especially if it be one that is suggestive rather than exhaustive, that stimulates the desire for fuller knowledge, while it directs the choice in the most profitable channels. Mr. John R. Howard has prepared such a collection called "PROSE YOU OUGHT TO KNOW" [F. H. Revell Co.] The selections from the authors are scarcely ever more than a page in length, and are preceded by a short paragraph containing a few details of the author's life. The authors honored with a place in this book are from all ages, the majority, however, being modern, with a partiality for American divines of the last seventy-five years. To many the book will be most disappointing—not that any of the selections are poor—but there is so much of great worth that has remained untouched.

"THE SWEETEST SOLACE" (E. P. Dutton & Co.), by John Randal, is a story we are prone to believe is popular among those of our cousins across the water who have formed the novel reading habit. It opens dully, with a generous array of characters already labeled and assigned to their respective positions, and a mystery is blatantly proclaimed. The characters are taken from the gentry and from those who look over the borderland with longing eyes, and all are remarkably dull. But even among the dull true love grows apace and hearts ache for joys denied; so it is here. Toward the end the author gets wrought up and carries his readers with him to a melodramatic yet happy close.

"A PRACTICAL GUIDE TO AUTHORS" (Houghton, Mifflin & Co.) Mr. William Stone Booth calls his lucid exposition of the relations between authors and publishers. He tells of the value of a well prepared manuscript, the care in the selection of a publisher, the advantage and disadvantage of a "literary agent," and explains the intricacies of copyrights and English publication of books. The latter half of the book is given to many of the technical features of book printing, spelling, punctuation, etc. The book will prove interesting and helpful to those contemplating relations with a publishing house.

NEWS OF THE THEATERS.

The sensational novelty of this week's bill at the Majestic is the act of a man called Yuma, who is a remarkably agile and limber contortionist. He veritably ties himself into knots and performs many remarkable feats while suspended in midair from a pair of rings. His first appearance is made when he springs from the close confines of a small cubic box, into which his stature of more than seven feet has been cramped. Clad in a soldier's uniform, he is put through a series of steps and exercises which are performed with the mechanical movements of an automaton, and not until this portion of the act is nearly over is the onlooker certain as to whether the performer is a man or a creation of mechanical genius.

Henry E. Dixey, supported by Miss Marie Nordstrom, formerly his leading woman in "The Man on the Box," appears once more in the sketch entitled "David Garrick." With his accustomed grace and finesse, Mr. Dixey presents an admirable portrayal of the courtly Garrick, while Miss Nordstrom's Clarissa is piquantly charming. Miss Pauline Hall, in a voice still rich and full in its upper register, and with much of her former dash and spirit, sings a group of four songs, including the Lullaby from "Erminie."

The Barrows and Lancaster company offers a rather appealing little play of the "Way Down East" type in "Thanksgiving Day," a comedy by Edmund Day. Leonora Kirwin in songs and imitations, Sam Watson's barnyard circus, Mazuz and Mazette, eccentric acrobats, and the Kronemann brothers complete the list.

Planquette's charming old opera, "The Chimes of Normandy," is the third offering in the series of revivals now being given at the College theater. Musically it is as tuneful and as ear teasing as ever, but the marks of time are plainly discernible in the book and comedy and the efforts that have been made to bring the humor up to date are not happy. Several new principals appear with the company this week for the first time. George A. Natanson sings acceptably the rôle of Henri and Arthur Vogelsang has a pleasing tenor voice which he uses to good advantage in the solos allotted to Jean. Miss Elinore Jenkins is a winsome little soubrette, well suited to the part of Serpolette, and Miss Lelia Burton as Germaine sings pleasingly. Beginning Thursday evening, Miss Ferne Gramling will sing the rôle of Germaine for the remainder of the week.

The season of light opera is growing in favor as the weeks pass, and the enterprise will be continued until August. A change has been made in the policy of the house with regard to Sunday performances, and hereafter matinée and evening performances will be given on Sunday, but the change of bill will not take place till Monday evening of each week. The underline is the ever popular "La Mascotte."

* * *

For the fifth week of the season of the New York Symphony orchestra at Ravinia park several special features are announced which should add not a little to the already large attendance at this picturesque north shore resort. This evening Miss May Doelling, pianist, will be the soloist and will play the Saint-Saëns concerto in G minor. Tomorrow afternoon the weekly program arranged especially for the children will be given, and among the numbers will be the prelude to "Hansel and Gretel," and the Bridal chorus from "Lohengrin." Thursday evening by general request the joint outdoor presentation of "A Midsummer Night's Dream," by the Ben Greet players, with the beautiful incidental score by Mendelssohn played by the Damrosch orchestra. Friday evening the program will be distinctively Wagnerian, and the soloist will be Mrs. Minnie Fish-Griffin, who will sing "Dich Theure Halle" from "Tannhäuser," and Elsa's dream from "Lohengrin." The orchestral numbers include the Love music from "Tristan and Isolde"; the "Rienzi" overture, the Good Friday Spell from "Parsifal," and the "Ride of the Valkyries."

* * *

Felix Borowski, the composer and critic, will deliver his second lecture on "The Domestic Life of Some Great Composers" before the pupils of the Chicago Musical college, in Music hall, next Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

* * *

Miss Edna Cookingham, pianist, Miss Eleanor Elliott, soprano, and Raymond Girvin, violinist, will be heard in a recital program at Kimball hall this morning at 10:30 o'clock.

* * *

The Studebaker will be the next theater to close for a short period before beginning the new season, and the engagement of Richard Golden in "Poor John" will terminate next Saturday evening. When the theater reopens it will be under the management of Charles B. Dillingham and W. F. Connor, and the initial offering will be a new comedy by George Ade, entitled, "Artie," and built around the character taken from his well known sketches bearing the same name. No date is set for the opening as yet, but it will be along in the latter part of August, from present expectations.

Miss Marie Richards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Gunn of Philadelphia, will be married to Mr. Ralph Poole, son of Mr. Abram Poole of Chicago, on Aug. 20 in St. Matthew's Episcopal church at Sugar Hill, N. H. After the wedding, which will be witnessed only by the families, Mr. and Mrs. Poole will go to Lake Forest for the late summer.

Great preparations are being made for the Gad's Hill benefit entertainment, which begins next Wednesday at Ravinia Park and continues until Saturday evening. Damrosch's orchestra will give concerts in the afternoon and evening of each day, and numerous special features will be provided. Thursday will be children's day and Saturday will be Chicago day.

Mrs. James E. Howell, formerly Miss Ethel McCullough of Oak Park, gave a luncheon yesterday to forty girl friends. Mrs. Howell sails Aug. 10 for England, where she will meet her husband, and together they will go to their house in Bucharest, Roumania.

Mr. and Mrs. Leopold Lange and daughters of 580 East Forty-fifth street, left for Cedar Lake, Wis., where they have a cottage for the season.

Mrs. E. T. Griffen and daughter Grace, 25 Jackson place, left Tuesday to spend a month with Mrs. Charles Hodges at Marion, N. Y.

NEW RECORD IN SWIMMING MADE BY MISS KELLERMANN.

Australian Girl Paddles Five Miles to Sixty-eighth Street Crib in Three Hours Thirty-nine Minutes.

What is said to be the longest and most difficult swimming feat ever attempted by a woman in Chicago was accomplished yesterday afternoon by Annette Kellermann, holder of Australian and English swimming records.

Miss Kellermann had planned to swim from the beach at Fifty-eighth street out around the Sixty-eighth street crib, a distance of four miles, and then back to Manhattan beach, at the foot of Seventy-fifth street, a distance of nearly three miles. The latter part of the swim was abandoned because of the lateness of the hour, but still the record for the longest swim by a woman goes to Miss Kellermann, the old record being made by Mrs. Charles L. Brown, 6292 Monroe avenue, who several times has swum the shorter distance from Manhattan beach to the crib.

The start was made from the beach at 12:30 p. m., the tug Carter H. Harrison following the swimmer. The cutter Magnolia, loaded with spectators, and several smaller boats also followed the course.

The crib was reached at 4:09 p. m. According to the captain of the Carter H. Harrison the semi-circular course of the swim was over five miles. Miss Kellermann declared she was not tired and wanted to complete the trip, but her friends on the boat would not allow her to do so.

"This is the first time I have been in the lake," said Miss Kellermann, "and I've not got used to fresh water yet. But I'm going to try again during the summer and next time you'll see, I'll swim back, too."

SEEK TO CHECK TYPHOID FEVER

Hammond Board of Health Will Have Important Meeting Today—Fifteen New Cases Discovered.

Fifteen new cases of typhoid fever were reported in Hammond yesterday, and Dr. Frank S. Long, president of the board of health, immediately called a meeting of that body to be held today, when a determined effort will be made to check the spread of the disease. It was said there was no cause for serious alarm, all the cases being confined to the camps and boarding houses around the steel mills, and there is little fear that it will spread outside of this district. Five new cases in one street in the infected district were discovered yesterday.

IN THE SHOPS

Leather Watch Fobs.

The newest thing in watch fobs are those of leather. The fobs come in a variety of colors and are appropriate for both women's and men's wear. Unshaven calf, morocco, Russia, and suede leathers are used for these attractive articles, which have small charms of pendants attached. These pendants are of carved bone and represent heads of women, Indians, jockeys, and animals. The fobs are $1.25 each.

* *

Pocktbook Manicure.

A new idea in manicure sets shows the complete outfit put up in a compact little case which resembles an ordinary small size pocketbook. The case, which is bound in leather and lined with moire silk, is decorated with a metal ornament with an imitation tiger claw set in it. A nail file, cuticle, and nail scissors are inserted in straps on the top and bottom of the case. The outfit costs $4.00.

* *

Bronze Slippers.

For the girl with small feet, there are attractive slippers with French heels and brown velvet bows run through gilt buckles for $8. To be worn with these slippers are bronze silk stockings, with designs in gilt embroidery at the ankle, sold for $6.

RENOVATING AND CLEANING

Remove Grass Stains.

Wash, strain in cold water, and lay in the hot sun. Cover spot with salt and moisten with strong vinegar. Leave for two or three hours. When salt dries wet again with vinegar. MRS. ROBERT L. WEBB.

* *

White Silk Parasol.

Open the parasol and place it in the sun. Take a small hand brush, white soap, and a basin of soft water. Apply soap to brush and scrub as one would a willow chair. When clean rinse in clear cold water, being careful to keep in sun until dry.

ELIZABETH CLIMO.

* *

Remove Water Stains.

Fill the water bottles or pitchers with milk, let it become sour, and stand twenty-four hours. Cleanse with hot soap suds. Vinegar cruets may be cleaned in the same manner. MRS. WALTER SMITH.

In the BOUDOIR

To Reduce Flesh.

Eat as little meat as possible and no potatoes. Eat as much as you like of the fresh vegetables that grow above ground. Give up all starchy foods, eating only albuminous ones. Never drink anything with your meal. Don't starve, but acquire the habit of eating lightly in the middle of the day. Just a green salad is the best lunch possible, both for the figure's sake and the complexion. By salad I mean not merely a little dab of green leaves but a large dish of lettuce or cress. NELLY RAWLEY.

To Keep Hands White.

Nothing but continuous care will keep the hands white, though for special occasions one can bleach them with buttermilk or peroxide of hydrogen. Apply a little lanolin after using the latter. There are various lotions for the hands, but they must be used with care, and never if one has any cuts or abrasions, as most of them contain arsenic.

MRS. W. CROUSE.

IN THE SEWING ROOM

Prevent "Torn Out" Buttons.

Make buttonholes in both sides of garments. Make a narrow band of any firm white goods, or colored goods if preferred for dark clothes. Have the band of about four thicknesses, and a little wider than buttonholes. Sew the buttons on this band, as far apart as buttonholes are. Put band on inside of garment and put buttons through buttonholes on both sides. When the garment is soiled the band can be taken out and used next day, until it becomes soiled, when it can be washed and ready for use again. Two of these bands suffice. MRS. M. E.

Hold Up Lace Collars.

Purchase a 25 cent strip of whalebone; soak over night in warm water; split lengthwise with the scissors. This gives you two yards of narrow bone. Cut the height of the collar; make a bone casing of narrow tape; put one on each side and one at the back of collar. They will go through the wringer without breaking and iron nicely, usually outlasting the waists. Buy the lighter color bone. A. HUSS.

* *

Child's Trousers.

Cut the legs of the father's trousers, rip up the long outside seams through the belt and the inside leg seams dividing the fronts from the backs. Lay your pattern up to belt and even with back center body seam, not allowing for seams, as joining already is made. Allow for seams on outside and inside leg seams, and cut to desired length, cutting both halves exactly alike. Lay pattern for fronts even with front edges and next to extension with buttons, and up to belt. Allow for seams on outside and inside of legs, as you did on back, and sew up. Hem or sew on a wide band of elastic at bottom, and trousers are ready to wear.

MRS. L. FALLS.

* *

Apron of Handkerchiefs.

Obtain two large size handkerchiefs. From one cut a corner about seven inches; then gather the part that is cut. The other handkerchief can be cut up for the band and strings. The corner cut from the first handkerchief can be sewed on the right hand side of the apron for a small sized pocket.

In The Office

Can't Do Two Things at Once.

I say most emphatically "no," a married woman should not work. If it is at all possible for a household to keep together without the financial help of a wife, that household is better off without it.

Of course, if a wife can find something to do which will help fill the purse and which does not take her away from the home, it is all right. But a married woman is in a wrong sphere out in the business world.

Both husband and wife get into extravagant habits. They simply can't help doing so. The increase in the income makes this extraordinarily easy—and then, when the wife leaves work, and her part of the income ceases, there is bound to be trouble, for their purse strings are tightened and they have to deny themselves many things which they have had while the wife was employed.

The wife's mind and heart are taken away from the natural duties of a wife. She loses that all absorbing interest which is absolutely necessary to the correct home building and keeping.

Another reason: Unconsciously her thoughts will stray to wishing that her husband could be dressed as well as the men around her. We all know that men at work have, to use a common expression, their company manners, and the wife can't help comparing them with her husband. There are a great many people, we know, who will say in reply to this last argument: "If she loved her husband and he loved her as he should the other men would not be able to take her thoughts for one moment away from the proper line." We agree this is a pretty safe statement, but if she loved her husband in the true sense of the word, and he loved her as he should, there would be no necessity for her being in the business world. They would be happy together on $1 a day, for, where two love truly and devotedly, a dollar a day would be sufficient.

A woman can't do two things at once. She can't keep home as it should be and give half of her time to employment outside, and if their love is of the right kind neither of them would be willing for a moment to give up the best part of the wife's time to other work and rob the home of the most precious ornament it can contain—namely: the heart interest and attention of a wife who loves and is beloved. MIZPAH.

IN THE KITCHEN

Cleaning a Fowl.

After a chicken has been dressed and before putting into the roasting pan, it should be scrubbed with a vegetable brush and cold water. You will be surprised at the amount of dirt you can remove. GEORGIE KENYON.

* *

Floor Covering.

Take an ingrain carpet that is partly worn, clean thoroughly so there is no dust left in it; stretch on a large table or out on the lawn and give it two good coats of paint, allowing one to dry before applying the other. When dry tack on your kitchen floor. When you get spots on it they can be washed up easily and the carpet repainted at any time.

MRS. ILA M. WALKER.

* *

Clean Garbage Pail.

A fresh lining daily of newspapers in the garbage can will keep the pail sightly and sanitary. L. R. R.

IN THE NURSERY

Exposure Prevents Colds.

While mothers are in constant fear of their children taking cold, a lot of the worry is unnecessary, since children are less susceptible than adults. The youngster of 3 or 4 is toughened by exposure such as socks give, and even these may be discarded after a short time for the sandals and altogether bare legs. The city child is made too much of a hothouse plant, while the children of the suburbs show their freedom of life and limb early in the spring by a ruddy color and enduring health. They are allowed to run out bareheaded from the time the first spring breeze blows and throughout the summer rarely are burdened with a headcovering unless to protect from the direct contact of the sun, or when mother sends them off to Sunday school. Some mothers along the north shore have been heard to declare that their children possessed but one hat during the summer, and that plain enough to answer for any occasion. Linen of pale tan or white is the favorite material for hats for both boys and girls, and the big sailor is the favored style. This year small girls and boys wear almost no sleeves, so short are they made, and many of the play garments are cut with round or Dutch necks. This exposure becomes a protection to health in time. It is all in getting used to wearing few garments that makes it endurable. Women wear far less than men, and yet suffer less from cold in the winter. In the real country children are allowed to go barefoot from early spring to almost frost and small boys find a shirt and a pair of trousers sufficient covering. Where will you find hardier, healthier men and women than those who have had the freedom of country life and its accompanying comforts?

Green Shades in Nursery.

Discard the white shades and replace with green ones and baby will enjoy a midday nap. The green is much better than the glare of the white for baby's eyes. MRS. H. L.

* *

Keeping Child Cool.

Place one or two thicknesses of wrapping paper between the sheet and mattress. It also is effective between the slips and hair pillow. B. T. W.

IN THE SICKROOM

Potatoes for Burns.

Scrape a raw potato and bind quickly on the burn. It will draw the fire out in a few seconds and stop the pain. E. B. N.

* *

Coughing Spells.

A drink of icewater often will check the spell when it is of a bronchial nature. A cold drink on arising in the morning has been known to cure some of the most stubborn cases. MRS. C. R.

* *

Soup for the Sick.

To one-half pint of beef broth add one-half pint of cold milk into which has been stirred a little flour to thicken. Flavor with small pieces of celery after it boils. MRS. R. L. R.

* *

Carbolic Acid Burn.

One can obtain instant relief by applying cotton saturated with pure alcohol. With this treatment the burn will leave no scar.

G. W. T.

* *

Scalds and Burns.

Cover the place immediately with castor oil and bandage to exclude the air. This gives almost instant relief and prevents blistering.

MRS. LANE.

ALL AROUND THE HOUSE

Cocoanut as Hanging Basket.

Cut off the top of a cocoanut and use the shell to hold a sword fern. It makes a neat holder and soon will be covered entirely with fronds. It retains the moisture and one cocoanut will hold the roots of a fern for two seasons. BEATRICE M.

* *

Distinguish Material.

Draw out some of the threads and light them with a match. The cotton threads will blaze into a flame, while wool will simply smolder, with no flame whatsoever, and curl into a hard cinder. J. A. HAYTER.

* *

Paint the Carpet.

The next time you sweep look over your carpet and find the faded spots. Get dyes the shades desired and make a liquid of each one. Take small paint brushes and paint the flowers. This will renew the pattern wonderfully. H. P. S.

* *

Knife and Fork Holder.

Take a piece of cloth one yard long and twelve inches wide, make it straight on one end and pointed on the other; put ribbon on the pointed end long enough to tie around it when rolled up. Line the cloth with white silk and put a piece of white tape through the center lengthwise. Stitch down one and a half inches apart. In these spaces put the knives and forks. This will keep them from getting scratched. M. I. G.

* *

Paper Napkins.

Purchase dainty paper napkins for about 5 cents the hundred and use in place of washable ones when there is company.

MRS. HENRY.

* *

Flypaper Holder.

Fold a newspaper sheet and pin your flypaper on it. Place a weight on newspaper and it will keep it from blowing away, also makes it easy to handle. MRS. R. W. BARR.

* *

Scrapbook Paste.

Dissolve a teaspoonful of alum in a quart of water. When cold stir in flour to give it the consistency of thin cream. Be particular to break up all the lumps. Stir in as much powdered resin as will cover a dime and throw in a half a dozen cloves to give it a pleasant odor. Have on the stove a teacupful of boiling water and pour the flour mixture into it, stirring well all the while. In a few minutes it will be of the consistency of molasses. Pour it into an earthen vessel to cool and stir in a small teaspoonful each of oil of cloves and of sassafras; lay a cover on and put in a cool place. When needed take out a portion and soften it with warm water.

C. V. H.

In the Laundry

Launder Blankets.

Squeeze well through two tubs of warm suds; rinse in two tubs of warm water, a tablespoonful of borax to each pail of water used; hang single on the line. When nearly dry, beat well on both sides with a bamboo beater. Blankets washed in this way will be soft and look like new.

MRS. E. H. WILSON.

* *

Dampening Clothes.

When in a hurry to iron a shirtwaist that has not been sprinkled take a wet towel and roll it around the waist and in ten minutes it is ready for ironing. Large washings may be dampened in this way by mopping them in a wet sheet. MRS. A. B.

TESTED RECIPES

Mexican Hot Stuff.

Take two pounds round steak, cut into pieces about two inches square; brown this down in an iron or granite kettle, in two tablespoonfuls of butter and two of lard or fresh drippings. When it is thoroughly browned remove the meat and add to the fat one large onion sliced, garlic to fill a tablespoon heaping full when it is cut fine, and one-half teaspoon cayenne pepper; when this has fried slowly about five minutes remove from the fire and rub in two tablespoons of flour. Add the browned meat; cover the whole with cold water; salt to taste, adding more pepper if desired. Let cook slowly on back of stove three hours, or until the meat can be easily broken with a fork. Serve over boiled rice. MRS. K. M. BANKS.

* *

Chicken Shortcake.

Cut chicken in small pieces; pour over any gravy that may be left or make a butter gravy; season and make a rich biscuit dough; bake; split, spread hot meat between and on top. Serve with hot gravy.

MRS. E. LEINE.

* *

Delicious Luncheon Course.

Make a jelly with gelatine, lemon juice, sugar, and sherry or maderia. Mold in oval wine glasses or egg shells. When partly set push a marshmallow in center of each. Turn into champagne glasses and serve with a little sherry. MRS. C. S. GREENBAUM.

* *

Prepare Pineapple.

Cut off top and bottom, first with a large sharp butcher knife, then slice any thickness desired. Lay each slice flat on the table and trim off the edge with a small, sharp, and pointed paring knife. Then take up in the fingers and remove what is left of the eyes. This method saves time, trouble, waste, and the cutting of one's fingers. R. J. A.

* *

English Beef Pudding.

Line a bowl with short crust, one-half pound steak, one small beef kidney cut into small pieces, and put in bowl with one-half cup water, salt and pepper, one-half an onion or tomato. Put layer of crust on top; tie down with a cloth and steam six hours. Keep water boiling all the time under steamer.

G. M. L.

* *

Rhubarb Custard Pie.

Pour boiling water over two teacups of chopped rhubarb and drain in five minutes. Mix with rhubarb a cup of sugar, yolk of one egg, lump of butter, one tablespoon flour, two tablespoons water. Bake with lower crust and make meringue of whites of two eggs with two tablespoons of sugar; spread over top and brown. This recipe makes one pie. Bake in a deep tin. H. V.

* *

Eggless Cake.

Two cups brown sugar, one-half cup butter, two cups sour milk, two teaspoons soda, two cups chopped raisins, one-half teaspoon cloves, one teaspoon cinnamon, flour to make quite stiff. A nice addition to this cheap cake is some chopped hickory nut meats.

MRS. J. M.

* *

Doughnuts.

Add a large cupful of mutton fat or suet to the fat in which the doughnuts are to be fried. They will absorb less grease and will not be greasy. B. R.

* *

Mock Pumpkin Pie.

Peel sour apples; stew until they are soft and there is not much water left in them; rub them through a colander. Beat three eggs for each pie to be baked, and put in at the rate of one cup of butter and one of sugar for three pies. Flavor with nutmeg. Bake as pumpkin pies and see if you can tell the difference.

To Enjoy Reading on Summer Nights.

Many people regret the fact that reading in the warm summer nights must be practically abandoned, owing to the irresistible attractions of the porch, where time is often spent idly. But why not enjoy the coolness of the porch and pursue your reading there? An electric light in the porch solves the problem. There are other advantages, too, in the porch light. It assists messengers in deciphering your number. It is a protection against porch-climbers. And it is not a costly matter to enjoy this and all the other advantages of an electric service. NEW YORK TRADING LIGHT.

General List on Stock Exchange Lifeless; Prices Steady.

UNION PACIFIC IS LEADER.

Friends Urge Alleged Futility of Government Prosecution.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, July 16.—[Special.]—With the exception of Union Pacific, Reading, Amalgamated Copper, and one or two other speculative features, the list on the stock exchange today was lifeless, the dealings being extremely small in amount and the price fluctuations narrow. Prices turned upward in the last hour, however, and the closing level was the highest of the day.

Several influences were at work, both for forcing an upward turn and on the opposite trend. The movement in Union Pacific was a dominating influence. Its friends proclaimed their conviction that the inference to be drawn from the tenor of the Harriman report of the interstate commerce commission was the admitted futility of a prosecution to dissolve the railroad combination. The demand for this stock from domestic sources was heavy and was more than sufficient to absorb some large offerings for foreign account.

An obstacle to the rising tendency was the bad effect on sentiment produced by the instability of the price of copper. The stock market was confronted with a slump in the price of copper warrants in London and off ⅜c a pound for all grades of copper at the local metal exchange, bringing prices between 1 and 2 cents below the reduced price fixed by the large producers last week. The report of the reduction was the signal for a decided setback in stocks.

The continued easing of the call money market soothed any immediate apprehension on that score. Opinion on the money outlook was affected by the call for a 20 per cent syndicate installment on the Union Pacific convertible bonds to be paid on Monday next, which will call for nearly $14,000,000. A quick return of these funds to the money market is expected.

Bonds were steady. Total sales, par value, $978,000. United States 2s, coupon, advanced ⅛ per cent on call.

SAYS WOMAN DEMANDS $1,000 FOR DRUNKEN MAN'S INSULT.

Walter Fuchs Sues to Recover Money, Declaring Mrs. Wehrle Knew of His Convivial Habits.

Walter E. Fuchs has sued Mrs. Harriet A. Wehrle for $2,900, part of his inheritance from his mother's estate, which he said he placed in Mrs. Wehrle's care, so he would not waste it in frequent sprees.

"I had known Mrs. Wehrle and her husband for fifteen years," Fuchs declared in his bill, "and because of our intimate friendship I was induced to spend much money on the family. I purchased a piano for $350 for Harriet, and I understood I was to be repaid by boarding at their house."

Fuchs declares that when he demanded his money on July 15, Mrs. Wehrle told him he owed her $1,000 for insulting her at various times between March 27, 1907, and July 15, 1907, when he was intoxicated. He says Mrs. Wehrle knew of his habits when she agreed to keep his money for him, and that she is not entitled to reparation for the alleged insults. He also asks that the First Trust and Savings bank, in which the money is deposited, be restrained from paying anything on the account until the matter is adjudicated in the courts.

MARRIED 60 YEARS; CELEBRATE

Aged Chicago Couple Wedded at Amsterdam, N. Y., in 1847 Will Observe Eventful Day.

A sixtieth wedding anniversary will be quietly observed by Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Sample, 169 Dearborn avenue, next Saturday. The couple were married in 1847 in Amsterdam, N. Y., and came to Chicago in 1852. They have resided here ever since. For over forty years Mr. Sample was connected with the New York Central, but he retired from active business in 1892. He is 81 years old, and his wife, who was Miss Magdalena Peeke, is 77. They have no children.

"When we celebrated our golden wedding anniversary ten years ago," said Mr. Sample yesterday, "we had all our friends with us and we had a big time of it. But this time we are going to observe the day all to ourselves just as we did the first one, sixty years ago."

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Savage, 1172 West Congress street, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding on Monday. Attended by children, grandchildren, and one great-grandchild, they were hosts at a reception which was attended by several hundred of their friends.

DIVORCED FROM MAN IN JAIL.

Elizabeth H. Atkinson Freed from the Bonds Uniting Her to Former Banker of Morton Park.

While William J. Atkinson, head of the former Lincoln bank of Morton Park, pursued the routine of an inmate of the county jail yesterday, his wife, Elizabeth H. Atkinson, appeared before Judge Honoré as complainant in a suit for divorce. She was given a decree after the court had heard the charges of cruelty.

Atkinson filed an answer, denying the cruelty charges, and was represented in court by an attorney. The suit was begun earlier in the day and after the defendant's answer had been filed counsel went before Judge Honoré and gained his consent to hear the case.

"Once while at a hotel," Mrs. Atkinson said, "he refused to pay the board bill and left. My baggage was held and my children and I were detained until I obtained money from some of my relatives and paid the bill."

She also told of having been forcibly put to bed by the defendant when he became angry.

Mine Workers Drop 21,000.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 16.—According to the annual report of President Nicholls of district No. 1, United Mineworkers, read at today's session of the union, 21,000 mineworkers have been dropped from the rolls of the organization because they failed to pay their national assessment.

KANSAS ROADS IN A TANGLE.

Passenger Agents Now Striving to Straighten Affairs.

PUZZLE OVER 2 CENT RATE.

Western Association Awaits Result of Investigation Before Acting.

The Santa Fé system, the Rock Island lines, and other Kansas railroads are facing a problem that calls for the wisdom of a Solomon. Kansas wants a 2 cent a mile passenger rate and the railroad commission of that state has addressed a letter to the legal departments of the various railroads asking the matter be presented to the proper officer for action.

When the western states were agitating the passage of 2 cent passenger rate bills the railroads of Kansas agreed to issue a mileage book, good for use of bearer, in the state at a flat rate of 2 cents a mile if the legislature would not pass a rate law.

The result has been that the railroads have sold little else in Kansas than mileage books for several weeks and the conductors have had to have help in the collection of tickets on trains.

So insistent has the clamor become that both the railroad commission and the railroads have been compelled to sit up and take notice, and as there is likely to be a complication the meeting of the Western Passenger association, called for today, has been postponed until July 31, and some of the passenger men have taken flight to Kansas with the object of making a personal investigation of the situation.

The letter of the commission reads in part as follows:

> As you are aware, the railroads operating in the states of Nebraska, Missouri, and Arkansas have in effect a 2 cent passenger fare rate. The fact that this law is in effect in neighboring states and the fact that conditions in those states from a passenger traffic standpoint are similar to those existing in Kansas is creating a general demand for the establishment of a 2 cent maximum passenger rate in this state. The purpose of this letter is to urge upon your company the importance of a consideration of the establishment of an emergency 2 cent maximum passenger rate in Kansas, so that Kansas may be placed upon an equal footing with the surrounding territory in this regard, this emergency maximum rate to become permanent upon the establishment of the 2 cent maximum rates in the states named by the courts. This action on the part of your company will avoid the possibility of an order of the board establishing such rate and the attendant litigation in the courts.

Refuse to Discuss Situation.

The legal departments of the roads having lines in Kansas refuse to discuss the situation, preferring the matter be first brought to the consideration of the executives. The matter will not be considered until early next week by the executives of the Kansas railroads, as many of them are out of town and not due until Saturday, and will desire reports of their passenger men who have gone to Kansas to investigate.

Joint Meeting Postponed.

The joint meeting of three representatives of the Chicago Association of Commerce, Illinois Manufacturers' association, and the eastern railroads called for July 23 by Chairman Tucker of the Central Freight association to discuss the proposition of the commercial interests to be placed in a position to make appeals direct to a representative meeting of the official freight classification committee to be held in Chicago and for a representative Chicagoan to be on the committee, has been postponed by Chairman Tucker until July 25.

REALTY DEALER IN TROUBLE.

Clayton Y. Boardman Arrested on the Charge of Swearing Falsely to Ownership of Property.

Clayton Y. Boardman, 6148 Ellis avenue, a real estate dealer, was arrested late yesterday on complaint of Joseph R. Perry, 6042 Union avenue, a bricklayer, on a charge of perjury.

Perry brought suit against August A. Hoffman in 1905 and obtained a judgment of $150. Hoffman appealed the case and Boardman signed the appeal bond as surety. Perry alleges that Boardman committed perjury by representing himself as owner of property in Chicago Lawn which belonged to Boardman's wife.

Boardman asserts that it was thoroughly understood that the property belonged to his wife and said the warrant was sworn out against him simply as a means of hastening collection on the bond. He was released on bail.

WHEAT BULLS IN VAIN FIGHT.

Rains and New Grain Movement Start Renewed Liquidation.

FOREIGN OUTLOOK BULLISH.

Backward Crops and Light Supplies Abroad Growing Factors.

Wheat bulls made a brave stand in midmorning after an early setback, but were in full retreat before the close, finally moving back their trenches ¾@1⅛c under Monday's close, and none too securely fortified in their new position. Further rains in needy sections of the spring wheat territory, the real movement of winter wheat, daily forecasts of which are being given in receipts of a few cars from the new crop, and a discouraging cash situation were features which visibly cheered the bears and weakened the longs' defense. Rains, heavy and general enough to delay thrashing in parts of the west, came in for but scant notice.

Opening under the spell of the northwestern rains and lower cables, the market worked off ⅛@⅜c before the demand from shorts and scattered commission houses was active enough to call a halt. The small amount of new speculation falling to the lot of commission houses, most of their orders being to sell out long holdings, was noticeable enough at the outset to limit the pit demand, but the bulk of the buying, nevertheless, was by professionals playing for a rally. This latter buying felt the spur of northwestern crop complaints shortly after the opening, and a slow recovery followed. Offerings became free again only after small fractions had been added to the previous closing prices, and then were sufficient merely to cause an uncertain vacillating market until the last hour.

Tired Holders Sell Out.

Tired holders sold out late in the session. The attention of the trade was called to heavy old crop reserves in local elevators by the weekly statement, showing 13,458,00 bu on hand compared with 2,957,000 bu last year. Cash demand, too, was slow, although sales for the day were larger than the usual small total, and the winter wheat movement is at hand. Receipts of new wheat were only 12 cars, largely No. 2 red, against 774 cars a year ago, but this was characterized as a postponement of the evil day of growing stocks. Kansas City messages said country acceptances were light, owing to rains.

Crop News Is Varied.

Crop news was varied. Numerous northwestern advices were more optimistic, noting improvement in the promise after the recent showers. Others told of rust and backward development, a number of the former claims coming from South Dakota. Northwestern receipts were 392 cars, against 346 cars a week ago and 212 cars a year ago. Minneapolis stocks increased 175,000 bu for three days. Primary receipts totaled 533,000 bu, compared to 1,198,000 bu last year.

Liverpool futures were ⅝@¾d lower early in the day, but closed only ¼@⅜d lower, comparatively steady. Spot was ½d lower. American weakness and fine weather in the united kingdom affected futures. Antwerp was ⅝c lower, Berlin 1c lower, and Budapest ⅞c lower. Local receipts were 66 cars, with 27 cars expected today.

Private reports told of heavy rains and some damage therefrom through Germany, and Broomhall's weekly foreign crop review noted confirmation of crop shortage in parts of the continent. Seaboard clearances were 38,000 bu, and export demand was quiet; sales 128,000 bu.

Weather Conditions Against Corn.

Corn prices were depressed by hot, showery weather, further selling by southern houses, and early pressure on May delivery by a leading professional. Offerings decreased after declines of ¼@½c were registered, and a good recovery followed, shorts being inclined to cover. In the last hour, however, weakness in wheat and a slack general demand encouraged short selling, with the close [illegible] lower. Favorable reports came from many parts of the southwest, while some messages still complained of backward growth. Country acceptances were fair and cash demand moderate.

Receipts were 415 cars, against 381 last year, and with 176 cars expected today. Cash prices were ¼c lower, demand quiet, and shipping sales totaled 315,000 bu. Public and private stocks decreased 649,000 bu for the week, the total 4,899,000 bu, against 4,507,000 bu last year. Liverpool futures closed ½d lower, and spot was unchanged to ¼d lower. Broomhall reported cargoes pressed for sale. Liverpool stocks increased 33,000 bu for the week.

Bulls in Oats Liquidate.

General selling of oats followed the opening, favorable weather, weakness in other markets, and selling by leading longs being the factors. Prices sagged fractionally, rallied when wheat turned, but eased back later, closing at about the low point, off ⅜@½c from Monday's windup. There was some selling for the northwest. Crop reports were mixed, with Iowa rust claims included in the pessimistic consignment.

Receipts were 168 cars, 19 over the estimate, with 63 expected today. Public and private stocks decreased 542,000 bu for the week, the total 2,473,000 bu, against 2,229,000 bu last year. Cash sales were 180,000 bu, and sample market steady to ½c lower. Export clearances were 11,000 bu.

Higher Hogs Help Provisions.

Higher hog prices, expectations of a better consumptive demand, and moderate buying of pork, credited to Swift, were helping hands in the provision pit. Trade, however, was at a low ebb, and prices clung close to Monday's last quotations, finishing unchanged to a little higher. Pork and lard had the bulk of the trade.

Hog receipts were 19,000 head, with 28,000 expected tomorrow; prices advanced 5c. Liverpool product was unchanged. Western hog receipts footed up to 82,800, compared with 79,000 a year ago. Local shipments of meats were smaller and of lard larger than last year. There was said to be a falling off in the quality of the hog receipts.

Rye Futures in Better Demand.

For futures of rye a better demand existed, but supplies were ample and prices showed little change. Car lots were scarce. July closed at 85c bid and 87½c asked, September at 75¼c bid and 76½c asked. December sold at 78c and May was 80c bid and [illegible] asked. No. 2 ranged 84@87c. Receipts were [illegible] cars.

Barley was dull and without special change in prices. Malting was quoted 55@60c, feed 45@55c, and screenings 38@57c. Receipts were 16 cars.

Flaxseed prices declined ½c in sympathy with the weakness in the northwest. No. 1 northwestern closed at $1.23½, and No. 1 from the northwest $1.23. There were no local receipts. Minneapolis had 19 cars and Duluth 117 cars.

Timothy seed prices were off 5@10c per 100 lbs. Prime closed at $4.65 and new September was offered at $4.60 asked. Country lots were quoted $3.50@4.50. Clover seed was inactive and unchanged. Prime closed at $[illegible] and new October $14.50.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON 'CHANGE.

Finley Barrell & Co. have issued an exhaustive summary of the crop reports to date of their expert, O. K. Lyle, who has covered the principal corn states of the middle west. In regard to Illinois, Mr. Lyle finds that about the only cause of complaint is the backward conditions which stand a good show of being made up. Present conditions are regarded as favorable for rapid growth and the condition is estimated at 85. No trouble was found with the Indiana crop, which is growing rapidly and catching up some lost time. The Missouri condition is placed at 80, against the figures of 77 given by the state July report. The present outlook is for about 200,000,000 bu. The increase in the Kansas acreage is given at 500,000 acres, making a total acreage of 7,250,000 bu, with a condition estimated at about 85. Such a condition suggests a crop of 193,000,000 bu, or about the same as in 1906. In Nebraska the crop has suffered from lack of moisture, and it is thought doubtful if last year's crop will be equaled, although there has been some increase in acreage. With favorable conditions from now on a crop of about 225,000,000 bu should be secured. On the whole, the reports indicate a good average corn crop. Supplies of old corn in farmers' hands were found to be fairly large. With the exception of in Nebraska oats are not looking well, the plant in most of the states appearing to have lost its vigor, whether from rust, bugs, or too hot weather. In Illinois in Iroquois country and north and west of there oats have not headed out well. With favorable growing conditions Mr. Lyle figures that there is little danger of frost in spite of the late start.

Twelve cars of new wheat came in yesterday, the bulk of which graded No. 2 red. Cash men are of the opinion, however, that the grading of the first arrivals is not as good as it was last year. Offerings of new wheat were not heavy, some of the cash houses buying little. Prices offered were on about the same basis as recently. Sales of old wheat were small and there was but little inquiry either from local or outside millers. At Minneapolis stocks continue to pile up, gaining 175,000 bu for three days, but the prediction was again hazarded that this will be the last week showing an increase. The cash demand at Minneapolis was poor, terminal elevators taking the most of the offerings. Kansas City also reported a slow demand, a good many samples being carried over unsold. A leading eastern exporter wired that neither wheat nor corn could be sold abroad at present prices. Cash corn in the local market was steady to ¼c lower. The demand was moderate. Oats were unchanged to ½c lower. Oats buyers are buying in a hand to mouth way until the new crop movement starts. Local sales were 30,000 bu wheat, 425,000 bu corn, and 180,000 bu oats. The seaboard reported sales of 128,000 bu wheat and 34,000 bu corn.

Broomhall's weekly summary of European crop conditions read: "United kingdom—Weather favorable, fine, and hot. Wheat plant is backward. France—In northwest and east, the plant has large ears and appears healthy, while elsewhere the outlook is fair. Supplies small. Germany—Outlook for wheat poor; rye, fair, and oats on the whole fair. Hungary—All reports confirm additional damage as a result of heat and rust. Roumania—Maximum yield for wheat will only be half crop with the quality good. Light rains have fallen which were beneficial to corn. Bulgaria—The condition of wheat is semi-officially placed at 55 per cent and corn at 58 per cent. Russia—In the southwest some damage is feared to spring wheat, owing to the great heat, but a fair harvest is expected. Outlook for winter crops is poor. In the southeast they are harvesting good crops with the exception of some districts in the Azoff, which are poor. In the east the condition is less favorable owing to drought. Italy—Harvesting returns are satisfactory. Spain—Reports received are of more satisfactory tenor and no further deterioration is heard."

Chapin, Bartlett-Frazier, Gifford, Rankin, Updike, Northern Grain, Ware-Leland, Clement-Curtis, and local longs were the best sellers of wheat. Brosseau, Logan-Bryan, Barrell, Canby, Wrenn, and Pringle were buyers on the first dip, but later Canby and Barrell were fair sellers. Valentine was an early buyer. Pringle and Lake were the best buyers of corn on the break. Comstock, Allen, and other longs were free sellers. Ware-Leland, Clement-Curtis, and Bartlett-Frazier were the leading sellers of oats early and later there was a little selling by Marfield. Buckley changed a good deal of May and September, buying the former. Shearson-Hammill, Crighton, and Bartlett-Frazier were the best buyers on the break. Swift brokers were fair buyers of lard and pork, and Cudahy Packing company was a buyer of lard and ribs. Selling was scattered.

James A. Patten, who is looking over the northwestern crop for himself, wired Bartlett-Frazier from Winnipeg that from Minneapolis to that place oats were bad and wheat only fair, a good deal of the wheat two to six inches high. In regard to the Canadian crop, Mr. Patten wired that the best people in the trade are estimating the wheat yield at 50,000,000 to 60,000,000 bu. Several good men are skeptical about raising more than 50,000,000 bu. They all fear frost later on. It was claimed that there was a light frost in Alberta three days ago.

Bradstreet's report of the available supply last week shows the following changes:

It is officially estimated that the present Argentine exportable surplus of wheat amounts to 14,400,000 bu. Argentine has so far this season shipped 89,276,000 bu, against 70,006,000 bu for the same time last year.

Deliveries on July contracts yesterday were 85,000 bu wheat, 50,000 bu corn, and 350,000 lbs ribs. Logan-Bryan delivered most of the wheat and Booth put out the bulk of the corn.

Closing prices for wheat in foreign markets were: Liverpool, ¼@⅜d lower; Paris, holiday; Antwerp, ⅝c lower; Berlin, 1c off, and Budapest, ⅞c lower.

The directors yesterday elected Frederick P. Brockman, Lorenzo E. Hall, and Benjamin S. Lang to membership on the board of trade.

Estimated receipts for today are: Wheat, 27 cars; corn, 176 cars; oats, 63 cars; rye, 3 cars; barley, 6 cars; hogs, 28,000 head.

Winnipeg receipts were 174 cars of wheat yesterday, against 132 cars a year ago.

John Niesen has posted his membership on the board of trade for transfer.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

There was considerable strength in the hog market yesterday and except in the case of heavy packing swine it held right up to the close. Some of the latter were left unsold at the close of the session. Butcher hogs showed the greatest advances during the day, being up about 10c. While the street trade was steady, the market was generally inactive yesterday. Cowstuff, on the contrary, was in good demand and the packers kept the market busy. Sheep changes were few and far between, although the run and demand were both good. Receipts for the day were: Cattle, 4,000; hogs, 17,000; sheep, 12,000. The general range of prices was as follows:

Cattle.

ON THE CHICAGO EXCHANGE.

Telephone "Rights" Figure Out as Worth Nearly $3 a Share.

NO BUYING OF THE STOCK.

Edison Improves Somewhat on Consolidation Plan Announced.

Subscription rights on the new issue of $4,000,000 of Chicago Telephone stock figure out to be worth a little less than $3.00 a share with the stock quoted at 122, the last market price. The holder of 3½ shares of record July 15 and worth $427 is entitled to buy one new share at par, making 4½ shares cost $527, or 117 1-9 a share. These rights attracted no buying to the stock in the local market yesterday. No Telephone stock was traded.

Chicago Edison was improved further by the announcement of the plan to consolidate that company with the Commonwealth. Its price was advanced from 147 to 149 on a small amount of buying. Subway was moderately active, but was not changed in price. Swift was fractionally firmer under a small demand. Other stocks were dull, but prices were firm.

In the bond department prices were slightly lower than the last preceding. Northwestern "L" 4s selling down to 90⅝ and Metropolitan extensions being off to 81.

Atchison Bond Sales.

It is reported from New York that offers from private sources for blocks of the unsold portion of the $26,000,000 of 5 per cent convertible bonds, recently offered by the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé to its stockholders, have been accepted by the management. No definite action has been taken by the directors or the executive committee with regard to disposing of the balance of the bonds. The stockholders subscribed for about $9,500,000 of the issue.

Leather Consolidation Plan.

In a further effort to effect a consolidation of the United States and Central Leather companies, after the injunction granted some time ago by Vice Chancellor Emery of New Jersey against the original plan, counsel for the Central company yesterday proposed that the preferred stockholders of United States Leather have the option of accepting 50 per cent in 5 per cent bonds and 50 per cent in 7 per cent preferred stock and keep their right in the accumulated surplus or accepting those bonds and preferred stock and 23.5 per cent in common stock in lieu of their rights in the accumulated surplus. It is considered probable that an agreement with the protesting preferred stockholders of United States Leather will be reached along this line.

Copper Price Wavering.

All grades of copper were reduced another fraction yesterday on the metal exchange, and the expectation in the trade is that there will be still further reductions. The original drop of 3 cents a pound announced last week and the further fractional cuts have not stimulated the buying of the metal that was expected by the principal producers. Consumers have made slight response to the lowering of the quotations. The old deadlock between producers and users of the metal, instead of being broken, seems still to be in force. Some important consuming interests hold that there will have to be a material reduction from the present level before any important buying is done.

Dividends Declared.

The Twin City Rapid Transit company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent on its common stock, payable Aug. 15 to holders of record July 31.

The American Light and Traction company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent on its preferred stock and a quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent on its common stock, payable Aug. 1. Books close July 20 and reopen Aug. 1. This is an increase of one-quarter of 1 per cent over the previous disbursement on the common stock, which was made on May 1 last.

The automatic Electric company has declared the regular 2 per cent quarterly dividend, payable Aug. 1, to stockholders of record July 25. Books reopen Aug. 2.

The Minneapolis General Electric company has declared a semi-annual dividend of $3 a share on its preferred stock and a dividend of $2 a share on its common stock, payable Aug. 1 to holders of record July 22.

The usual semi-annual dividend of 6 per cent on the common stock of the Mahoning Coal railroad company will be paid Aug. 1 to holders of record July 18.

IN THE BOSTON MONEY MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., July 16.—[Special.]—The expectations of lower prices for copper metal were a drag on copper stocks on the local exchange today, resulting in declines of a point in the active high and medium priced issues. Nevertheless there appeared to be good buying on all recessions.

IN FOREIGN MONEY MARKETS.

LONDON, July 16.—Money was plentiful in the market today and the demand was fair. Discounts were quiet. Trading on the stock exchange generally was inactive. Consols improved. Foreigners were steady on Paris support. Russian and Japanese securities hardened.

Americans did not maintain their buoyancy. Disappointing Wall street news and the break in copper induced free profit taking and quotations declined well below parity. New York bought after noon and the list recovered part of its earlier losses and closed steady.

PARIS, July 16.—Prices on the bourse today were irregular, but became steady at the close. Russian imperial 4's were not quoted. Russian bonds of 1904 closed at 490.

BERLIN, July 16—The general tendency on the boerse today was quiet.

IN THE NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, July 16.—The dry goods market was more active today. Many buyers are operating for fall and spring. An improvement is reported in conditions at Shanghai and exporters are beginning to look forward to a resumption of trade in cotton goods in the fall. Linings have been advanced on nearly all grades. Carpets are well sold.

Metals—Tin in London again declined, spot closing at £184 5s and futures at £180 15s. Locally the market was weak. Spot, $40.00@40.50. Copper was lower in London, spot closing at £91 and futures at £86 10s. Locally the market was weak and unsettled. Lake, $21.00@22.00; electrolytic, $20.50@21.00; casting, $20.00@20.25. Lead was unchanged at $5.15@5.25 in the local market, but declined to £20 10s in London. Spelter declined to £24 in London. Locally the market was weak. Spot, $6.10@6.15. Iron was higher in London. Standard foundry, 56s 3d; Cleveland warrants, 56s 6d. Locally the market was unchanged. No. 1 foundry northern, $24.25@24.70; No. 2 foundry northern, $23.75@24.20; southern grades nominal.

Antimony—The demand for antimony continues of moderate proportions, with European quotations weak. The local market presents a dull appearance. Cookson's is quoted at 12c; Hallett's at 10@11c; and other brands at 9¼@10½c. In the London market Hallett's is steady at £47, and ordinary brands at £43.

Butter—Firm; receipts, 21,070 pkgs; street prices, extra creamery, 26@26½c; official prices, creamery, common to extra, 20@25½c; state dairy, common to fancy, 20@25½c; western factory, common to extra, 17@21c; western imitation creamery firsts, 22c. Butter in Philadelphia—Firm; good demand; extra western creamery, official price, 25½c; street price, 26½c.

Eggs—Firm; receipts, 26,055 cases; state, Pennsylvania, and nearby fancy, selected, white, 22@23c. Eggs in Philadelphia—Firm; good demand; western first, free cases, 18c at mark.

Poultry—Alive, firm; spring chickens, 20c; fowls, 15c; turkeys, 11c. Dressed—Quiet but firm; western chickens, 20@25c; turkeys, 10@14c; fowls, 14c.

INDIANA & MICHIGAN ELECTRIC COMPANY.

Notice to Bondholders of Redemption of Bonds.

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Directors of Indiana & Michigan Electric Company, at a meeting held May 2nd, 1907, duly adopted the following resolution:

"Resolved, That all of the outstanding first lien 5% Gold Bonds of the Indiana & Michigan Electric Company secured by its mortgage or deed of trust to the New York Trust Company, as Trustee, dated the 1st day of February, 1905, said bonds being ten hundred and fifty (1050) in number, of the denomination of One Thousand dollars ($1,000), dated February 1st, 1905, and being numbered from one to 1050 inclusive, be forthwith called for redemption on the 1st day of August, 1907, at the office of The New York Trust Company, New York City, New York, and that said bonds be then and there redeemed and payment made therefor in gold coin of ten hundred and fifty dollars ($1,050) for each bond, together with all interest accrued to the time of such payment, and unpaid, and all interest on the said bonds so called for redemption shall cease on said August 1st, 1907.

"Further Resolved, That the Treasurer is hereby instructed to pay to the Trustee on or before the 1st day of August, 1907, a sum equal to $1,050 for each of the bonds so called for redemption together with all interest accrued thereon to such date and unpaid.

"Further Resolved, That the Secretary forthwith give notice of such redemption, by publishing a copy of this resolution during the six weeks next preceding the date above named for the payment of said bonds once a week for four weeks in the New York Times, a newspaper published in the City of New York, N. Y., and the Chicago Tribune, a newspaper published in the City of Chicago, Ill., and by mailing to the postoffice address of all parties in whose names any of such bonds are registered as such addresses appear upon the books of the Company, a copy of said notice of redemption at least four weeks prior to the date above named for the payment of said bonds, and the Secretary shall in like manner mail a copy of such notice of redemption to the Illinois Trust & Savings Bank in the City of Chicago, Ill."

The aforesaid bonds will be redeemed at the time and place and in the manner set forth in the foregoing resolution and interest thereon will cease on August 1st, 1907.

Dated, June 27th, 1907.

M. L. HOWELL,
Secretary.

CAUTION—
STEINWAY PIANOS AS DECOYS.
We do not advertise Steinway pianos, either by newspaper advertisements or signs in our windows, at absurdly low prices to decoy you into our warerooms that we may sell you something else. In the course of active business we come into possession of many used Steinway upright pianos, and these instruments we thoroughly repair and offer at a low, fair price. They are for sale to any comer, and are not "just sold" when inquired for. You may see them, buy them without argument, and have them delivered promptly.
When you start to buy a second hand Steinway and find you have been decoyed, don't be put off with something else.

IN THE REAL ESTATE WORLD.

Gen. Henry Strong of Lake Geneva, Wis., has sold to S. W. Johnson of New York City, president of the American News company, the five story and basement building at 204 and 206 Madison street, 45x189, and the leasehold estate. The price of the building was $20,000. The ground rental is $5,245 annually, the lessee paying the taxes. The Western News company, which is subsidiary to the American News company, is now occupying the building and contemplates making extensive improvements at once. Willis & Frankenstein made the deal.

Mrs. Clara M. Frothingham has sold the James Morgan residence in Hyde Park to Mrs. Frances E. Clinch for $47,500. The land fronts 225 feet and has a depth of 175. It is on the west side of East End avenue, 326 feet north of Fifty-third street, overlooking Lake Michigan. The transaction was negotiated by White & Tabor.

The Kenfield Publishing company has made a new lease on the property which it occupies with its publishing business at 45 and 47 Plymouth place. The lot is 50x93. The new lease is for fifty years from May 1, 1912, at a rental for the term of $225,000. The company will erect a new building to cost over $30,000 prior to 1914.

John H. Howard has borrowed $85,000 for ten years at 5 per cent, secured by the building and ground, 150x180, at the northeast corner of Vernon avenue and Thirty-fifth street. The Chicago Title and Trust company is trustee.

Charles O. Malin has sold to John Hearkenhoff for $20,000 the apartment house and ground, 50x130 feet, on the east side of Drexel avenue, 98 feet north of Sixty-eighth street. It is incumbered for $11,500.

A new subdivision known as "Archer Heights" has been made a matter of record. It is between Archer avenue and Fifty-third street, and South Forty-second and South Forty-fourth avenues. It comprises eight blocks, aggregating 218 lots. Frederick H. Hamlin is the owner.

EDUCATIONAL.

How about the boy—your boy?

The coming year at school should make him more the manly fellow you want him to be. Do you feel satisfied that it will do it?

It isn't only a question of text books and discipline; both good; there's a great deal more to your boy's education.

Our little book "The right school for your boy" gives our idea of making a manly boy of your boy. We send it and our catalogue if you ask for it.

In writing for booklet please state where you saw this advertisement.

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN

Nine Hours' Easy Ride from Chicago

SANITARIUM

Picturesquely situated on the bluffs of the Mississippi in Southwestern Wisconsin. Mineral water effective in treatment of Rheumatism, Neuritis, Muscular and Joint Afflictions, Stomach, Bladder, Kidneys, and Nervous Troubles.

Adequate facilities for therapeutic baths, massage, electrical treatments, and dieting.

Write for descriptive booklet C. It clearly, interestingly shows why treatment at Prairie du Chien Sanitarium is an economy, not a luxury. Tells how every facility has been assembled, how every approved method for the cure of sickness has been made available at moderate cost—at a less cost than that of properly caring for sickness in the home. Write today for booklet C.
